NAVY TESTS DIRIGIBLE

Air Leviathan is Success

Giant Ship in Continuous Flight in East for Twelve Hours

Runs Over the Woolworth Tower and Speeds to Philadelphia

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LAKEHURST (N. J.) Sept. 11.—The United States naval dirigible [illegible] successfully completed a continuous twelve-hour flight today when it descended at the naval air station here at 6:46 p.m., daylight time.

The first American-made rigid airship had left the ground at 6 o'clock in a cruise which took it over New Jersey to New York City, up the Hudson River to Yonkers and then down the length of Manhattan, across to Newark, New Brunswick, Trenton, Camden, Philadelphia and return home.

The Leviathan of the air, thus concluded its fourth trial flight and its first of more than three hours' continuous flying, sailing at elevations of from 1000 to 5000 feet, steadily and without incident.

Thousands of spectators watched the airship from roof tops and streets as she sailed majestically above them, some times at motors sending her rapidly forward, other times with some of the motors speeding her as she cut her way [illegible]

CIRCLES NEW YORK

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

WOOLWORTH TOWER, NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The giant airship ZR-1 today flew up from her base in Lakehurst, N. J., to visit New York.

New York was on its toes to welcome her. Roofs visible for miles around the Woolworth tower, were jammed with spectators. In the streets below thousands could be seen waving their hands as they turned out of the deep canyons.

The small craft fleet was sighted by the lower after the ship had passed our quarantine and headed up the harbor toward the Statue of Liberty.

The ship glistened on the dirigible's every sides and her rudders left great streaks of red, white and blue glistened in the sun.

Her appearance, gray as the airship itself asserted, circulated the [illegible] as she passed over the tip of Manhattan, gilded up the island and disappeared in the haze over the Hudson.

AIR ESCORT

The escorting planes circulated around as she came up the bay. Their speed so exceeded that of their overgrown sister that they were forced to cut capers in the air in order not to leave her behind.

The ZR-1 rode on an even keel most of the time. As she passed the Statue of Liberty, however, she [illegible]

The Total Eclipse of a Beautiful Friendship

Wales Enjoying Routine of Life as Plain Citizen

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Wireless messages published in the newspapers give details of the Prince of Wales' trip across the Atlantic on his way to Canada. The Daily Mail says the Prince, as Lord Renfrew, has made himself the most popular passenger of the Empress of France by his unassuming demeanor and charm and has made many friends on shipboard, some of whom are invited to dine with him each night.

Brisk walks on deck and physical exercises in the ship's gymnasium keep the distinguished passenger in good condition and at a fancy dress ball, during which the ship was ablaze with color, Lord Renfrew fully entered into the spirit of the festivities and appeared to enjoy the dancing.

IRISH OATH MAY BE IGNORED

London Hears Republicans Elected to Dail Will Seek Seats in Legislature

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Reports reaching Irish circles in London today, which are often accurate sounding boards of what may be expected in Dublin, indicate that a goodly part of the forty-four Republican members elected to the Dail will, under protests against the oath of allegiance to Britain's King, attempt to sit in the new Irish Legislature.

Their first purpose, as it is explained here, would be to attract temporarily to their side enough independents, laborites and even straight government supporters to win a vote in favor of releasing the eleven to twelve thousand political prisoners still held in jail.

POLICY INCONSISTENT

This idea has sprung up within the past few days and is entirely inconsistent with the attitude of the Republicans soon after the election, but then the inconsistency of Southern Ireland is one of the attributes which are responsible for its being termed a charming country.

The argument here is that the Republicans showed remarkable strength in the elections in the matter of getting their people elected, all other excuses and methods showing notwithstanding that they believe there are many members of other parties in the Dail whom, while violently opposed to the Republican program of more fighting between Irishmen and Englishmen, believe that a mistake is being made in wholesale arrests and continued imprisonment of a large number of Irishmen who not too long ago were fighting side by side with those who are now turning the locks on their cells against a common enemy—England.

If the Republicans could hold their full strength of forty-four in the Dail, which is not probable because several of them are in prison, and they could adhere to a common policy which is not likely owing to the presence in their ranks of so many individuals who decline to allow themselves to be welded completely into any one body, they could be of tremendous force. It would be the most difficult "official opposition" to any newly formed government that the leader of such an opposition ever attempted to handle.

GREATER CHANCE SEEN

But with it all there are many Republicans, according to reports in London today, who believe their cause has a greater chance with its members in Dail continually fighting the government than it has by declining to attend.

Of course the oath, of which De Valera has made so much, is a great stumbling block but there are Republicans who believe they would lose none of their honor if they perfunctorily took the oath at the same time proving they were unofficially against it, thereby giving their partisan representation in the body momentarily guiding Ireland's destinies.

Coach and Mail Car Dropped by Flaming Bridge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MUSKOGEE (Okla.) Sept. 11.—The mail car and the "Jim Crow" coach of a St. Louis and San Francisco passenger train crashed through a burning bridge near McBride, Okla., north of Muskogee, late today. No one was injured, according to reports to the divisional offices of the road here.

The train was eastbound from Okmulgee, Okla., and was due at Fayetteville, Ark., at 7:10 o'clock tonight.

The mail car and the coach reserved for negroes were destroyed by fire. However, the mail was saved, it was reported.

Brush was being burned along the right of way and the short bridge a mile north of McBride was in flames when the train reached that point. The engineer believed he could safely cross. The locomotive alone made the crossing, the two following cars collapsing with the bridge.

Two other coaches remained on the track. The locomotive was derailed.

FRANCE NOT OPTIMISTIC

Ruhr Settlement Delay Seen

Believed Berlin Not Ready to Yield to Demands of Poincare

Fear of Separation of Rich Territory is Held by Union Leader

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The optimism in financial circles arising from the conversations which the French ambassador has had with the German chancellor, manifested by a sharp rise in francs today, is shared only slightly in official circles, where a settlement with Germany is believed to be still some distance off.

It was pointed out by one official in more or less constant touch with Premier Poincare that whenever the Germans come to the conclusion that it is necessary to resume negotiations, their tactics are to draw out French opinion, if they can, before disclosing their own state of mind.

The French therefore accept the indications of the capitulation of Germany on reparations with a cessation of passive resistance in the Ruhr with great reserve. The Foreign Office thinks the time is approaching when Ruhr resistance will break down, regardless of what the Berlin government may do, but is not yet convinced that Chancellor Stresemann is ready to enter into negotiations for such a settlement as will satisfy France.

WON'T BE DRAWN OUT

In any case it is said Poincare would not be drawn out by any vague offers to negotiate, but will wait until resistance ceases; then, if a clear and unmistakable proposal is presented, he will consider it in a conciliatory spirit.

He instructed the French Ambassador at Berlin by wire today, to say, if the occasion offered, that no negotiations were possible while obstruction is going on in the Ruhr. The ambassador made this clear to the German chancellor yesterday and the French government is awaiting the decision of Berlin on that point.

SEPARATION FEARED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

DUESSELDORF, Sept. 11.—Fear of the ultimate separation of the Ruhr and Rhineland from Germany, rather than the economic pressure brought by the Allies in the occupied territory, is the principal motive behind Germany's renewal of the discussion for an agreement with France, in the opinion of the leader of the trades unions in the Rhineland. As far as the economic phase of the struggle was concerned, he declared to The Associated Press, today, the whole German population felt prepared to continue the fight for many months to come.

Despite the continued fall of the mark he was sure the people could hold out until the French became convinced that they could never make the Ruhr industries pay by exploiting them themselves.

"But what we are beginning to fear the most," he said, "is the possibility of separating the Ruhr and Rhineland from the Reich, which undoubtedly the French can do, at least in name and temporarily, if they stay long enough."

The organization of which this Laborite is the head has a membership of more than 5,000,000 workers of all categories and is associated with the big heads of industry.

ENTIRELY NEW LINE-UP OF EUROPEAN POWERS LOOMS

France and Italy Said to Plan Entente; Britain Left Out But Germany Admitted

BY WYTHE WILLIAMS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Is there a new entente forming in Europe? That question is cropping up as a result of events of the last week and for the moment it is overshadowing even the war rumbles heard in the Balkans.

The new entente, if such it turns out to be, would not be composed of little nations but of great powers and would mean a new general alignment of forces on this side of the world.

The powers under consideration are France and Italy with England left out, but with an economic understanding with Germany thrown in. Word today comes from Rome that "as a result of bitter feeling toward England, engendered during the recent Greek incident, Italy from now on will tend France her strongest support in the matter of reparations." In France the word is spoken that "undeniably the affairs of Italy in the Balkans and those of France in the Ruhr are intertwined."

HINT OF RAPPROACHMENT

Today French exchange continued to improve and the Quai d'Orsay found its voice long enough to admit that an economic rapprochement with Germany appears to be near at hand.

Ten days ago the French Foreign Office was as gloomy, cheerless and frosty as midwinter. Events had fallen over each other so rapidly that France seemed unable to keep step with them and general fears were expressed that she would be likely to find herself in an embarrassing position politically. That was because her previous staunch advocacy of the Little Entente might be likely to tie her hands with Italy and certainly would give her a black eye with the League of Nations no matter what happened.

Then the crafty Poincare, who seems to thrive and grow younger the more work and the more trouble he has, got busier than ever. The Ruhr and reparations only occupied his week-ends and the remainder of his time was given over to the rest of the European map.

DISMISSES LEAGUE

First dismissing the League of Nations almost by a mere gesture, he managed to intrigue the Corfu settlement out of Geneva into Paris where it could be "more sensibly" handled. Then happily Premier Patchich of Jugo-Slavia turned up in Paris and upon him Poincare next exerted his charms. Since then he has been lending every resource, and singing in the most dulcet tones to Rome. He still has until Saturday, when the reply of Jugo-Slavia to Italy falls due, before his success or failure will be known.

Certainly it appears at the present hour that the only thing which can save peace in the Balkans—possibly in Europe—is a backdown on one side or the other. Poincare is for peace now at all costs. With his customary dexterity he has urged conciliation to both parties figuring that whoever cedes the situation is saved for the moment.

FRANCE SAVES POSITION

Thus, for today at least, France has saved her leading position in Continental politics and the Quai d'Orsay again is filled with sunshine.

Naturally one must assume that much of the cheer is due to the illusion that at last France and Germany are about to come into a reparations settlement and economic accord. Also quite naturally the Quai d'Orsay does not yet want to talk too much officially about it until concrete propositions come from across the Rhine.

Certainly the Stresemann government is doomed to an early fall and perhaps it will be replaced by a terrorist dictatorship unless such proposals are made. But even then the statesmen now controlling the destinies of France are likely still to reflect that the surface board is upon which the economic life of the Reich reposes are quite as fragile and unstable as the earth's crust beneath the metropolis of Japan.

PLAN LOAN OF BILLION TO GERMANY

World Bankers Ready to Raise Money in Case of Settlement of Ruhr Tangle

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A billion-dollar loan to save Germany from an economic collapse will be one of the first considerations of international bankers in case of a settlement in the Ruhr and an agreement with the Allies, it was learned in the financial district today. One-quarter of the loan, or $250,000,000, probably will be offered in the United States.

The industrial assets of Germany and the guarantees of other European nations will be the security for $1,000,000,000 which bankers believe is necessary to restore Germany. According to the present plans, the entire undertaking will be handled through the League of Nations, which functioned successfully in the recent Austrian bond issue.

In the United States it is said the syndicate that will handle the issue will include every banking house of standing in the country.

Elias M. Loew is Charged in Alienation Suit

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—Elias M. Loew, owner of a chain of moving picture houses in the larger cities north of Boston and in Portland, Me., is charged with alienating the affections of Mrs. Arthur M. Richard, wife of an automobile dealer of this city, in a suit filed in the Suffolk Superior Court today. Damages of $50,000 are sought.

The Richard couple have been separated about six months as a result of her asserted friendship with Loew, it is charged. The wife is said to be a visitor at the Hollywood motion-picture colony at the present time.

Loew, reputed to be the youngest motion-picture magnate in the East, is said to have acquired an enviable fortune in the past few years.

CONVICTS FIGHT FIRE IN KLAMATH FOREST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

YREKA (Cal.) Sept. 11.—Fire in the Klamath National Forest which has resisted all efforts to check its course through many thousands of acres of valuable timber land in Siskiyou county, tonight is threatening several large privately-owned tracts. Nearly 400 men are fighting the flames including 150 road camp convicts from Gottville.

SEEK SAILOR DEAD IN SEA

Divers to Enter Destroyers

Men May Have Been Caught While Asleep When the Boats Crashed

Work of Salvage is Likely to be Let by Contract to Companies

BY CHESTER G. HANSON

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

HONDA, Sept. 11.—While Mother Nature cast her misty shroud of the sea over the tragic scene, the grim business of hunting for bodies of the twenty-three sailors who lost their lives when the seven Navy destroyers went on the rocks at Honda last Saturday night, was continued throughout today and tonight.

Despite the continuous search that was carried on by parties in small boats making their precarious way amid the wreckage and by patrols who combed the rocky coast for miles on both sides of the scene of one of the nation's greatest peace-time naval catastrophes, the search was futile. Other than the one found Sunday and two recovered Monday, none of the bodies of the victims had been found up to a late hour tonight.

Despite opinions expressed previously, naval officers now directing the work of salvage are inclined to believe that no bodies will be found in the holds of the destroyers which keeled over when they hit the rocks and which now lie partly or completely submerged just a few yards off the rocky shore on which they crashed.

TO PIERCE HULL

It was announced, however, that a salvage crew will attempt to climb on to the bottom of the capsized Destroyer Young tomorrow and cut holes with acetylene torches in the steel shell. Divers will then be let down into the water-filled compartments to determine whether the men who were sleeping in their hammocks below were trapped and drowned when the crashes came. The same will be done with other boats. But as one of the officers put it today, "there is no doubt in my mind that the missing men are those who were swept overboard in the heavy seas and others who, believing that they were but a step from shore, leaped overboard and were swept to sea."

As though Neptune had dedicated the day as one for awful contemplation of the havoc wrought, and as a day for obsequious sorrow, the sea was strangely quiet around the wreckage today. Fortunately so, for it gave the experts sent to the scene of the disaster by the Navy Department at Washington an excelent opportunity to make a survey and report back the possibility of salvaging some of the boats.

TAKING INVENTORY

While a crew of thirty men under the direction of Lieut. C. V. Lee busied themselves with removing portable materials such as personal belongings and valuable instruments from the Chauncey, Capt. D. C. Nutting of the Naval Construction Corps arrived on the scene from San Francisco to make an inventory of the wreckage. Capt. Nutting expected to be able to return to San Francisco today and make his report, recommending what course of action the Navy Department should take in the matter of salvage.

Although Capt. Nutting refused to say, it was learned from other sources that the recommendations probably will be that two of the destroyers, the Chauncy and the S. P. Lee, may be pulled off the rocks and floated again. Both these craft are resting on practically even keels just a few feet from shore with their hulls probably pierced by the sharp rocks. As for the other five destroyers,

RIOT IN DRESDEN, SIX DEAD

Communists Lead Unemployed Mob in Attempt to Storm City Hall; Soldiers Fire on Crowd

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Dresden is seething with Communist unrest tonight, following a battle in front of the City Hall where military police attacked by unemployed fired a number of volleys, killing six and wounding nine. All but two of the victims were hidden by Communists.

Dresden reported that police reinforcements had just occupied the leading newspaper, the Neusten Nachtrichten, where Communists tried to lynch the editor for publishing a Bolshevist placard. As is happening in nearly every instance now, Communist agitators easily got control of a mob of unemployed which had started under Socialist leaders to call on the Burgomaster.

CLUBS INEFFECTIVE

The Socialists were unable to check the mob when the Communists urged violence, and stones, sticks and debris were thrown at the militia, which retaliated with clubs. The clubs proved ineffective and the soldiers began firing.

The first battle was at noon. At 1 o'clock a parade of 1000 unemployed again attempted to visit the Burgomaster, who invited a delegation of ten. While the delegation was talking a Communist agitator mounted the City Hall balcony and called upon the workers to storm the building. The Burgomaster called reinforcements and mounted machine guns on all sides.

At 3 o'clock a third attempt was made by the Communists to storm the City Hall. They were driven off by the militia, whereupon a parade began towards the hospital where two were wounded.

The whole town is wild with excitement tonight. There are a score of street meetings taking place, with much Communist oratory.

WILD FIGHT MONARCHISTS

Comrade Siherik asserted after hearing that Gen. Ludendorff, Herr Hitler and other monarchist factions would march upon Berlin when Chancellor Stresemann officially announces that passive resistance is given up that "the Saxon red army is ready to intercept any Bavarian monarchist army. They cannot reach Berlin without meeting us."

Unemployment in Berlin and Saxony is increasing daily and almost hourly. Herr Stresemann's newspaper, the Zeit, heads its unemployment news with, "The Collapse of German Industries."

FILIPINO CHIEFTAINS DEFY GOV.-GEN. WOOD

TALK OPENLY OF MAKING HIM A FIGUREHEAD IN GOVERNMENT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MANILA, Sept. 11.—The controversy between Gov.-Gen. Leonard Wood and native government officials and party leaders was revived last night when Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, and Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives, declared in public addresses that it was their intention to "reduce the Governor-General to a mere figurehead."

Speaker Roxas said:

"Fellow members of the Cabinet and other representatives in the government have encroached on the powers and prerogatives of the Governor-General. That's true. We have encroached upon the rights of the Governor-General because in that guise liberties are won."

Quezon said:

"It will not be betraying any secret here if I say that our object is to reduce the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands to a mere figurehead. It is unpatriotic for Filipinos to stand by Gov.-Gen. Wood in his policies."

The Senate president referred to the British self-governing colonies and said that what the Filipinos wanted was a government similar to them.

ITALY WILL ANNEX FIUME

Jugo-Slavia Expected to Make No Objections to Plan; Mussolini Disappointed at Britain

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Reports here today say that Premier Mussolini of Italy intends to annex Fiume, and that a proclamation to that effect will be issued within the week. It is understood that Jugo-Slavia will not object.

MUSSOLINI'S STATEMENT

By John Steele

LONDON, Sept. 11. — "My motives have been misrepresented and my alleged aims have been grossly exaggerated." Premier Mussolini asserted to the London Daily Mail correspondent at Milan in a long interview printed in the London paper this morning, in which he complains of the antagonistic comments in a section of the British press on the Greco-Italian crisis.

"At Geneva they have tried to scare me by asserting that I am destroying the basis of all peace treaties from which Italy is benefitted by not accepting the authority and functions of the League of Nations. In many papers in England appear covert threats, denunciations and misstatements. Can you wonder if the effect on the Italian nation and myself has been one of disappointment."

Regarding the future of Fiume, Signor Mussolini says:

"Materially Fiume already has cost Italy far more than the place is intrinsically worth, but politically it is an objective deeply rooted in the hearts of the Italian people. I strongly hope that the South Slav government will see the wisdom of the arrangement proposed by us and will accept it since Fiume needs an immediate solution in the interest of its very existence. I want Fiume to become a bond between Italy and South Slavia instead of a bone of contention."

WILL STAY IN CORFU

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GENEVA, Sept. 11.—It is reported in Geneva that Premier Mussolini has refused to evacuate Corfu until Greece has caught and executed the murderers of the Italian commission. It is understood the Italian government is prepared to send a note to the Council of Ambassadors refusing to consider its suggestion that it evacuate Corfu as soon as the immediate demands are executed by Greece.

This news has caused consternation among the League of Nations hopefuls, who thought the Italian dictator could be persuaded to leave the Greek territory as soon as the investigation was begun.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Greek government has arrested eight persons suspected of the murder of the members of the Italian boundary commission in Janina, according to a Rome dispatch to the Central News. The arrest of Col. Botzaris, Greek member of the Greco-Italian boundary commission, is said to be imminent.

REFUGEES FLEEING QUAKE DISTRICT BY TRAINLOADS

Tokio Crematory Burning Bodies at Rate of 1000 an Hour as Cleanup Work Goes On

BY RODERICK MATHESON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
(Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune)

OSAKA, Sept. 8 (Delayed)—Foreign refugees are walking out of the section affected by the earthquake and are arriving here on trains, which are jammed, the roofs of the carriages, the running boards of the engines and the coal tenders being thick with people. More ships from Yokohama arrived today at Kobe, which now is congested. Many tales of hardship and danger are incredible except to those who also underwent them.

The Tokio police report that they picked up in the streets up to Thursday noon 2,600 bodies, not including the mutilated portions of many others. About 2500 bodies of girls in the Yoshiwara have been recovered. The victims were trapped within the walls of the restricted quarter. About 13,000 corpses have been piled beside the emergency crematory in the Honjo district, where they are being burned at the rate of 1000 an hour.

WORSE THAN WAR

From many reports and from what I personally saw, I can say that 3000 square miles of industrial Japan has more completely been devastated in six hours than the German army was able to accomplish in five years in France.

T. F. Hawkes of Melbourne, the father of the Davis Cup tennis player, was killed in Yokohama. Mrs. Hawkes is safe at Kobe. Senor De La Corrill, the Argentine Minister, his wife and his daughter, Marie Louise, was killed at the Yokohama station while awaiting a train to take them to Tokio.

Henry Holbrook of Kentucky and H. Morse of Burlington, Vt., members of the International Banking Corporation of Yokohama, were killed.

An official report made public in Tokio states that 215,324 houses were destroyed by fire and the killed and injured in the capital alone numbered 1,356,741.

Simple funerals are planned for the dead of the imperial family. The quake leveled all class distinctions and the Emperor has thrown open the heretofore absolutely sacred premises of the imperial palaces to the refugees.

JAPAN BEATING BACK

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, Sept. 11.—With unflinching spirit and native determination, Japan is setting about the grim task of clearing up the debris of her wrecked cities and disposing of her thousands of dead.

Soldiers are collecting the bodies from beneath the great piles of debris, from rivers, canals and ruined buildings, piling them in huge funeral pyres and burning them. The scenes are frightful to behold.

Another army has attacked the forests and is preparing the way for rehabilitation of the devastated cities.

The work goes on, not in feverish haste, but calmly and methodically and with a spirit that bespeaks determination to recover from the terrible catastrophe.

It will take days to dispose of the bodies of the dead.

60,000 BODIES CREMATED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The bodies of 60,000 dead had been cremated by the authorities in Tokio up to midnight of the 8th inst., the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs said in a telegram received here today at the Japanese Embassy. The number of bodies still unrecovered is probably very great, it was said. The casualties in Yokohama were estimated at 110,000, or one-quarter of the entire population, and many more dead were said to be unaccounted for in outlying districts.

An official investigation, it was said, shows that in Yokohama, of 2000 foreign residents 100 were killed, including fifty British and twenty Americans.

Admiral Anderson reported to Secretary Denby today that the Sacred Heart College in Tokio was destroyed by the quake but that all residing there were reported to have escaped. The message added that Archbishop Gialdin was safe.

HOTEL TAKEN OVER

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

OSAKA, Sept. 11.—The Imperial Hotel in Tokio, the only refuge for foreigners in the capital since the earthquake, has been taken over by the military authorities, who served notice on Sunday that all the Japanese and foreign guests must find other quarters.

The American and British Embassies, however, were permitted to retain their temporary offices and American Ambassador Woods and his family continue to reside there.

The foreigners who evacuated the hotel and numbers of others living in various parts of Tokio were taken from the city in launches of the American Destroyer Whipple, which entered the inner part of Tokio bay Saturday.

Baron Kichizaemon Sumitomo, an Osaka millionaire, has donated 2,500,000 yen ($1,250,000) to the relief of earthquake sufferers.

A report from Tokio today said the Minister of Education had advised students of all colleges, including the army and navy schools, to postpone their holidays and examinations and aid in the work of reconstruction.

135,000 HOMELESS

An official army report says there are 135,000 homeless refugees to whom the army is supplying clothing and shelter.

The work of reconstruction in the devastated area is well under way, the report says.

The foreign refugees at Kobe have organized and established an information bureau with the Oriental Hotel as headquarters.

An old resident of Yokohama, when asked about that city, said:

"Yokohama has bid the world farewell." He said there is no more Yokohama.

It had been rumored that the whereabouts of Jose Carlo, the Spanish Minister, were unknown, but he arrived at Kobe safely with his wife and secretary. The Peruvian Minister and his wife and son and the Panaman, Mexican and Argentine Consuls with their families also have arrived. The Spanish Consulate, it is said, will be established at Kobe, at least for the present.

Community Sing Plans Program as Aid to Japan

The sixth annual season of Hollywood Community Sing will open on Tuesday, the 18th inst. with a benefit program for Japanese relief. It was announced yesterday. The program will be given in the auditorium of the Hollywood High School under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Carter.

Arrangements are being made to obtain the services of a large orchestra for the opening night.

The Hollywood Community Sing has become nationally known during the last few years, being one of the few war-time organizations of its kind to survive after the armistice and people from all over Los Angeles attend the weekly meetings at the Hollywood High School.

DILLON FAMILY SAFE

Although Fairfax K. Dillon of Los Angeles, with members of his family, was in the Imperial Hotel at Tokio, Japan, at the time of the earthquake and fire, all escaped uninjured, according to a report received here yesterday through the American Embassy. Mr. Dillon moved to Los Angeles some time ago from Atlanta, Ga. The message states part of the family was riding through the streets at the time of the disaster.

AMERICAN SHIP DOES HEROIC ACT

Destroyer Dashes Up to Tokio Right After Quake to Rescue Refugees

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Kobe correspondent of the Central News says that refugees arriving on the steamer Empress of Australia credit the commander and officers of the American naval destroyer No. 217 with the most outstanding act of heroism after the earthquake. This was the dash of the craft up Tokio Bay to rescue marooned foreigners in the Japanese capital. Ocean-going vessels rarely attempt to steam farther up the gulf than Yokohama and for the Americans to take their ship to Tokio through the shallow waters of the upper bay after the seismic unheaval involved unknown dangers.

The commanders of other ships at Yokohama warned the United States Navy men that it was too early to attempt to reach Tokio. Nevertheless destroyer No. 217 made the run and the Americans were the first rescuers to reach the city after the disaster. As it was impossible to dock the craft, the refugees were taken aboard from small boats and destroyer No. 217 returned to Yokohama, where the foreigners boarded the liners that were acting as rescue stations.

Another dash to Tokio followed and on her return the destroyer brought the remaining foreigners who desired to leave the capital to the safety of the big ships at Yokohama.

The American rescuers found the foreign colony encamped in the gardens of the Imperial Hotel with a strong military guard around the buildings and gardens for protective purposes.

The foreigners remained isolated in the hotel grounds until Tuesday morning, when the destroyer arrived.

The steamer Empress of Australia continued her relief work at Yokohama for nine days before proceeding to Kobe with 200 European and American refugees.

The American and British Embassies, the dispatch says, are still quartered in the Imperial Hotel.

The moratorium, the government relief fund, and the prohibition of speculation have all combined to afford assurance of Japan's ability to recuperate, the message adds.

Red Cross of Hollywood in Relief Drive

Former war-time Red Cross workers of Hollywood were pressed into service for a Japanese relief fund drive in Hollywood last night at a meeting at the Picadilly Tea Rooms on Sunset Boulevard. G. G. Greenwood, chairman of the Red Cross campaign in Hollywood during the war, will have charge of the relief campaign and will select captains to head the various teams which will be organized.

The meeting last night was arranged by Secretary Carl Bush of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce who will act as secretary to the committee in charge of the new campaign.

Including the sum of $1400, raised at a special performance of the Pilgrimage Play, a total of $3283 already has been raised in Hollywood for Japanese relief work, exclusive of the individual donations to various funds being raised throughout Los Angeles. This total includes $400 donated by the Hollywood Congregational Church; $725 donated by the Hollywood Round Table Club; $300 by the Kiwanis and $253 by the Lions Club.

word, which may make or break Germany.

Ambassador De Margerie informed Chancellor Stresemann that the present semi-official negotiations and pourparlers and deals between leading industrials are useless and that no official negotiations looking toward peace in the Ruhr are possible until Chancellor Stresemann officially announces to the world that the passive resistance is withdrawn.

Ambassador De Margerie insisted in Premier Poincare's name that the fact that the workingmen had given up the passive resistance or the government had let it drop through permitting small localities or labor unions to give it up or through failure to supply money to Ruhr workers was insufficient.

Today I am able to confirm the above facts from a member of Ambassador De Margerie's staff at the Embassy.

MUST MEET DEMANDS

"There can be no peace negotiations and there can be no official offer from Germany until Premier Poincare's demands are acceded to," he said. "Ambassador De Margerie Monday night delivered this message to Chancellor Stresemann. The Ambassador knows it is a bitter pill for Chancellor Stresemann to swallow, but he is of the opinion that the Chancellor will swallow it.

The Ambassador resumed pourparlers when he recognized how extremely serious the situation in Germany now is. Real negotiations however, await an official declaration that the resistance is over. Premier Poincare never changes his mind."

I suggested that the reason Chancellor Stresemann could not afford officially to announce that he was giving up the resistance was because the monarchists extremeists threaten not only to overthrow the Cabinet, but to march with an army upon Berlin and engage in civil war.

"France knows that Chancellor Stresemann has many dangerous Nationalist enemies," replied Ambassador De Margerie's aide, "but the passive resistance must officially be declared off. We know it is practically dead, but the official orders must be repealed. Ambassador De Margerie has made it clear to Chancellor Stresemann."

JAPAN RELIEF QUOTA PASSED

Total of $5,108,300 Subscribed by Entire Nation

Three Divisions Go Beyond Original Figure

Nine Supply Ships Sail or Are About Ready

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The $5,000,000 originally asked of the American people for Japanese earthquake sufferers was exceeded by more than $100,000 today as contributions continued to pour in from every section of the country, but Red Cross officials sent forth the word that continued support of the public was necessary.

A total of $5,108,300 had been pledged when the books were closed for the day.

Three of the country's divisions to which the work of collecting money was allotted exceeded their quotas on the first $5,000,000. They were the Washington, Central and New England divisions. The Washington region reported $3,014,000 against a quota of $2,900,000; the Central gathered $601,000 with a quota of $800,000, and New England showed returns of $400,000 against $350,000 asked.

Other contributions by divisions were:

Southern, $96,000; Southwestern, $300,000; Pacific, $295,800; insular and foreign, $201,500.

Of the amount subscribed, $3,768,500 has been utilized, of which $2,401,000 was expended for food, clothing, medicines and building materials. The remaining $1,367,500 represents donations of actual money for use in Japan and the Philippine Islands for the purchase of supplies.

Of the latter sum, $1,000,000 was set aside today in response to the appeal of Ambassador Woods at Tokio to be placed at the disposal of the Japanese emergency relief bureau.

Nine Red Cross relief ships, carrying thousands of tons of clothing, building materials, food and other necessities either have sailed or will sail within a few days from Pacific Coast ports. The commodities making up these shipments account for expenditure of the $2,401,000 and the commodities and expenditures include:

Ten to twelve million pounds Pacific Coast rice, $500,000; medical and hospital supplies, $64,000; authority to Seattle to purchase milk, canned fish and flour, $385,000; authority to San Francisco to purchase milk, canned fish and flour, $695,000; 200,000 suits of underwear, $300,000; 300,000 pairs of stockings, $50,000; authority to Portland to purchase 4,500,000 feet of timber, $150,000; authority to Seattle to purchase timber, $85,000, and 100,000 blankets, $170,000.

Of the vessels which have sailed, the Tyndareus, Kongosan and President Jackson cleared from Seattle and the President Taft and Somme from San Francisco. The Toya Maru is to sail from Seattle on the 13th inst., the Vega from San Francisco on the 16th inst., the West Henshaw from Seattle on the 25th inst., and the Dewey from Portland on the 25th inst.

President Coolidge expressed today to John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, his deep personal gratification at the response made by the American people to the appeal for relief funds.

Through the State Department Ambassador Hanihara transmitted expressions of gratitude from Premier Yamamoto of Japan.

RELIEF SHIP SAILS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Approximately 10,000 tons of foodstuffs and clothing and two cargoes of lumber purchased by contribution made in Pacific Coast States to the Red Cross are on the high seas bound for Japan, it was announced today by William Carl Hunt, in charge of Red Cross headquarters here.

About 200 women appeared on the streets today with coin containers into which the passing public was asked to drop as much as it could for Japanese relief. The women were sent out by the Citizen's Relief Committee in an effort to round out San Francisco's hoped-for $500,000 by 2 p.m. tomorrow. Approximately $200,000 was on hand or pledged when the drive opened today.

The sum of $75,000 already has been contributed in Portland, Or., for Japanese relief, and workers of that city are continuing their campaign for funds with the determination to raise $200,000, at least, it was announced at the headquarters of the Pacific division of the American Red Cross in charge of Japanese relief work here today.

The original quota set for Portland was $45,260, it was announced. The quota was raised within a few hours after the appeal for funds made by the Red Cross, Portland officials reported.

The Pacific Coast Baseball League, through President William H. McCarthy, today donated $1000 to the Japanese relief fund.

TRANSPORT SAILS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MANILA, Sept. 11.—The transport Meiggs sailed from here for Japan today with more than $1,000,000 worth of supplies for earthquake sufferers.

The cargo included $960,500 worth of army goods alone. The balance of the cargo consisted of Red Cross supplies. Medical supplies sufficient for a population of 150,000 for two months were sent, besides sufficient rice to last a city the size of Manila for a month; 200,000 pounds of bacon; the same amount of beans, and and flour and bakery equipment capable of turning out 30,000 one-pound loaves daily.

LINER CARRIES SUPPLIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Sept. 11.—The Shipping Board Liner President Jackson sailed for Yokohama today with nearly 3000 tons of relief supplies donated by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and other local organizations for use in the earthquake devastated region of Japan.

The Shipping Board Liner President Jefferson, first vessel to reach Yokohama after the Japanese earthquake, will arrive here on the 15th inst. with more than 100 refugees, according to a wireless message from the vessel received here today by the Admiral Oriental line.

Subscriptions reported by team captains under Chairman Harry Haldeman were as follows: Jesse Stephens, canvassing the automotive trade, $1400; John Hokom, plumbing, $3000; A. N. Kemp and R. H. Moulton, banks and other financial institutions, $19,315; Frank Ryan, real estate, $1435; F. D. McComas, dry goods, employees only, $1353. Others reported certain prospects but were advised by official reports until the cash is actually in hand. Many of the team captains stated that they would be in a position to make official reports today.

At yesterday's meeting it developed that several of the old Red Cross teams had not yet been reorganized owing to the absence of their former captains. Reorganization of these teams will be effected at once.

BENEFIT SHOWS

United States Internal Revenue Collector Goodcell reported that the collections among Federal employees were complete and would be ready for report at today's meeting.

Plans are progressing for the two benefit performances to be given tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Philharmonic Auditorium, which will include all available talent from the dramatic and vaudeville theaters and moving picture studios. Tickets will be on sale at each of the Los Angeles theaters.

Meetings will be held at the Elite Cafe at noon each day this week. Red Cross stations were opened yesterday in the various downtown bank buildings, and 200 University and High School Japanese girls sought subscriptions on the streets. Through the courtesy of the managements of both Orpheum theaters, twenty-five Japanese girl students will make three-minute appeals to the audiences.

JAPANESE BAZAAR

The Hollywood Women's Club, Japanese women headed by Mrs. K. Kishi, wife of the Japanese consul, will conduct a bazaar at noon today and tomorrow. Native wares, tea and rice cakes will be on sale. Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock William Jennings Bryan will address the club.

Chairman Harry Haldeman, presiding at yesterday's meeting at the Elite Cafe, made an earnest appeal saying: "The biggest thing that life offers is the opportunity to do something worth while for someone else. The exaltation that follows sacrifice is a thing that can be attained in no other way." He predicted confidently that Los Angeles would exceed its quota in two days more.

Five-sixths of the contributions will be handled by the Red Cross and one-sixth will be turned over to the Salvation Army to be applied to the Army's work in the campaign for $10,000,000.

GIRL CANVASSERS

Efficient work was done yesterday by a group of Japanese girls of the C.A. workers under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Watters. The girls visited all the subscribers in the district bounded by Thirtieth and Sixty-fourth streets and Maple and Western avenues. While one girl gives a canvasser a talk the others make the rounds with tin collection boxes. This afternoon four of them will be filled with coins, were ordered at headquarters.

Hollywood organized its business relief campaign at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night under the direction of the Red Cross. While the entire city will be managed independently the funds secured will be turned over to the Red Cross headquarters of the Los Angeles chapter.

Fred W. Beetson of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, who recently arrived from the Orient to represent Will Hays, gave assurances that the motion-picture industry could be depended upon to do its full part. Contributions had already been raised in a similar way, he reported, and there would be an intensive drive will be conducted.

REPORT FUNDS

J. B. Iraldi of the Rotary Club, Dr. A. A. Hussen of the Lions, Mrs. Ridley Tolle of the Woman's Club, Mrs. E. P. Clark of the Assistance League, Mrs. Estelle Martin of the Kiwanis Association, Fred Porter of the Exchange Club, and George A. Hill, president of the Chamber of Commerce, each reported that the sums contributed were more than prospect.

Mrs. E. P. Werner of the Assistance League, who is also secretary of the D. C. MacWatters in the Los Angeles office of the Red Cross, said that as soon as the 100 grammar and high school Japanese girls under her direction had completed their work in Los Angeles they would be available for other work.

The Community Chorus of Hollywood has announced a benefit concert for next Tuesday night under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Carter at which it is

SAN PEDRO LINE VALUATION CUT

...ission's Figures Lowered ...by Twenty Millions

...ew Making Body Lops Off ...Harriman-Clark Stocks

...Reproduction Cost Not an ...Item in Computing Worth

...BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

...WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The ...nterstate Commerce Commission, ...in its first formal findings in the ...ong and intensive railroad valua... ...proceedings, handed down two ...decisions today which are expected ...to establish important precedents ...affecting on freight-rate making in ...the future.

...Final "single sum values" were ...fixed in the case of the San Pedro, ...Los Angeles and Salt Lake Rail... ...road and the Atlanta, Birming... ...ham and Atlantic Line. For the ...former the value was set at $45,... ...000,000 with an approximate $1... ...000,000 added property worth ...to be added to the valuation date of June 30, ...1914. The Atlanta, Birmingham ...and Atlantic was valued at $23,... ...000,000 as of June 30, 1914. A ...return by a valuation of nearly ...$30,000,000 was made by the for... ...mer road while the latter's estim... ...ate of its own value was around ...$30,000,000.

...ROCK IS REJECTED

...Disagreeing in the points made ...by the commission, which upheld ...the inclusive valuation with only ...minor changes, was the declara... ...tion that only property actually ...used in the service of the public ...for transportation purposes ...should be considered, and that in ...no case could cost of reproduc... ...tion new be used as the sole or ...controlling basis for arriving at a ...fair cash value. It rejected such ...claims by the Atlanta, Birming... ...ham and Atlantic and referred to ...them in the San Pedro case, each ...emphasizing that public wel... ...fare warranted the elimination of ...such items.

...In the San Pedro case, the ...decision eliminated as a part ...of the property or assets upon ...which a valuation could be placed ...the $25,000,000 in capital stock ...held by E. H. Harriman and ...H. A. Clark, declaring such ...action was "proper under all ...circumstances."

...The action with respect to Har... ...man-Clark stock was construed ...in part by some that the com... ...mission promised in its valuation ...findings to hold the stock ...harmless as to all future ...financial requirements as it ...does with respect to ...property not actually used in ...operation. The block of stock ...has been deducted by the com... ...mission in its tentative valuation ...of the San Pedro Line and the ...road had made strong protest ...against it.

...TO SET FORMULA

...No consideration will be given ...by the commission in valuation ...findings to proposed or pro... ...spective additions and betterments ...or extension of facilities. Explan... ...ation was made in the San Pedro ...case that definite rules had ...been prescribed for placing any ...future expenditures within the ...limits of such sum value and there... ...after the property as of the valu... ...ation date furnished the limited ...basis for computation of the road's ...worth.

While the commission cut sharply the valuation of the roads as made by the carriers, its action was not determined, it was said, as indicative of a policy. In setting a value for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, the commission digressed from a discussion of income and property values to give consideration to the responsibility that a carrier has to communities it serves. The Atlantic line was described as having sprung "from a dream that never materialized," yet it rendered a distinct service, the commission said. It added that although consistent losses had been reported, consideration must be given to all relevant facts.

"In the determination of a value for rate-making purposes," the decision continued, "we are not limited and cannot be confined to a mere formula."

AIR LEVIATHAN TESTED BY NAVY

dipped her bow quite perceptibly. Down went her bow also as she turned northwest toward the Hudson, following the river on her voyage up town.

Only five of her six motors were working as she passed over the city, but their hum could be heard indoors even above the usual roar of the city.

The giant airship returned to the tip of Manhattan after a stately voyage of half an hour over the city.

The ZR-1 paid a visit to Brooklyn and then returned to Manhattan, wending her way up town again. She cut graceful circles in the sky, turning with remarkable abruptness for her size, as if to prove she could wiggle through aerial traffic just as skillfully as agile taxis dodge surface cars and pedestrians thousands of feet below her.

On her way up the island the airship flew close to the Woolworth tower, showering the streets with pamphlets describing her construction.

Finally, she turned again and passed over Battery Park, thronged with spectators; over the harbor, dotted with craft; past the Statue of Liberty and through the Narrows, until she was lost in the light haze. Ships in the harbor played a serenade on their whistles as the "Leviathan of the Air" sped away to visit Philadelphia.

VISITS PHILADELPHIA

[BY A. P. ...AY WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—The ZR-1 paid her scheduled visit to Philadelphia this afternoon, entering the city at the northeastern limits shortly after 2 p. m., and sailing down over the Delaware River toward the center of the city.

After leaving Philadelphia the ZR-1 sent a message to the Navy, saying she was four miles south of Moorestown, N. J., at 3:25 p.m., heading for Lakehurst. She was 5100 feet up and traveling at forty-two knots an hour. The weather was clearing, the message added.

The airship was 4200 feet up over the navy yard. Near the old Hog Island shipyard, just below the navy yard, the ZR-1 made a sweeping turn and headed directly north over Philadelphia, passing City Hall at 2:40 p.m.

The navy yard was in communication every fifteen minutes with the ship.

The commander of the ZR-1 said that he flew at an altitude of 5500 to 5000 feet on his way from New York to Philadelphia and that his speed was forty-five knots an hour.

The great ship paid a surprise visit to Germantown, in the northwestern part of Philadelphia, and looked over the players competing in the national tennis championship tournament at the Germantown Cricket Club grounds.

FORTUNE LEFT TO ENGLISH ROYALTY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Royal family has had a welcome windfall under the will of Lord Farquhar, wealthy peer, long associated with the royal household, who died a few weeks ago, leaving $1,800,000. Nearly $450,000 is absorbed by minor bequests to friends, servants, etc., including $225,000 to Princess Maud. The residue is left, half absolutely to Princess Arthur Connaught and half in trust for her son, the Earl of Macduff. If the Earl of Macduff does not attain his majority his share goes to King George, absolutely.

AUTO CARAVAN ON WAY HERE

"Get to Los Angeles or Bust," Is Slogan of Easterners

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11. Plastered with city pennants and gay aspirations to get "to Los Angeles or bust" a caravan of thirty motor cars chugged out of Philadelphia today headed for Washington. The caravan pulled into town Monday night from New York bearing forty-two persons.

"It isn't a hike nor an endurance test," one tourist said. "We hope to do 4000 miles in thirty-five days—and do it easily at that. We will stop at hotels at night."

TUG COMING TO SALVAGE CUBA CARGO

Attempt Will be Made to Save $300,000 in Coffee and Sugar on Ship

The sea-going tug Peacock, with the most complete wrecking and salvaging equipment on the Pacific Coast, is scheduled to reach Los Angeles Harbor on the 16th inst., and will proceed at once to San Miguel Island in an attempt to salvage the $300,000 coffee and sugar cargo of the American-Hawaiian liner Cuba, wrecked on the island last Saturday.

The tug's arrival here will mark the opening of operations on this coast of the firm of Merriett, Chapman & Scott, which has selected Los Angeles Harbor as a base for operations on an extensive scale.

The Peacock is bringing to this port the four-masted barkentine Monfalcone, which was dismasted in the Caribbean Sea, having left New Orleans on May 30, last, and which was salvaged and brought through the Panama Canal by the tug.

No hope is entertained for the salvage of the Cuba, which is expected to break in two, but it is believed likely that most of her cargo can be recovered. The Peacock is bringing a crew of divers.

Capt. Holland of the Cuba is remaining on the island with several of his crew, awaiting arrival of the Peacock.

The amount was put up by six Chinese charged with conducting gambling games, and forty-two other persons, including many white men, seized in a raid by Marysville police yesterday. Cases against nineteen who appeared in court were dismissed.

DIVERS TO HUNT FOR NAVY DEAD

Men May Have Been Caught While They Slept

Work of Salvaging Will be Let by Contract

the Delphy, the Young, the Nicholas, the Fuller and the Woodbury, it is conceded that only some of the removable parts, such as the guns, torpedo tubes, engines, etc., can be saved.

Bids will probably be called from commercial salvaging companies and the work of salvaging let by contract. Already representatives of marine salvaging companies are on the ground making inventories.

DEPENDS ON WEATHER

According to Capt. Nutting, much will depend upon the weather as to whether the salvage will amount to anything. By a freak of fate, the captain, as he stood on the rocky promontory 150 feet above the surface of the sea contemplating the unbelievable chaos of ships below him, was reminded of the fact that he superintended the construction of all the wrecked destroyers save the Delphy. The ships were built under his supervision in San Francisco.

"It is very interesting to observe the action of the heavy seas on these crafts," said Capt. Nutting. He pointed to the stern end of the Delphy which lay at his feet. The Delphy was the first to strike the rocks, her bow crumpling like matchwood. The boats are long and lean and their plate is only about five-sixteenths of an inch thick. Soon the slender craft broke in two.

The stern, with its gun still mounted and protruding from the water like a fighter who never says die, bobbed up and down ponderously with the swells of the sea. The plates on the forward end of the ship bent backward and forward under the wash of the water like the lid on a tomato can that has been opened.

"By spring time," said Capt. Nutting, who is a veteran of the sea, "there will be nothing left of these ships. The sea will have broken them up. Should we get heavy weather, the pounding of the sea will leave but little for salvage."

DELPHY TURNED OVER

Already the Delphy has been turned completely over by the gigantic seas, having stood in an upright position when she broke in two. The Lee has listed about ten degrees more, as has the Nicholas. Lines have been made fast from these boats to the rocks high overhead, however, to keep them from going over further.

A breeches buoy has been rigged up to the Chauncey and much of the loose salvage has been taken ashore over it. Seeing the men staggering over the clinker-like rocks with edges that cut like knives, gives something of an idea of what the men endured when saving themselves during the heavy seas.

As the men pull and haul on the breeches buoy, they chat and make wise cracks like the true American gob. "Easy with that bundle of blankets, boys. That's what we have to sleep on," the C. P. O. admonishes as the precious cargo swings over the waters below and travels on the rope. She lands and one sailor says, "Boy, here's where we get some real sleep."

HELP IN SALVAGE

Out at sea a thousand yards stand two mine sweepers, the Ortolan and Tern, helping the work of salvage. The Destroyer Tinder Melville came up from San Diego and landed an additional crew of twenty men to help in the work.

There were thirteen destroyers in the line of formation when the Delphy, the flagship, struck the rocks. They were traveling about 300 yards apart at a speed estimated from twenty-one to twenty-four knots. Under a previous radio order, the boats, when the Delphy sounded her distress signal, all turned to the left which sent them, one after another, into shore. The order of formation was given as follows: The Delphy, S. P. Lee, Young, Nicholas, Woodbury, Faragut, Fuller, Percival, Sommers, Chauncey and three others whose names were not learned. Of this number the Faragut, Percival and Sommers and the three unnamed escaped.

HIT IN SUCCESSION

According to some of the men the boats hit in one-two-three order, some of them first hitting rocks, then riccocheting off, turning at right angles and heading some in and some out. They stand, a grewsome sight, in all positions.

Two of them, the Woodbury and the Fuller, climbed like men onto horses, on to a saddle of rocks 300 yards from shore.

Under the program a naval camp will be established at Honda to house the details doing work of salvaging. The men, tired and hungry, passed a vote of thanks to the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce for a supply of food, medical supplies and cots sent down to them.

SHIPS TO SELL AS JUNK

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Sale of about 170 ships designated "unserviceable" by the Board of Survey may be undertaken soon by the Shipping Board. The ships will be disposed of for scrapping, it was indicated, and probably will be offered in lots of ten.

NAVY DISASTER TOLL INCREASED

Deaths of Twenty-three Are Officially Reported

Only One Body Identified of Three Found

Victims Cling to Raft, Then Disappear

BY OTIS M. WILES
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 11.—The official death list of the naval disaster in which seven destroyers were wrecked on the reefs of Point Arguella was placed at twenty-three late today following a complete muster of the crews of the Eleventh Destroyer Squadron.

Only one body of the three recovered has been identified, according to Capt. E. H. Watson, the squadron commander. It is the body of R. A. Conway, fireman, first-class, U.S.S. Delphy. The Casualty list of the U.S.S. Young, which suffered the greatest loss to its crew, contained the names of nineteen men. The U.S.S. Delphy lost three men, including Conway.

Three victims of the sea tragedy were seen clinging to a raft as the seething waters swirled their frail craft from the wreckage and into the fog and darkness. That the three men seen adrift reached the shore alive and the raft was not recovered was a certainty, for the muster failed to find three such survivors among the crews of the Eleventh Squadron.

The three men on the raft were believed to be the three seamen reported missing from the U.S.S. Delphy, Conway, H. Pearson, fireman first class, and H. Dalida.

Naval radio operators here are awaiting information concerning Pearson and Dalida. The recovery of their bodies from the surf is expected at any time.

The entire number of missing men of the U.S.S. Young will be found imprisoned in their water-filled compartments, according to the general belief among the naval officials here. Though no details of the muster, aside from the casualty figures and from the story of the three men on the raft, were released, the general belief is that none of the twenty reported as missing were washed overboard. The list of these men is as follows:

E. Torres, E. Jones, R. K. Buchan, E. E. Harrison, C. A. Raddock, C. A. Salzar, J. T. Martin, Jack Kirby, E. W. Grady, J. S. Vanshaak, Max Taylor, G. J. Overshiner, H. T. Kirk, J. J. Slimak, H. W. Skipper, E. Duncan, A. Zakedzwski, John Young, W. H. Morris and L. N. Rogers.

Three of the missing men are Californians. They are R. K. Buchan, who is survived by a wife residing at Sonoma; G. J. Overshiner, survived by a wife residing at San Jose, Route No. 10, and C. A. Raddock, whose wife lives at 4733 Newport avenue, Ocean Beach.

While the rescue work and the salvaging is continuing off Point Arguella, ship organization has been maintained at the destroyer base and will be in progress until every man has been accounted for. The survivors are to be found in chattering groups on the decks of the destroyers that escaped destruction. They are attired in nondescript clothing, in dirty and torn dungarees, in faded mixed uniform, and most of the officers who strutted the streets of San Diego in natty blue and gold braid resemble village sheiks in borrowed and misfit civilian suits and hats. Those who have no families here and who lost all or most of their belongings in the disaster are yet unable to replace their lost equipment.

The official investigation of the disaster will begin Thursday. It probably will require several weeks to question the survivors. The sealed verdict, determining the blame for the loss of seven destroyers and twenty-three men, then will be forwarded to Washington.

ECLIPSE TO BE EINSTEIN TEST

Swarthmore Professor Gets Forty Photographs

Will Check Up on Relativity Theory With Them

Successful Pictures Made of Corona of Sun

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

YERBANIS (Durango, Mex.) Sept. 11.—The expedition under Prof. John A. Miller, sent to Mexico by Swarthmore College to study yesterday's solar eclipse, obtained forty photographs of the phenomenon, Prof. Miller announced today.

The photographs will be used, he said, for the purpose of testing the Einstein theory of relativity and to obtain spectrograms from which something relative to the chemical composition and motion of sun's corona can be learned.

"There was a thin cloud during the first half of the eclipse," said Prof. Miller, "but the second half was unobstructed. The major instrument of the installation, a camera sixty-five feet long and using plate-glass negatives twenty by twenty-four inches, functioned perfectly, giving eight pictures, which were supplemented by eighteen others secured with smaller cameras for the purpose of studying the corona structure, which was supremely beautiful when the immense streamers flickered out from the sun's equator.

SEVEN PICTURES MADE

Seven photographs were made with three cameras having a focal length of fifteen feet, for the purpose of checking up on the relativity theory. It is feared, however, that the value of these plates was lessened because of the loss of the faint stars due to the thin cloud. The spectrographs program was carried out successfully.

"Motion pictures of the eclipse were made, and likewise an attempt with the same apparatus to secure, with specially constructed lens, motion pictures of the corona's shadow bands."

CORONA PHOTOGRAPHED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 11.—Almost perfect photographs of the sun's corona during the total eclipse were made by a party headed by Prof. James Worthington of London, a fellow of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, and Dr. Alfred E. Burton, professor emeritus of astronomy in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in lower Lompoc Valley, sixty miles north of Santa Barbara. The photographs are believed to be virtually the only satisfactory ones made today, owing to unfavorable weather conditions.

Prof. Worthington said he had developed four negatives of the number taken and that the result would be among the best ever made of the corona accompanying a total eclipse. The instrument used was a specially built ceolostat with three mirrors feeding light to four cameras of seventeen, fourteen, nine and five-foot focus.

Foggy conditions and haze from a fire burning in the Santa Barbara National Forest prevented successful results at any other point in the Santa Barbara district, although many attempts were made to obtain photographs at various places in the totality zone in the county.

The period of greatest obscurity at the Lompoc Valley observation station was two and one-half minutes.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES ORDERED DEPORTED

JUDGE SAYS AMERICA IS NO LONGER SURE HAVEN FOR WORLD'S OPPRESSED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Fifty-seven Russian refugees from Harbin, Manchuria, must return to Harbin where, they assert, they will be shot.

United States District Judge John S. Partridge denied today petitions for writs of habeas corpus in which the refugees sought to set aside an order of the Department of Labor deporting them.

Judge Partridge said he did not believe they would be shot, inasmuch as they were being deported to the port whence they started and not to their native land. He explained that the law fixing the quota for Russian immigration prevented their entry, and added:

"The melting pot does not always melt. There are too many immigrants coming into this country to be properly infused into its life. The time when America must be considered as the haven for all of the oppressed of the world has passed."

GOMPERS WARNS OF AMALGAMATION EVIL

ILLINOIS FEDERATION TOLD ENTITY OF UNIONS MUST BE PRESERVED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DECATUR (Ill.) Sept. 11.—A warning which was interpreted by convention officials as against "amalgamation" and "labor party" proposals, the two things for which William Z. Foster, reputed Communist, has announced he has come here to fight for, was given the Illinois Federation of Labor convention today in a letter from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

"There are certain inalienable rights," President Gompers wrote, "which belong to the trade unions which must not and cannot with safety be overruled. We want our trade-union movement as distinct as the billows and yet one as the sea. The attempt to force by declaration or power the union to do that against which their own true and best instincts prompt them is an invasion which cannot be tolerated and, if attempted, can only bring about the reaction that may not only weaken, but possibly dismember, the movement in the entirety.

The "amalgamation" which officials said this letter warns against was proposed by William Z. Foster. It provides that the thirty-four trade-craft unions shall be reorganized into about seven "industrial unions" patterned after the United Mine Workers.

President Gompers speaks against this as "attacking the entity and integrity of the unions" now composing the federation.

Santa Ana Man Held to Answer Fraud Charges

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 11.—Edward J. Koerner, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses as a result of negotiations for the erection of a ten-story office building here, was today held to answer to the Superior Court by Justice J. Koerner was arrested on complaint of M. Eugene Durfee, Anaheim architect, who declared Koerner had obtained $1375 from him under misrepresentations regarding a 99-year lease to local property in which Durfee purchased a half interest under the representation, he said, that $2700 had been paid.

Koerner, taking the stand in his own behalf, declared Durfee had formed a partnership with him to finance preliminary maneuvers for the skyscraper. Koerner said Durfee had read the lease and saw, or could have seen that no payment was required until a certain date next year.

FASCISTI SAVE ITALY FORTUNE

Revolutionary Regime Shows Great Economies

Net Cut is 500,000,000 Lire, According to Report

Income Taxes Are Equitably Adjusted for All

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. — The Fascisti of Italy have as active a talent for getting things done in the world of finance as in political affairs, according to a report which has just come to the attention of American financial authorities. The report covers the finances of the Fascisti government and was prepared by Alberto de Stefani, the Minister of Finance in Premier Mussolini's Cabinet.

The point of outstanding interest in the recital of how Italian finances have prospered under the black shirts is that the burden of the income tax has been more equitably distributed. In the old days before the war and even during the war it was charged that, either through bad law or inefficient enforcement, many persons were able to escape the income tax. This was one of the first weak points in Italian affairs which was attacked by the Fascisti government when it came into power. At the time of the succession of the Fascisti there were but 600,000 persons paying income tax in the Kingdom of Italy. This number has now been increased to 1,315,000 persons.

The Minister of Finance has appointed what he terms a financial police. Presumably these are officials somewhat similar to the American collectors of internal revenue agents. These officials are diligent in seeking out delinquent taxpayers and evaders of taxation. The doubling of the number of persons on whom the burden of tax will fall is expected to permit of a reduction in tax rates and still bring in a revenue greater than what was formerly collected.

SIMILAR TO OURS

Another reform made by the Fascisti government's financial regime is the strengthening of the central taxing authorities. Like the United States, Italy has had a dual system of taxation; one, federal, for the whole country, and one provincial, like our State taxes. The federal taxes have been made dominant and they now have preference over the provincial imposts, so that the general government is sure of its revenue. Care is taken to prevent any serious interference between the rights of the kingdom and the rights of the tributary provinces, just as a nice balance is preserved between Federal and State rights in the United States.

Taxes have been greatly simplified by the Fascisti regime. In the former administration there were thirteen different kinds of taxes. The Fascisti administration has cut these to four: a land tax, a building tax, an income tax and a sort of sales tax or tax on transactions, as it is called.

Great care has been exercised to avoid laying taxes which would have the effect of increasing the price of necessary foodstuffs, such as bread and wine.

RAILS TO PROSPER

One of Italy's sore spots has been the railway deficit. The Italian railways are under government ownership and operation and have been accumulating annual deficits for some time. Last year the railway deficit was 654,000,000 lire. During the fiscal year 1923-24 the Fascisti program provides for reducing this to 374,000,000 lire, a decrease of 280,000,000 lire. This improvement is expected to be announced in a few months, as rapid progress has been made toward it. One hundred and eighty million lire has been saved in operating expenditures and 100,000,000 lire has been added to the railway receipts.

The financial program for the next fiscal year calls for a further reduction of 264,000,000 lire in the railway deficit and the following year for a complete wiping out of this item. Once on the credit side of the ledger, the Fascisti expect to reduce rates drastically. Whether this plan will prove successful must remain a matter of conjecture until the time comes, but the report shows that good progress has been made so far.

The Fascisti financial administration has been as revolutionary in many respects as the political administration. Expenditures which previous governments made have been dispensed with while other policies have been embarked upon which are wholly new. In general, however, there has been more saving of funds resulting from what has been abandoned than from the new activities engaged in.

ABOLISH ROYAL GUARD

Some of the notable savings include an annual saving of 285,000,000 lire by the abolition of the Royal Guard; 221,000,000 lire has been saved on public works; 152,000,000 lire in the pruning of military expenses, 101,000,000 in reforms in the administration and operation of the postal, telegraph and telephone services; 75,000,000 lire in the customs service and varying lesser amounts in the Home Office, the Colonial Office and other branches of the civil establishment. A total saving of 1,596,000,000 lire is claimed in the report.

Against these savings must be set new expenses arising from the undertaking of programs to which the Fascisti were pledged when they seized the reins of government in their famous bloodless revolution—the dramatic march of the Black Shirts on Rome, the Eternal City.

The principal item is one of 750,000,000 lire for the prompt payment of war damages. As this sum is to be financed by the sale of bonds and not taken directly from the treasury, the Finance Minister declares that only the sum necessary to pay interest on the amount, 76,000,000 lire, should be charged up as a new expenditure. Seventy-four million has been added to strengthen the air service of the army and 192,000,000 for a ship subsidy such as former President Harding tried to have Congress enact for the American merchant marine.

NET CUT LARGE

When all the budget cuts made by Fascisti are taken into consideration and against them is set the total of the new expenditures, a net reduction in the government expense of nearly 500,000,000 lire still remains, so the report claims that the new revolutionary regime

The Fascisti financial regime recognizes the war debt owed to the United States and has made no plea for cancellation, such as has been made by France. However, the Fascisti leaders say that they believe terms should be accorded Italy in the funding of the debt, equally favorable with those accorded Great Britain. To such a proposal, Chairman Mellon and the World War Foreign Debt Funding Commission have acceded.

How long the revolutionary Fascisti government will stand cannot be predicted with any measure of safety but American officials see no reason why it should not continue to be successful in the light of the competent management of the finances which the report just received reveals.

Such a report is of special interest in this country now because this winter negotiations will be commenced on the funding of the Italian debt to the United States. is doing its job in a creditable manner and bringing Italy back toward solvency.

PRESIDENT WILL ASK COAL RELIEF

Legislation Sponsored by Commission Favored

Law Would Force Operators to Give Cost Data

Power to Grant Right to Take Over Mines Doubted

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—President Coolidge will recommend to Congress the enactment of coal legislation sponsored by the Coal Commission.

This was stated broadly today at the White House. The President's advocacy of the commission's program will mean that he will favor legislation making it compulsory for coal operators to furnish cost information to a government agency and possibly also legislation authorizing the executive to take over the coal mines and operate them in the event of a strike.

These two recommendations were contained in the report of the coal commission on anthracite made public in July, and are expected to be renewed in the final report of bituminous coal to be made public this month.

POWER IS DOUBTED.

There is legal doubt as to the power of Congress to authorize taking over the mines, however.

In connection with Gov. Pinchot's request for co-operation in his efforts to secure a proper distribution of coal at reasonable prices, it was stated that President Coolidge already has discussed the matter with members of the Coal Commission and has requested them to do everything possible along this line.

While the Coal Commission goes out of existence on the 22nd inst., the President plans to continue to consult its members unofficially if the occasion should require. He feels that there is not likely to be any occasion which would necessitate an extension of the commission's authority which could only be granted by Congress.

TO REVIEW RATES.

F. R. Wadleigh, the Federal fuel distributor, also goes out of office on the 22nd inst. He will return to his place as head of the coal division of the Department of Commerce and will be available if his assistance is desired by the government in connection with coal distribution problems during the winter.

John Hays Hammond, chairman of the Coal Commission, issued a statement commenting on Gov. Pinchot's recommendation for lower anthracite freight rates.

"The Coal Commission in its anthracite report, issued July 9 to the President and to the Congress, recommended that the Interstate Commerce Commission institute an inquiry on anthracite coal freight rates," said Mr. Hammond. "The Interstate Commerce Commission, on the next day, in response to the recommendation of the Coal Commission, ordering an investigation of this question, fixed the 24th inst. as the date on which the hearings would begin.

"The reasonableness of existing rates will thus be ascertained as provided by law, but until the Interstate Commerce Commission renders its decision the public will not know whether there is ground to expect any relief from this source. The hearing will elucidate all the facts, and the adjustment, if warranted, will proceed in an orderly way."

IDLE DAYS COSTLY

How idle days at bituminous coal mines increase the cost of production of coal is shown in a report made public today by the Coal Commission. Average cost per ton on full-time operation at 266 mines in 1918, it is stated, ranged from $1.26 to $2.60 per ton, these figures being increased in proportion to the number of idle days.

"The cost of producing a ton of coal, other things being equal, varies with the steadiness at which the mine is operated," says the report.

"If the mine runs every working day the cost is the lowest; each idle day adds to the cost of production of coal on the days worked. This is so because a part of the costs go on whether the mine operates or stands idle. Since irregular operation of bituminous coal mines is the rule rather than the exception, it is important to determine the cost of idle days."

RECOGNITION TRAIN HALTS FOR ECLIPSE

Angelenos Are Warmly Greeted by Mexican Cities Where Excursion Stops

BY TIMOTHY G. TURNER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

GUADALAJARA, Sept. 11.—The Recognition Special, carrying 150 Los Angeles trade and industrial representatives on a good-will tour of Mexico, arrived here yesterday behind its schedule. The delay was due to the fact that the train stopped en route to give members of the party an opportunity to view the eclipse.

This evening the members of the party were honor guests at a dance planned for them by the local American Club.

Tomorrow the special will continue to Lake Chapala and then to Mexico City. At all points through which the train has passed a hearty welcome has been extended to the party.

Heavy rains over Central Mexico from Torreon south, combined with recognition, promise greater prosperity in this region than has been enjoyed for some time. The Laguna cotton crop, it is predicted, will be from one-third to one-half normal or better than in the past three years. With the American markets open to the Mexican growers as a result of recognition, the planters in this district are hopeful of conditions far better than in many preceding years.

The present rains, it was also stated, promise a good cotton crop for next year.

Italy Accused of Giving Arms to Bulgarians

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

ATHENS, Sept. 11.—Col. Gonatas, head of the revolutionary government, told the Tribune today that Greece possesses incontrovertible proof that Italy is landing large quantities of arms and ammunition at Varno, on the Black Sea, to equip the Bulgarians for a prospective war if Greece and Jugo-Slavia are goaded into a conflict.

Col. Gonatas asserted that the relations between Greece and Jugo-Slavia are better than ever in the history of the two countries and that Jugo-Slavia is remaining quiet until the Fiume question comes to a head.

The colonel does not believe that the Greeks and Jugo-Slavs actually will have to go to war with Italy, but he feels sure of Jugo-Slav support if the Fiume or any other difficulty produces a new crisis.

Another effort to save the lives of the Chinese will be made, their attorney says, and he will appeal to a justice of the Federal Supreme Court.

Two "Carbons" —one is Flinty, Hard

All motor oils, as all oil makers know, deposit some carbonaceous residue.

One kind is gritty, flinty, hard—hard enough to score cylinders and scratch rings, pistons, valves and bearings. It has a tendency to cling. It acts as an abrasive, causing wear. It becomes incandescent, pre-ignition following. It coats spark plugs, short-circuiting the spark.

Lost compression results from its accumulation around valve heads and seats.

The Other Kind

The residue from Aristo Oil is fluffy, soft. Because of its non-clinging tendency, most of it blows out with the exhaust.

It is softer than the metal it touches, so can't cause wear. It is deposited in smaller quantities than the other kind.

Cars run thousands of miles farther without pre-ignition, short-circuiting, or loss of power through impaired compression.

Hence four motor troubles are eliminated by it in addition to its service as a perfect lubricant.

There's a deal more satisfaction in such oil. For sale at all first-class garages and service stations.

How combating film beautifies the teeth

You'll be surprised

Here is a test which will amaze and delight you.

It will tell you why whiter teeth are seen everywhere today, and show you how to get them.

It will show how to bring to yourself and your family cleaner, safer, prettier teeth.

Why teeth cloud

You feel on your teeth a viscous film. Much of it resists the tooth brush, clings and stays.

Soon that film discolors, then forms dingy coats. That is how teeth lose beauty.

Film is also the teeth's great enemy. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. In the old days few escaped these troubles caused by film.

New methods now

Now there are ways to fight that film, which science has discovered. One acts to disintegrate the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring.

Able dental authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Today leading dentists the world over advise it. And careful people of some 50 nations have adopted this new method.

Other new helps

Research also proved other things essential. Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, also its starch digestant. One is to neutralize mouth acids, the other to digest starch deposits.

Pepsodent gives to both these agents manifold effect. Old-time tooth pastes brought just opposite results.

You will never go without these benefits when you learn how much they mean.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

New beauty came to millions

Pepsodent has brought to millions whiter, prettier teeth. You see them now in every circle—teeth you envy, maybe. Now, in fairness to yourself, learn how people get them.

Send coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of that viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the cloudy coats disappear.

The results will surprise and delight you. Cut out coupon now.

BRIDGE PERMITS GIVEN APPROVAL

Structures to Run Over Bay South of San Francisco

Grants Issued to Webb and Harrington by Weeks

Both Projects Estimated at Cost of $8,500,000

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Two applications for permission to construct traffic bridges across San Francisco Bay have been approved by Secretary Weeks.

Both the structures would be south of the city, Frank Webb proposing to build from Dumbarton Point and John L. Harrington from Little Coyote Point.

The question involved for War Department decision was whether grants could be issued legally to the two individuals, although it was known companies would be created in each case to take over the construction work. On recommendation of the Chief of Engineers and approval of the Judge Advocate General, however, the individual grants were approved.

BOTH LARGE PROJECTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—The two great transbay bridge projects endorsed by Secretary of War Weeks today are proposed to provide direct communication between the cities on the San Francisco peninsula and the east side of the bay and the interior valleys. The Dumbarton bridge is to run between a point near Redwood City, San Mateo County and Newark, Alameda County, and will be 5505 feet long and 28 feet wide. It will cost approximately $2,000,000.

The Webb bridge will be a much larger proposition, being planned for the five miles between Little Coyote Point in San Mateo County to a point near Alvis, Alameda County. Its estimated cost is $6,500,000, and it will be sixty feet wide. While both bridges will be provided with draws, it is figured that vessels of ordinary size will be able to pass under the Webb bridge without using the draw.

COOLIDGE TO GO OVER LASKER-FARLEY PLAN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The opinion of the Department of Justice as to the legality of the Lasker-Farley ship operation plan probably will be transmitted to President Coolidge early next week. Within a day or two another opinion on the question of using the Navy in enforcing prohibition is to be sent to the White House. Atty.-Gen. Daugherty returned to Washington today after several weeks at his home in Columbus, O., and attended the Cabinet meeting, reporting to his chief the progress on several departmental affairs. It was the first time since Mr. Coolidge became President that there were no vacant chairs at the session of the Executive's official family.

WHOLESALE PRICE OF SUGAR UP TODAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—The wholesale price of all grades of refined sugar will be advanced 15 cents a cental tomorrow morning, it was announced by the California-Hawaiian and the Western Sugar Refining Companies today. The new price establishes a basis of $8.35 a cental. The advance follows the rise of Cuban raw sugar in eastern refining centers.

RAISIN MEN GET FEDERAL HELP

Daugherty Will Iron Out Growers' Problem

Co-operative Credit Act to be Extended

Riter on Way Out Here to Smooth Out Tangles

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—All the troubles of the raisin growers of California are to be ironed out and the industry is to take the lead in teaching other agricultural and horticultural efforts of the country how to organize and operate under the new co-operative credit legislation passed last year by Congress.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. William D. Riter left Washington two nights ago for Fresno and San Francisco with the solution of the raisin growers' future in his grip, and after conferences in California with the raisin growers and the United States officials who have been handling the case a final approval of the organization will be authorized by Atty.-Gen. Daugherty here in Washington.

The future disposition of the raisin industry will be turned over to the Secretary of Agriculture, who under the Act is given jurisdiction over all agricultural and horticultural or livestock co-operative organizations who seek credit under the new legislation which absolves such organizations from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

It has been the contention of the Federal departments in Washington that the raisin growers' intention was to take advantage of the new opportunities given by the amended law relating to this form of rural credit and the Attorney-General has been asked to clear up some of the legal phases of the organization so that the raisin people and all who follow their example will be within the provisions of the new act and free to operate without further interference on the part of the Federal government save only such regulatory supervision as is lodged in the Secretary of Agriculture.

Atty.-Gen. Daugherty and Asst. Atty.-Gen. Riter had a long conference over the raisin case at Columbus, O., before Mr. Riter started for California.

The Attorney-General said today that it would not be necessary to wait for the return of Mr. Riter before turning the whole matter over to the Secretary of Agriculture and that as soon as favorable wires were received from him a full statement will be issued by the Department of Justice on the authority of the Attorney-General thus finally disposing of the legal phase not only of the raisin growers of California, but all other co-operative associations seeking Federal government credit for rural activities.

He refuses to discuss it further. He is held for investigation.

OUT ON PROBATION

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Earl Wilson, teller in the Bank of Sausalito, across the bay from San Francisco, was arrested May 8, last, charged with a number of apartment-house robberies. He was subsequently convicted but was released on probation. According to police, loot valued at $20,000 was found in Wilson's apartment.

ROOSEVELT FOR FARM COMBINES

Navy Secretary Says Fullest Co-operation is Needed

Speaker Predicts Chain of Storage Plants

Worker Warned Against False Doctrines

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 11.—Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, speaking today at the New York State Fair as the guest of the State Federation of County Farm and Home Bureaus, declared combination and co-operation is the hope of the American farmer, and warned against "fanatics and self-seeking politicians peddling false doctrines such as government price fixing and unsound loans."

The government's part in aiding the agriculturist, he said, should be confined to legalizing fullest co-operation and assisting it through the Federal agencies of information and in extending credit facilities "where it serves some practical purpose."

"In my opinion," Mr. Roosevelt said, "the farmer has not kept step with the times. The day of the small individual has passed. Economy and efficiency are vital to success and it is axiomatic that either in buying and selling, if you deal in bulk, you can deal to your advantage.

"There is one way and one way only that the farmer can meet this condition. He must combine himself.

"Co-operation is necessary for the salvation of the farmer, and the salvation of the farmer is necessary for the salvation of the general public."

One effort of co-operation in the future may be expected in improved warehousing, the speaker predicted, with huge storage plants probably located at strategic points in relation to materials.

These, he believed, should be owned by the farmers' co-operatives themselves, for besides being better managed, "the politics which invariably creep into State-owned industries could be kept out."

Mr. Roosevelt concluded with a word of warning against "quack remedies."

"All over the country," he said, "there are sincere but mentally-limited fanatics and self-seeking politicians peddling false doctrines. These comprise such things as government price fixing and unsound loans. Steer clear of them. Remember that in the long run anything which hurts the country hurts the farmer as surely as anything which hurts the farmer hurts the country."

SALE OF WOOL BY GROWERS PLANNED

NATIONAL DIRECTORS MEET BANKERS ON FINANCING PROPOSAL

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Directors of the National Wool Warehouse and Storage Company met today with bank representatives and with representatives of the marketing association. The company plans to act as national sales and warehousing agent for State and regional wool growers' associations.

"We hope to effect a plan today which will finance the co-operative marketing of wool by growers themselves," said Matt Staff, of Helena, Mont., president of the company, "eliminating the usual selling agencies. Loans, according to our present proposal, would be extended to regional associations of wool growers, which will market through us. We believe in financing wool outside the selling agency that production may not be affected by price fluctuations.

"We belive that within a month $1,000,000 in Federal money will be advanced to wool growers in Montana alone," said Ira T. Wight, of Helena, vice-president of the National Wool Warehouse and Storage Company.

"There are many difficulties involved in financing and engineering a co-operative marketing project for wool that do not arise in connection with such commodities as grain or fruit," said Mr. Wight. "The wool man cannot figure on his crop so certainly as producers of some commodities because it is a variable quantity, affected by grade, length and strength of fiber, frequency and location of weak spots, amount of dust and grease and color. We hoped to overcome all these difficulties, however."

SEARCH FOR ARGONAUT VICTIM IS RESUMED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—An echo of the Argonaut mine disaster of August 28, 1922, in which forty-six men lost their lives, was heard here today when it was announced that a final search had been begun in the lower levels of the mine at Jackson for the body of William Fessel. Fessel was known to be one of the forty-seven men in the mine a short time before the fire broke out. A farewell message, signed with his name, was found on the wall near the spot in the mine where the bodies of the forty-six victims of the disaster were found by rescue workers.

PANAMA COMMISSARY CONTRACT DELAYED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—After further conferences with Gov. Morrow of the Panama Canal Zone, Secretary Weeks determined today to postpone for two weeks or more his decision regarding the proposed contract sought by Charles R. Strotz of New York, under which certain wholesale activities of the Panama Railroad Commissary Department would be transferred to private operation.

RED TAPE MAY HALT BIG RACE

English Fodder Needed for Papyrus; Import Laws Say No

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
LONDON, Sept. 11.—If the American government decides to waive the import laws so as to permit the carrying of fodder for Papyrus to the United States, the famous Derby winner will forego, while in a dry country, the glass of beer which he takes occasionally between races, London veterinarians today began analysis of samples of Belmont Park drinking water, and if it is not found suitable for the horse's needs a special consignment of new market water will be sent to the park, provided, of course, that all other arrangements are completed for Papyrus.

Commenting on the red tape, which may prevent the race, the Star says: "Shall foodstuffs grown by the 'pauper labor' of Great Britain pollute the soil that shelters only the brave, the free and the partly free?

"The American tariff protects home-grown fodder from competition in kind, and at present the world is waiting—while Mussolini is shelling Corfu and nature is destroying Tokio—to hear whether any relaxation can be permitted in the case of Papyrus and his dietary."

Spanish Strike is Protest Over Moroccan War

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
MADRID, Sept 11.—The trade unions throughout Spain today agreed on a general strike in case hostilities are resumed in Morocco.

As the new offensive is planned to take place this week, the entire country is faced with a paralysis of its industry. Telegraph and telephone employees may also join in the strike.

Santander, an important town of 100,000 people, already has been tied up for the past twenty-four hours with the first movement of the unions. Santander labor decided not to wait for the resumption of military operations, but went on strike as an advance protest.

GOV. HUNT CONSIDERS TRIP TO WASHINGTON

ARIZONA EXECUTIVE URGED TO PRESENT WATER CLAIM IN PERSON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
PHOENIX, Sept. 11.—Gov. Hunt admits that he is considering the leadership of the committee of nine to present his special views on the Colorado compact to the Federal Power Commission in Washington, December 24. He is said to have been urged by the committee membership to make the trip in the hope that a degree of consideration shall be given to the State administration's claim that Arizona has preferential rights on the flow of the Colorado River.

Thomas E. Pullian, Mayor of Flagstaff, today was appointed superintendent of the State industrial school at Fort Grant, succeeding J. J. Sanders, who has been given indefinite leave of absence that he may publish a book of criminology. Sanders has served as parole clerk at the State penitentiary. The new superintendent was at Fort Grant during a former Hunt administration.

PLAN SUGGESTED FOR REGENERATING CHINA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Sept. 11. Formation of a society composed of Chinese students educated at the Universities of America and Europe was advocated as a means of effecting the regeneration of China by Dr. J. R. Waddell, advisor to the Chinese ministry of communications, in an address before the members of the Eastern section of the Chinese Students' Alliance in America at Brown University today.

Dr. Waddell said that China's primary need today was "an unselfish, firm dictator" and declared that Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood possessed the qualifications of leadership necessary.

It is proposed to have the division parade as a unit. Maj.-Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who commanded the division and who is now head of the Army Department in the Hawaiian Islands, and Lieut. Col. JUSTICE SOUGHT FOR AMERICAN IN GREECE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11.—In the hope of assuring Constantine V. Koumparoulis, an American war veteran held in Greece on a murder charge, a fair trial, national officers of the American Legion will bring the case to the attention of the State Department. When Koumparoulis returned to Greece this year to bring his orphaned brother and sister to this country, he became involved in an altercation with an ex-convict, who attacked him because he had taken American citizenship, and killed his opponent. Relatives believe that any trial given him will be prejudiced and have sought the Legion's assistance. Koumparoulis is a charter member of the Legion post at Charlton, Iowa.

EXPECT GREAT THINGS in the NEW CADILLAC

ON DISPLAY TODAY

Even the superb quality which you have long associated with the name Cadillac is no adequate measure of the merits of the New V-63.

The simple truth is that Cadillac has advanced its own standards and achieved, in this car, heights of quality which are strictly new.

Your attention is directed, particularly, to these three elements:—

The New Cadillac V-Type 90°, 8-cylinder engine — harmonized and balanced by entirely new principles of design to a degree of smoothness unapproached in automotive manufacture.

New Body Styles — destined by their graceful, symmetrical design, distinctive finish and exquisite appointments, to be the center of admiration in any company.

Cadillac 4 Wheel Brakes — a safety factor developed with the care and thoroughness characteristic of Cadillac engineering.

New delights await you also in enhanced dependability, ease of control, riding restfulness and, indeed, in every phase of car performance.

It is entirely logical that Cadillac, pioneer-leader of eight-cylinder manufacture in America, should now raise multi-cylinder practice to an even higher pitch of excellence.

This is exactly what has happened in the New V-63, and Cadillac urges you to approach this fine car with great expectations.

President, Despite Warnings, Determines on Public Receptions; Cuban Proposes Expedition to Archeological Discovery; Rooms of White House Opened to Visitors

BY THE OBSERVER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Despite the warnings of his friends and advisers against attempting to hold such huge public receptions as the late President Harding, President Coolidge is apparently determined to meet as many of the people as his time and strength will permit. Recently he held the first big reception since taking office when he received 2500 delegates who are gathering here for the twenty-fourth annual convention of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks. The delegates were taken to the White House by Postmaster-General New and other high officials of the Postoffice Department.

Although the late President conceded that his big handshaking days drew heavily on his strength, he frequently told his friends that he enjoyed the public receptions more than anything connected with the Presidency. After spending a full morning being importuned by self-seeking politicians and wrestling with weighty problems, Mr. Harding found himself mentally fatigued. But he said that he was happy when the doors were thrown open and the plain folks who sought nothing but to grip his hand began to file in. Invariably some pleasant incident bobbed up and Mr. Harding went over to luncheon feeling refreshed from the contact with the people.

A Cuban "Lord Carnaven" has come to Washington to interest the Smithsonian Institution in a discovery which may attract wide attention if things turn out as he expects. He is Dr. Fernando Ortiz of Havana, a member of the Cuban House of Representatives, who in spare moments devotes himself to archeological work.

On a pleasure trip in the Isle of Pines last year, Dr. Ortiz discovered a cave which he believes was inhabited by one of the early races of Indians many thousand years ago. On the walls and ceilings of the cavern he found paintings and inscriptions which he has not yet been able to decipher. So enthusiastic was the Cuban archeologist over his find that he has come to Washington to secure the co-operation of the Bureau of Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution. He is now arranging the details of an expedition in the event the American scientists believe the discovery warrants one.

If there is one place outside of mining regions where a holiday is strictly observed it is Washington. Government offices lock up at almost any pretext but on real holidays the government, except in the case of few high offices, ceases to function.

Secretary Mellon is one of the few high officials in Washington who has supreme contempt for holidays and while he adheres to tradition with regard to the employees of the Treasury Department, he rarely takes the day off himself. Mr. Mellon was an early caller at the White House on Labor Day and found President Coolidge also on the job. The Secretary of the Treasury spent more than an hour in conference with Mr. Coolidge "talking over many things," as he expressed it as he left the executive offices. Frankly, Mr. Mellon said, he chose Labor Day for a chat with the President, because he knew there would be little doing and he would have an opportunity for the long conversation he had desired since his return from Europe.

"I knew it would be a quiet day," said Secretary Mellon, "and I took advantage of it."

For the first time since mid-June, when President Harding left Washington for Alaska those rooms of the White House ordinarily open to the public are accessible to visitors. The official mourning period of thirty days, which marked the governmental tribute to President Harding is ended and the repairs going on at the White House have been virtually completed. Indication already has been given that President Coolidge will follow the practice of President Harding, which was to keep the east wing, the east corridors and the east room of the White House open to the public during certain hours of the day. C. Bascom Slemp, formerly Congressman from Virginia, named some time ago as the President's secretary, has taken over his official duties.

TWO HURT IN MINE BLAST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
BISBEE (Ariz.) Sept. 11.—C. W. Johnson and Hilmer Hansen were badly hurt in a premature blast on the 1800-foot level of the Junction shaft of the Calumet and Arizona workings. They had lighted the charge fuse and had noted that it was defective and was burning too fast. They made hasty retreat, but the blast exploded before they had passed beyond the danger zone. Both were peppered by flying fragments of rock.

Saying a thing that is hard to say

There is more than one way to convey an idea.

Pictures sometimes tell a story that pages of words can't explain.

Facts can be vividly expressed by graphs or charts where the plain figures would tire you out.

A diagram can describe an operation that photographs or paragraphs do not adequately describe.

Cartoons are often more expressive than columns of type.

Sometimes color does it.

Printing is a resourceful art. If there is something you want said, there are many ways that printing can say it for you.

To make it simpler to determine what kind of printing will say or do some definite thing, S. D. Warren Company has issued a number of books dealing with more effective printing.

better paper and better printing

EXAMPLES of how somebody else has met a difficulty analogous to your own are always helpful. One of these Warren books recently issued shows ways of making use of the Illustrated Letter. This book may be obtained free from distributers of Warren's Standard Printing Papers.

Individuo que Confiesa Haberse Casado Seis Veces

Ayer relató a las autoridades, Harry R. Roshon, alias A. E. Woods, A. E. Adams, y varios otros nombres, una curiosísima historia de matrimonios al vapor, precedidos de cortes de alta presión, y pronto seguidos de abandono. Seis veces en cuatro años repitió Roshon este procedimiento.

La aludida confesión fué obtenida por las autoridades en los momentos en que iban ya a dejar libre a Roshon por falta de pruebas. Calificado por la policía de "hombre milagroso" y de "pirata del amor" en sus relaciones con las mujeres, fué aprehendido Roshon en ésta el viernes último, por datos que proporcionaron las autoridades federales de Seattle. Dióse orden de arresto contra él, en la creencia de que estaba implicado en la muerte de Anna Danielson, heredera rica que fué asesinada en Seattle, en 1916. Después se procuró identificar a Roshon con el Dr. Percival Allen que había sido aprehendido y encarcelado como responsable del envenenamiento de la heredera, fugándose más tarde; pero no fué posible hacer tal identificación. Ni las impresiones digitales, ni las medidas Bertillon de Roshon, coincidían con las del fugitivo. Entretanto, un registro practicado en el cuarto de Roshon hizo descubrir un baúl lleno de cartas de mujeres de todas partes del país. Muchas de estas misivas son cariñosísimas, y dejan ver que las que las subscriben estaban convencidas de que el voluble y moderno Don Juan tenía la intención de casarse con ellas.

Allí se detuvo la averiguación, no sin que muchas de las mujeres hayan sido interrogadas oralmente o por telégrafo. Esto, sin embargo, no dió base para ninguna acusación, y ya Roshon iba a salir libre. Como último recurso, los detectives Reed y Shafer lo llevaron a la Fiscalía, y volvieron a interrogarle. Cuál no sería su sorpresa, cuando Roshon espontáneamente les contó una historia, que no tiene parangón en la costa del Pacífico, de muchos casamientos realizados por él.

DEPORTES

Baseball

Esta tarde comenzarán Los Angeles y Seattle una serie de siete juegos en el parque Washington. Se disputarán en esta lucha el cuarto lugar, que hoy detentan los Indios. Sacramento venció por 9 a 1 a Vernon, ayer, en el campo de los Solones. El home run de Archie Yelle, en el octavo turno, dió a las Focas una victoria sobre Portland, por 1 a 0. Pat Shea lanzaba por San Francisco, en tanto que Walter Leverens lo hizo por los contrarios.

Tennis

Harvey Snodgrass, estrella raquetera de Los Angeles, quedó eliminado ayer por Vincent Richards, de Yonkers, en el torneo nacional de lawn tennis. Todos los favoritos, incluyendo a Bill Tilden II, Bill Johnston, Manuel Alonso, R. Norris Williams, Howard Kinsey y Frank Hunter, pasaron la prueba con magnífico estilo, por más que el joven francés La Coste tuvo una lucha refidísima con Hunter. Sólo cuatro extranjeros quedan en el torneo.

Futbol

Las once de la Universidad de Sudcalifornia tuvieron ayer otra práctica corta en el campo Bovard. El instructor Elmer C. Henderson volverá de sus vacaciones el 15 del actual para hacerse cargo de la práctica oficial.

NUMERO 46

Pláticas Diarias en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

Tenía que salir a la escena una viajera gorda (fat, stout), sin lo cual no estaría completo el "cuadrito" del Tranvía. Esta señora, pachorruda como casi todas las de complexión (constitution) obesa, se detiene buen rato en el estribo, despidiéndose de su amiga Mariana y advirtiéndole (advirtiéndola) que recibe en su casa los lunes. Las señoras de buena sociedad acostumbran poner en sus tarjetas los días y horas que tienen destinados para recibir a sus visitas. La Sra. de Jiménez, por ejemplo, tendrá tarjetas que digan: "Josefina Pardo de Jiménez. Calle de Serrano, 69. En casa (at home) los martes, de 4 a 6 p.m."

Mariana responde a la señora gorda: "No lo olvidaré. Vaya usted descuidada." Aunque se usa mucho esta última expresión en España, no me parece correcta, pues "descuidado" significa "omiso", "negligente", "desprevenido", y también "desaliñado." Sería mejor decir "vaya usted sin cuidado", "pierda usted cuidado", o "descuide usted, que no lo olvidaré."

Todavía la del estribo, antes de bajar, encarga muchos recuerdos (regards) para el marido de Mariana, y prolonga de modo tal su estación sobre el consabido estribo, que el conductor da cuatro campanadas con su timbre de pie. La gorda se asusta; le grita al conductor que no vaya a arrancar (start); se despide (takes leave) una última vez de Mariana, y baja por fin, haciendo que el estribo cruja (creak), como aliviado del peso tremendo que lo oprimía.

El verbo "arrancar", usado intransitivamente, significa "partir", "entrar en movimiento." Para echar a andar (poner en marcha) el motor de un automóvil hay diversos sistemas de "arranque." El "self-starter" se llama "arranque automático" en español. Hay vehículos automóviles que no tienen arranque automático y hay que echarlos a andar dando vuelta a la "manivela de arranque" o "manivela de puesta en marcha" (crank).

El tranvía sigue andando y el cobrador anuncia las paradas (stops) en las esquinas de las calles de Goya, Hermosilla, Ayala, Don Ramón de la Cruz, Lista, etc. Estamos en pleno barrio de Salamanca, el más aristocrático de Madrid. Forma parte del ensanche que, por diversos rumbos, se ha ido agregando al casco antiguo de la población. Principia en la Puerta de Alcalá y se extiende al este de los Paseos de Recoletos y de la Castellana, siendo sus vías principales, las unas, paralelas a los citados paseos, y las otras, perpendiculares a los mismos. En todas ellas abundan las edificaciones modernas y lujosas, residencias de muchísimas familias acomodadas (well-to-do).

"El caballero del sentido común", que más bien debiera llamarse "sentido raro", quiere bajarse o apearse (alight) en la esquina de la calle de Lista; pero "un hombre que silba" (whistles) tapa u obstruye (stops, blocks up) la salida (exit) con su cuerpo. Cuando un viajero desea apearse o bajarse del tranvía en alguna parada, oprime uno de los botones eléctricos que se hallan en los marcos de las ventanillas, teniendo cuidado de hacerlo un poco antes de que el coche llegue a la parada donde quiera descender. El repique del timbre previene al cobrador, quien, a su vez, avisa al conductor, con otro campanillazo, que debe detener el tranvía en la siguiente parada. Si el viajero se encontrase cerca del cobrador, puede decir a éste: "Hágame el favor de parar en la esquina de tal (such) calle"; "Quiero bajarme en la esquina de Hermosilla."

A pesar de que "el caballero del sentido común" dice con todo comedimiento (moderation, courtesy) al hombre que silba, "¿Me permite usted pasar?, éste, imperturbable, continúa silbando, hasta que el coche inicia su arranque y el caballero se decide a asir o prender (seize) al silbador por un brazo y a apartarlo (push him aside), hecho lo cual, "se apercibe para el descenso." Es mejor y más natural decir, "se dispone a bajar." El silbador se enoja y exclama, "¡Hay qué ver!" Pudo haber dicho igualmente, "¡Sólo eso faltaba!". El caballero del sentido común le explica muy sensatamente por qué ha tenido que hacerle a un lado.

A petición de varios lectores dedicaré algunas de las pláticas siguientes a ejercicios sobre accidentes (género y número) de nombres, adjetivos, participios, etc., sobre tiempos de los verbos, y sobre expresiones viciosas (barbarismos, solecismos, etc.)

Spoonful for a Penny Brings Quick Relief

Proves splendid laxative properties of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin by test

A SCIENTIFIC test has now proven what Dr. Caldwell of Monticello asserted many years ago, that constipation will slow you up fully 25 per cent. The test was made by Dr. Donaldson of Loma Linda upon four men in the prime of life who deliberately went without a bowel movement for four days. Within 48 hours the men had coated tongue and foul breath, cankers in the mouth, no appetite, restless sleep, indigestion, headache, depression, nervousness, cramps. The blood pressure was up 28 per cent. It is just this that Dr. Caldwell has preached to his patients in private and to the public through the printed word ever since he began the practice of his specialty, diseases of the stomach and bowels, back in 1875.

After observing for years the satisfactory effect of his prescription for constipation, he placed it in drug stores in 1892, a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. That was 36 years ago, and today over 10 million bottles are bought annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world. You will find it in any drug store you enter, a generous-size bottle costing you less than a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Every member of the family from the infants to the grandparents can use it with safety. It is gentle and mild. The formula is on the package. Mrs. Roy Cook of Bellefontaine, O., has been giving it to her 5-months old baby, who now weighs 19 pounds; and Mr. J. B. Dawson of Brinson, Ga., declares it the best laxative his family has ever found. Try a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for constipation or any of its symptoms. The results will delight you. And the cost is only one cent a dose.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

Iris Deane, daughter of Sir Arthur Deane, millionaire ship owner, is en route from China to England on one of her father's vessels, the Sirdar. At the Captain's table one evening Lady Tozer asks Iris if the report of her engagement to Lord Ventnor is true. The question has a curious effect upon a passing steward who, at the sound of Lord Ventnor's name, stops short and turns to stare at Iris. The incident is forgotten shortly after when the passengers learn that the Sirdar is riding into a typhoon.

The Sirdar was just completing her turning movement, and she heeled over, yielding to the mighty power of the gale. For an appreciable instant her engines stopped. The mass of water that swayed the junk like a cork lifted the great ship high by the stern. The propeller began to revolve in air—for the third officer had corrected his signal to "full speed ahead" again—and the cumbrous Chinese vessel struck the Sirdar a terrible blow in the counter, smashing off the screw close to the thrust-block and wrenching the rudder from its bearings.

There was an awful race by the engines before the engineers could shut off steam. The junk vanished into the wilderness of noise and tumbling seas beyond, and the fine steamer of a few seconds ago, replete with magnificent energy, struggled like a wounded leviathan in the grasp of a vengeful foe.

She swung around, as if in wrath, to pursue the puny assailant which had dealt her this mortal stroke. No longer breasting the storm with stubborn persistency, she now drifted aimlessly before wind and wave. She was merely a larger plaything, tossed about by titantic gambols. The junk was burst asunder by the collision. Her planks and cargo littered the waves, were even tossed in derision on the decks of the Sirdar. Of what avail was strong timber or bolted iron against the spleen of the unchained and formless monster who loudly proclaimed his triumph? The great steamship drifted on through chaos. The typhoon had broken the lance.

But brave men, skillfully directed, wrought hard to avert further disaster. After the first moment of stupor, gallant British sailors risked life and limb to bring the vessel under control.

By their calm courage they shamed the paralyzed Lascars into activity. A sail was rigged on the foremast, and a sea anchor hastily constructed as soon as it was discovered that the helm was useless. Rockets flared up into the sky at regular intervals, in the faint hope that should they attract the attention of another vessel she would follow the disabled Sirdar and render help when the weather moderated.

When the captain ascertained that no water was being shipped, the damage being wholly external, the collision doors were opened and the passengers admitted to the saloon, a brilliant palace, superbly indifferent to the wreck and ruin without.

Capt. Ross himself came down and addressed a few comforting words to the quiet men and pallid women gathered there. He told them exactly what had happened.

Sir John Tozer, self-possessed and critical, asked a question.

"The junk is destroyed, I assume?" he said.

"It is."

"Would it not have been better to have struck her end on?"

"Much better, but that is not the view we should take if we encountered a vessel relatively as big as the Sirdar was to the unfortunate junk."

"But," persisted the lawyer, "what would have been the result?"

"You would never have known that the incident had happened, Sir John."

"In other words, the poor despairing Chinamen, clinging to their little craft with some chance of escape, would be quietly murdered to suit our convenience."

It was Iris's clear voice that rang out this downright exposition of facts. Sir John shook his head; he carried the discussion no further.

The hours passed in tedious misery after Capt. Ross's visit. Everyone was eager to get a glimpse of the unknown terrors without from the deck. This was out of the question, so people sat around the tables to listen eagerly to Experience and his wise saws on drifting ships and their prospects.

Some cautious persons visited their cabins to secure valuables in case of further disaster. A few hardy spirits returned to bed.

Meanwhile, in the charthouse the captain and chief officer were gravely pondering over an open chart and discussing a fresh risk that loomed ominously before them. The ship was a long way out of her usual course when the accident happened. She was drifting now, they estimated, eleven knots an hour, with wind, seas and current all forcing her in the same direction, drifting into one of the most dangerous places in the known world, the South China Sea, with its numberless reefs, shoals and isolated rocks, and the great island of Borneo stretching right across the path of the cyclone.

Still, there was nothing to be done save to make a few unobtrusive preparations and trust to idle chance. To attempt to anchor and ride out the gale in their present position was out of the question.

Two, three, four o'clock came and went. Another half-hour would witness the dawn and a further clearing of the weather. The barometer was rapidly rising. The center of the cyclone had swept far ahead. There was only left the aftermath of heavy seas and furious but steadier wind.

Capt. Ross entered the charthouse for the twentieth time.

He had aged many years in appearance. The smiling, confident, debonair officer was changed into a stricken, mournful man. He had altered with his ship. The Sirdar and her master could hardly be recognized, so cruel were the blows they had received.

"It is impossible to see a yard ahead," he confided to his second in command. "I have never been so anxious before in my life. Thank God, the night is drawing to a close! Perhaps, when day breaks——"

His last words contained a prayer and a hope. Even as he spoke the ship seemed to lift herself bodily with an unusual effort for a vessel moving before the wind.

The next instant there was a horrible grinding crash forward. Each person who did not chance to be holding fast to an upright was thrown violently down. The deck was tilted to a dangerous angle and remained there, while the heavy buffeting of the sea, now raging afresh at this unlooked-for resistance, drowned the despairing yells raised by the Lascars on duty.

The Sirdar had completed her last voyage. She was now a battered wreck on a barrier reef. She hung thus for one heart-breaking second. Then another wave, riding triumphantly through its fellows, caught the great steamer in its tremendous grasp, carried her onward for half her length and smashed her down on the rocks. Her back was broken. She parted in two halves. Both sections turned completely over in the utter wantonness of destruction, and everything—masts, funnels, boats, hull, with every living soul on board—was at once engulfed in a maelstrom of rushing water and far-flung spray.

Chapter II
THE SURVIVORS

When the Sirdar parted amidships the floor of the saloon heaved up in the center with a mighty crash of rending woodwork and iron. Men and women, too stupefied to sob out a prayer, were pitched headlong into chaos. Iris, torn from the terrified grasp of her maid, fell through a corridor and would have gone down with the ship had not a sailor, clinging to a companion ladder, caught her as she whirled along the steep slope of the deck.

He did not know what had happened. With the instinct of self-preservation he seized the nearest support when the vessel struck. It was the mere impulse of ready helpfulness that caused him to stretch out his left arm and clasp the girl's waist as she fluttered past. By idle chance they were on the port side, and the ship, after pausing for one awful second, fell over to starboard.

The man was not prepared for this second gyration. Even as the stairway canted he lost his balance; they were both thrown violently through the open hatchway and swept off into the boiling surf. Under such conditions thought itself was impossible. A series of impressions, a number of fantastic pictures, were received by the benumbed faculties, and afterward painfully sorted out by the memory. Fear, anguish, amazement—none of these could exist. All he knew was that the lifeless form of a woman—for Iris had happily fainted—must be held until death itself wrenched her from him. Then there came the headlong plunge into the swirling sea, followed by an indefinite—period of gasping oblivion. Something that felt like a moving rock rose up beneath his feet. He was driven clear out of the water and seemed to recognize a familiar object rising rigid and bright close at hand. It was the binnacle pillar, screwed to a portion of the deck which came away from the chart-house and was rent from the upper framework by contact with the reef.

He seized this unlooked-for support with his disengaged hand. For one fleet instant he had a confused vision of the destruction of the ship. Both the fore and aft portions were burst asunder by the force of compressed air. Wreckage and human forms were tossing about foolishly. The sea pounded upon the opposing rocks with the noise of 10,000 mighty steam hammers.

A uniformed figure—he thought it was the captain—stretched out an unavailing arm to clasp the queer craft which supported the sailor and the girl. But a jealous wave rose under the platform with devilish energy and turned to completely over, hurling the man with his inanimate burden into the depths. He rose, fighting madly for his life. Now surely he was doomed! But again, as if human existence depended on naught more serious than the spinning of a coin, his knees rested on the same few staunch timbers now the ceiling of the music room, and he was given a brief respite. His greatest difficulty was to get his breath, so dense was the spray through which he was driven. Even in that terrible moment he kept his senses. The girl, utterly unconscious, showed by the convulsive heaving of her breast that she was choking. With a wild effort he swung her head round to shield her from the flying scud with his own form.

The tiny air space thus provided gave her some relief, and in that instant the sailor seemed to recognize her. He was not remotely capable of a definite idea. Just as he vaguely realized the identity of the woman in his arms the unsteady support on which he rested toppled over. Again he renewed the unequal contest. A strong, resolute man and a typhoon sea wrestled for supremacy.

This time his feet plunged against something gratefully solid. He was dashed forward, still battling with the raging turmoil of water, and a second time he felt the same firm yet smooth surface. His dormant faculties awoke. It was sand. With frenzied desperation, buoyed now by the inspiring hope of safety, he fought his way onward like a maniac.

Often he fell, three times did the backwash try to drag him to the swirling death behind, but he staggered blindly on, on, until even the tearing gale ceased to be laden with the suffocating foam, and his faltering feet sank in deep, soft white sand.

Then he fell, not to rise again. With a last weak flicker of exhausted strength he drew the girl closely to him and the two lay, clasped tightly together, heedless now of all things.

How long the man remained prostrate he could only guess subsequently. The Sirdar struck soon after daybreak and the sailor awoke to a hazy consciousness of his surroundings to find a shaft of sunshine flickering through the clouds banked up in the east. The gale was already passing away. Although the wind still whistled with shrill violence it was more blustering than threatening. The sea, too, though running very high, had retreated many yards from the spot where he had finally dropped, and its surface was no longer scourged with venomous spray.

Slowly and painfully he raised himself to a sitting posture, for he was bruised and stiff. With his first movement he became violently ill. He had swallowed much salt water, and it was not until the spasm of sickness had passed that he thought of the girl.

She had slipped from his breast as he rose and was lying, face downward, in the sand. The memory of much that had happened surged into his brain with horrifying suddenness.

"She cannot be dead," he hoarsely murmured, feebly trying to lift her. "Surely providence would not desert her after such an escape. What a weak beggar I must be to given in at the last moment. I am sure she was living when we got ashore. What on earth can I do to revive her?"

Forgetful of his own aching limbs in the newborn anxiety, he sank on one knee and gently pillowed Iris's head and shoulders on the other. Her eyes were closed, her lips and teeth firmly set—a fact to which she undoubtedly owed her life, else she would have been suffocated—and the pallor of her skin seemed to be that terrible bloodless hue which indicates death. The stern lines in the man's face relaxed and something blurred his vision. He was weak from exhaustion and want of food. For the moment his emotions were easily aroused.

"Oh, it is pitiful," he almost whimpered. "It cannot be!"

With a gesture of despair he drew the sleeve of his thick jersey across his eyes to clear them from the gathering mist. Then he tremblingly endeavored to open the neck of her dress and unclasp her corsets. He had a vague notion that ladies in a fainting condition required such treatment, and he was desperately resolved to bring Iris Leane back to conscious existence if it were possible. His task was rendered difficult by the waistband of her dress. He slipped out a claspknife and opened the blade.

Not until then did he discover that the nail of the forefinger on his right hand had been torn out by the quick, probably during his endeavors to grasp the unsteady support which contributed so materially to his escape. It still hung by a shred and hindered the free use of his hand. Without any hesitation he seized the offending nail in his teeth and completed the surgical operation by a rapid jerk.

Bending to resume his task he was startled to find the girl's eyes wide open and surveying him with shadowy alarm. She was quite conscious, absurdly so in a sense, and had noticed his strange action.

"Thank God!" he cried hoarsely. "You are alive."

RICHARDS ELIMINATES SNODGRASS IN NATIONAL NET TOURNEY

OBSERVATIONS by the RECENT BYSTANDER W.M.P.I.

...ollege athletics on the Pa-
...ific Coast are going to get a
...ack in the eye one of these
...ays that may very easily kill
...t for all time many institutions.
...ere is competition among the ...arious colleges and universi-
...ties, both as to how that apparently
...ever-increasing host of institutions and their ...managers are snapping at nothing
...to secure the best high school
...material available. As far as ...the ultimate end of it is con...cerned there is practically
...no way to stop enthusiastic
...alumni and former students
...from scouring the countryside
...for athletes. The colleges
...themselves practically no
...longer even the alumni. And
...as a matter in most cases
...there is little reason for con-
...demning the alumni providing
...their selection is not lax in re...gard to scholarship. It makes
...little difference how a student
...comes to attend some school
...whether he has the required
...high school standing for en...trance and the school forces
...him to maintain a proper
...standing in his classes. Col-
...lege athletics will be comparа-
...tively safe if the schools will ...live rigidly to scholastic re...quirements. But when young-
...sters run right out and brag
...that they have only half the ...required number of entrance
...units but that they got in
...anyway and that they are get...ting a "scholarship" which
...pays their tuition and upward
...of $50 a month in addition,
...we are approaching the ...time when the only way an ...institution can maintain its
...athletic standing is to cut
...out athletics entirely. And
...the worst is going to happen
...some of the Pacific Coast
...colleges and universities don't
...call their "bidding" for ...football stars.

...Something must have hap...pened to inject new life into a ...number of Southern California's

...Sharman and Ralph Sindorf,

...football here years ago than ...ever before, and have been ...playing on and off ever since,
...have made creditable showings in

TROJANS AGAIN HOLD WORKOUT

Varsity and Frosh Players Frisk at Bovard

Good Material on Hand for This Fall's Team

Murdock of '21 Peagreeners Returns to School

Chet Dolley, captain of this year's University of Southern California eleven, once more trotted about twenty ambitious Trojans through a light workout yesterday afternoon on Bovard Field. The gathering on hand was composed of about half peagreeners and half varsity aspirants.

Hayden Phythian, Wallace Newman, Ralph Cummings, Fat Adams, Louie Gerphide, Henry Lefevre, Gene Dorsey and Scott were the varsity men to limber up under the guiding paws of Captain Dolley.

HANK HAS ON CHAINS

Yesterday's workout was devoid of excitement as Hank Lefevre had on his non-skid chains and refused to amuse the onlookers by sliding along on his ear in quest of wayward forward passes.

Dolley had those present passing the oval, punting, charging up and down the field and going through a lot of setting up exercises.

When Coach Henderson returns from his vacation Friday night and flivvers out to Bovard Field Saturday afternoon to start official grid practice at U. S. C. he will do so with more of an idea what he has on hand than he did last fall. This may sound funny when it is considered that ten men are lost from last year's brilliant eleven, but it goes just the same.

DEARTH OF REGULARS

At the start of last season there was a dearth of regulars as Milton, Boice and Phythian, regular ends; Norm Anderson and Wallace Newman, tackles; Hawkins, guard; Galloway, quarterback, and Baker, Otto Anderson and Riddle, backs, were all without varsity experience or had not played on a Trojan varsity before. This fall Henderson may not have better material than he had last, but he knows the ability of the material and is practically "all set" on the opening day of practice.

At the wing positions the Trojans appear to be well fixed, although Dan Cupid, and "Ol' Man Studies" took away a trio of expert flankmen. Milton and Boice, each with two more years to play, got married and Dick Emmons failed in his studies. Phythian is the only letterman back for an end berth, but Ben and Louie Gerphide, transfers, and Stark and Dorsey from last year's freshmen give U. S. C. five capable wingmen.

PLENTY OF TACKLES

At tackle Henderson has Norm Anderson, Ralph Cummings and "Chief" Newman back from last

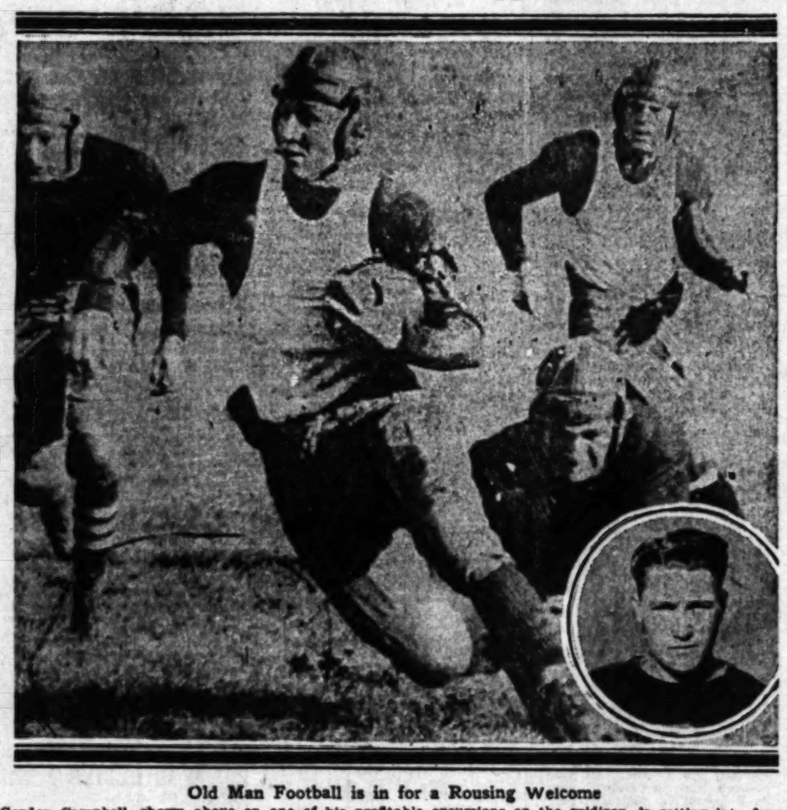
The Season of Seasons Approaches



Old Man Football is in for a Rousing Welcome

Gordon Campbell, shown above on one of his profitable excursions on the gridiron, is getting into form again at Bovard Field, where the Trojans are limbering up for the approaching season. Practice at present is being held under the supervision of Capt. Chet Dolley, who appears in the inset. The action picture is a year old, being an instant in the U.S.C.-Stanford game, but doesn't it give you a thrill?

Civilian Wins in Rapid Fire Championship

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CAMP PERRY (O.) Sept. 11.—Civilian John Grier of Rockland, Del., today was announced as the winner of the 300-yard rapid-fire National Rifle Association match in which seven competitors tied for first place, necessitating the firing of extra strings. Grier's score was 50 plus 48 scored in the shoot-off. Lieut. G. A. Rehm, Des Moines, and Private George D. White, of the United States marine corps at Quantico, Va., were tied with scores of 50 plus 47.

The finals of the 200-yard rapid-fire National Rifle Association match which opened yesterday will not be fired until Wednesday.

Zev Not at All Handicapped by Injury to Foot

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Zev, 3-year-old champion regarded as America's likely choice in the international race October 20, with the English derby winner Papyrus, will suffer no serious ill effects from the injury to a foot in the Lawrence Realization last Saturday, according to reliable reports today. The Rancocas stable's star, it was said, has shown no trace of lameness since "casting a frog" near the finish of that race.

HERCULES GAS SQUAD PLAYING GREAT BALL

One of the sensations of the Greater Southern California Baseball Association in recent weeks has been the long winning streak of the Hercules Gas Company squad, which has eleven straight victories to its credit to date. The Hercules nine recently signed Pitcher Reeves, who in his first start last Sunday against the Atlas Cubs, fanned eleven batters. Wiley, catcher for the Gas Company crew has been playing some great ball as have Shortstop Joe Dillo and First Baseman Lary. The hitting of the Epling brothers has also been in a large way responsible for the winning streak of the "gasolins with a kick" boys.

BAXTER DIGS DEEP FOR FAKE TICKETS

Warner Baxter is out to do murder. The popular motion-picture star is declared to be the first victim of Dempsey-Firpo ticket scalpers reported operating in Hollywood.

Baxter wired East several days ago for ringside seats for the Manassa Mauler-Dead Pan Louie tangle, but learned that there was nothing available closer than the last row.

Grumbling to himself for his luck, Baxter walked down Hollywood Boulevard and ran into Ernest Lubitsch, his director. While revealing his tale of woe a passerby heard the trend of the conversation and immediately offered to sell Baxter a "perfect" set of tickets. Warner dug into his pockets—and dug deep.

He learned through a second wire that the tickets were fake. Hence his murderous intentions. Now, Warner believes in being diplomatic.

PITCHER WATSON IS PARDONED BY McGRAW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—Manager McGraw of the New York Giants today lifted the suspensions on pitcher John Watson, whom he fired for the rest of the season Sunday when he found Watson intoxicated. Watson was reinstated at the request of his team mates, who asked McGraw to give the youth another chance.

SALVADORE WALLOPS MITCHELL

Has Milwaukee Boy Beaten From Start to Finish; Bout Pleases Bugs

BY KAY OWE

Phil Salvadore put up the fight of his life last night at Jack Doyle's Vernon Arena, and made Ritchie Mitchell look like he was 99 per cent back in Milwaukee and 1 per cent here. Salvadore only won four of the rounds, but he did plenty during that time. Right from the start he had Mitchell missing, and had things practically his own way all the way.

In the third round he hit Mitchell's eye badly and in the fourth knocked him to one knee twice. There was nothing to it from start to finish but Salvadore, and the fans almost tore the place down at the finish. In one or two spots Mitchell opened up and the bugs thought the fireworks had commenced, but the spurts were short and failed to lead to anything. It was a fast bout, however, and well received by the crowded house.

Johnny Reisler won from Frankie McCann, but it was only after tough sledding in the semiwind-up. Frankie McCann had him practically cold in the first round; he was practically cold himself in the second, and both were practically cold in the last two. Reisler's edge was slight, it being a question of who could stand up.

In the preliminaries, which were a mixture of awful good and very punk, Bud Soules defeated Billy Stern in four fast rounds, Freddy Ellis trimmed Joe Gomez in a great battle, after being groggy in the second; Bernie Owen defeated Racehorse Roberts; Dixie LaHood and Jack Barr fought a terrible draw, and Wes Chester beat Frankie Kress in the opener.

Anzac Heavy Here to Meet Best on Coast

"Rob Roy" Benton, the dean of American sporting writers, has under his protective wing Frank Hagney, champion heavyweight boxer of Australia. Benton regards Hagney as one of the best heavies he has seen in a long time and is doing everything he can toward getting Hagney on here with some opponent in the near future. The newcomer has been here about four weeks, during which time he has been corresponding with Floyd Johnson with the object in view of getting Floyd here for a match.

When Hagney was in Buenos Aires some time ago, Luis Firpo was his sparring partner. He declares that Firpo knows nothing about a drug store and couldn't tell epsom salts from soda water.

Rodriquez, the Argentine bearcat, who disposed of Firpo in ninety-eight seconds, was easy for Hagney, who knocked him out in a round and a half.

The Australian heavy is booked to meet Stragmalia at Fred Winsor's club next Wednesday night and here is where the hair should fly. Hagney is ready to meet any heavy in the world. According to Manager Benton, his man is in perfect condition at present and has been for some time.

POSTPONED FIGHT IS ON AGAIN

Leonard and Dundee Will Meet in Yankee Stadium September 28

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The battle of the two champions is on again. Benny Leonard, lightweight king of the world, and Johnny Dundee, wearer of the featherweight crown, will meet in the Yankee stadium September 28.

Dundee appeared before the New York Athletic Commission today and reversed his stand of a week ago when the bout was ordered postponed. The fight was to have taken place last Wednesday.

The postponement took place when Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston stated that Dundee was out of condition and that in justice to the public he should be given time to get in shape.

Dundee bitterly resented the statement that he was not in condition and stated he was ready to fight Leonard then and would not meet him on any future date.

Seal Southpaw Again Leading Coast Hurlers

Harry Courtney, lanky Seal southpaw, once more ascended to the leading position among the Coast League hurlers last week by winning two games from the Vernon Tigers, while Frank Jacobs, Seattle star, won one and lost one to Salt Lake. LOCAL SPORTSMEN ON DEER HUNTING TRIP

Dr. W. L. Cooper, his brother, W. E. Cooper, and Chris Marks have left for three weeks' deer hunting in the Mt. Whitney district, according to Pete Peterson, hunting expert at the B. H. Dyas Company.

The trio of local sportsmen are not only after deer, but anything in season. Lone Pine was as far as the hunters went by automobile. From there they will pack in, the celebrated forest ranger, Tom Adamson, doing the guiding.

YONKERS TENNIS STAR GETS SWEET REVENGE

Local Player Loses in Three Sets to Youthful Rival; Tilden and Johnston Both Survive

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GERMANTOWN (Pa.) Sept. 11.—Vincent Richards, youthful Yonkers wizard, grabbed sweet revenge over Harvey Snodgrass, the California crack, in their second-round match of the national tennis tourney at Manheim this afternoon. Richards won by a 6-1, 6-4, 6-3 count, turning the tables very neatly on his California rival for the trimming handed him by Snodgrass at Newport last month. It was obvious from the start that Richards was out to win and as quickly as possible.

Snodgrass adopted sound tactics and pounded Richards backhand all the way. But the Yonkers marvel nonchalantly volleyed everything sent at him, had uncanny control and in the end the Californian cracked, his own errors causing his downfall.

After a poor start Frank Hunter, former Cornell athlete and Wimbledon runner-up, struck his stride and took the last two of the first three sets from Jean Lacoste, the French school boy champion.

Hunter was wild in the opening frame, which he lost at 6-1. However, his speed and accuracy both came back to him in the second set. He swept through six games to a love victory and took the third frame at 6-2. The foreigner seemed unable to cope with the vicious kills and drives of the American.

The first five-set match to be competed in the second round was won by Leighton Crawford, the Englishman, from Walter Westbrook, Detroit southpaw, after a thrilling battle. The scores were 3-6, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1.

Manuel Alonso by an amazing burst of speed smothered Ian McLnnis, a reservist on the Australian Davis Cup team, and entered the third round of the tournament.

The youthful Anzac, rated by Brookes as the most promising of the Australian younger set, was completely outclassed by the popular Latin who won in straight sets with the loss of only two games. The score were 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Another foreigner to reach the third round was Brian I. C. Norton, the South Africa, who is joint holder of the national doubles title with Bill Tilden. He defeated Phil Neer of Leland Stanford, who was the intercollegiate champion in 1921. The young Californian was eliminated in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.

Carl Fischer, present collegiate dictator, reached the third round. He blotted out Elliott Binson of New York in sequence sets, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4. Carl had excellent control, something he will need tomorrow when he faces Tilden in the feature match.

Fred Mercur of New York gave Howard Kinsey quite a battle in the third set, although he lost in three frames. The scores were 6-2, 6-4, 9-7. Another New Yorker to pass out of the picture was Henry Bassford, who was trimmed by Frank T. Andersorf of Brooklyn, 6-0, 7-5, 6-2.

CHAMP SURVIVES

Bill Tilden, defending champion, survived the second set test today, as did Bill Johnston, the most dangerous contender for the title. Tilden crushed Cedric Major of New York in straight sets with the loss of only two games. The scores were 6-2, 6-0, 6-0.

Williams's workout was verbal only. He reported to the officials to learn that Clyde Butler, the Mexican champion who was listed as his opponent, had defaulted.

Johnson had some trouble with Jose Alonso, the Spaniard, in the first two sets of his match, but he ran away with the third. The scores were 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Jaques Brugnon was the first of the foreigners to reach the third round. The Frenchman caused a mild surprise when he eliminated Wray Brown, number twenty ranking United States player, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Robert Kinsey continued his march through the tourney. He snuffed out Pierre Hersch, reservist on the French Davis Cup team, in sequence frames, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

ALUMNI TO PLAY VARSITY

First Annual Game of the Southern Branch Set for September 29

The University of California, Southern Branch, has set Saturday, the 29th inst. as the date for the first annual Alumni vs. Varsity game. The fracas is to take place on Moore Field at 2:30 p.m.

All former gridiron players of the Southern Branch are requested to be out for practice beginning the 20th inst. Up to date several former stars have been lined up, including Mel Lippman, all-southern tackle, Olson and the famous Peak brothers.

A great deal of rivalry exists between the present team and the alumni and this event will undoubtedly draw a large crowd to see the fracas. The men will be coached by Head Mentor Cozens of the Cub institution, who will endeavor to spring some new plays as he is also an alumnus and is very desirous of showing his ability to beat the coming varsity.

Ben Einzig, '23, former boxing instructor, is arranging the details of the game and will also act as official trainer. Bob Berkey, end on last year's Bear wonder team, Jimmy Cline and Charlie Toney will coach the varsity.

It is expected that the whole student body will turn out for this first alumni-varsity game and it is almost certain that a large number of the alumni will be on hand to cheer their former classmates.

He now leads Babe Ruth by two home runs. Mitchell held the visitors safe until the ninth, when, with two on base, Neis hit a home run, saving his team from a shutout. HOMER DOES IT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Although outhit by by Portland, the Seals shut out the visitors and won the first game of the series today, 1 to 0. A lusty home-run wallop by Yelle on the first pitched ball in the San Francisco half of the eighth brought in the only tally. The Beavers got ten bingles to seven for the home club, but Shea was tight in the pinches and was saved by sparkling plays on the part of Rhyne and Mulligan.

When the Seals went to bat in the third inning players and spectators stood with bared heads and eyes downcast for one minute as a tribute to "Doff" Miller, late manager of the San Francisco club, who died last week at Saranac Lake. The score:

CINCY NOSED OUT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11.—Pittsburg strengthened its hold on second place by winning the final game of the series from Cincinnati today, 4 to 3. Benton pitched well but his support in the early innings was ragged, errors accounting for three of the Pirate runs. Morrison held the local team to five hits, two of which were triples by Duncan and Burns, which accounted for the three runs made off him. It was Morrison's twenty-second victory of the season. Had an inquiry recently regarding present whereabouts of Bud Anderson, former lightweight.

Fortunately, Hayden (Wad) Wadhams, matchmaker at Doyle's stadium de luxe, happened around soon after. Mr. Wadhams is said to have derived that nickname because he is such a wad of information appertaining to pugilists past and present.

Says the last he heard of Bud the latter was badly injured in a shipyard explosion, and perhaps maimed for life. He is said to be living somewhere in the Northwest.

Many will recall when Anderson and his manager, Dick Donald, blew in from Medford, O. They were both innocent young men at that time. Dick managed to get a number of matches at "Uncle Tom" McCarey's club. Anderson uncorked an amazing wallop with either hand, and he had two of the largest mitts ever hung on a young man of his poundage. But he just naturally was too slow for real fast company. I remember Bill Huddy tipping me off to Bud's wallop. He had seen him fight in Medford.

Bill opined Bud would knock almost any slow man for a row of painful dental parlors, but beyond that made no predictions. Bud and K. O. Brown put on a couple of battles for your whiskers. The first went to a whirlwind draw. Both were good, tough receivers.

It was in their second scrap that the crowd was treated to an unusual finish. In the fifteenth, Anderson knocked Brown out with a left upper cut to the chin. Get that, a left upper cut. And he was a right-handed fighter, too. Bet there are a lot of old-time boxing fans who have never seen a man knocked out with that blow, and particularly a tough hombre like Brown.

And regarding Donald. Well, the first day here when he walked up to the old Nadeau bar and ordered a sherry and egg, he thought he was introducing the drink to this town.

Anent "wild Australians" recently discussed in this column by the writer and Jack Munay, a native of that country, recalls having seen one of these great fighters tamed by nothing more aggressive than a placid porterhouse steak.

Sweet music unquestionably soothes the savage breast, but is no more efficacious than a porterhouse poultice applied in that vicinity.

Immediately after the armistice a western division of Americans found themselves bogged down in the Lys-Scheldt sector, touching a French division on their right and an Australian division on their left. There was no occasion to go forward, and the roads in the rear were mainly destroyed. Capt. George Caldwell of the quartermaster's department found himself in need of a locomotive and a few freight cars.

But these were almost impossible to obtain. The rolling stock was pretty well shot up and the average roadbed was an almost inextricable mass of twisted steel and mine craters. Furthermore what roads were opened and trains available were being used to repatriate prisoners of war who had been way from home several years.

Caldwell applied to an Australian officer who was in charge of transportation in that sector. The Anzac said it couldn't be done. Just then a vagrant breeze wafted the rich aroma of frying steaks from a near-by mess maintained for American officers. The Anzac sniffed the air, and a deep, longing crept into his eyes.

Capt. Caldwell noted the effect. Then he recalled that most of the British soldiers, including the Australians, hadn't tasted anything much except mutton and rabbit for the better part of four years. The Anzac was plainly intrigued by the odor of the succulent steaks. Choosing the psychological moment, Capt. Caldwell proposed trading a nice steak for a train of cars. The Australian, who had faced bursting shells and whining bullets, succumbed to the seductive offer. He capitulated. The engine and cars were forthcoming. Capt. Caldwell probably would have invited the Allied officers in for a feed on general principles. But he felt forced to use the situation to drive a bargain. He made it half a dozen juicy steaks for good measure, but the actual swap was one porterhouse for a train of cars.

Carleton Burke New President of Clubhouse

Carleton F. Burke, whose fame as a poloist is known wherever the game is played, will be president of the clubhouse of the new Southern California Jockey Club.

The anonuncement was made by Dick Ferris and was accompanied by information which forecasts that the clubhouse will be a rendezvous for the sporting elite of the Southwest. The track is to open December 1, for a season of 100 days.

The clubhouse, to be operated in conjunction with the track but not identical with it in management—Charles W. Clark is president of the Southern California Jockey Club which will operate the track—will be open the year round. In addition to providing all of the usual facilities of a race-track club, it will have a social flare with a sporting slant second to none. It will sponsor gentleman's races, sport dinners, polo tournaments and other events.

BENGALS BOW TO SENATORS

Yellowhorse Hangs Indian Sign on Vernon

Frank Shellenback Biffed Hard by Solons

Tigers Score Only Run in Ninth on Errors

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—Big Chief Moses Yellowhorse had the Indian sign on the Vernon Tigers in the series opener here today. No foolin'. The Senators' Pawnee pitcher allowed the Bengals but four hits and would have had a shutout had it not been for Merlin Kopp's two-base error in the ninth inning that let Shellenback score. Sacramento won in a walk, 9 to 1.

Frank Shellenback started and finished for the visitors, but was subjected to a continuous bombardment of Solon swats. The locals managed to secure at least one hit off Shelly in every inning, rolling up nineteen bingles in all. Hemingway and Cochran led the local attack with four blows apiece.

Sacramento won the game in the first inning when hits by Hemingway, Koehler and Cochran sent over a run. In the fourth frame the Sloans grabbed off another tally, but bunching a pair of bingles and came back with two more in the fifth. However, Col. Pick's hired help had their big blow-off in the sixth frame. In the sloppy sixth the locals pounded out six safeties, which with a pair of errors by Shellenback accounted for five more markers.

YELLOWHORSE IN FORM

Yellowhorse was in perfect form. Rader got a double off the Chief in the first, but expired on second while Yellowhorse mowed down Pete Schneider and Hugh High. Warner got a single in the third and Shellenback got to Moses for a bingle in the sixth, but the Tigers were powerless to do anything to the local flinger with men on base.

The Tigers finally counted in the ninth. Shellenback led off with his second hit of the game and, after Chadbourne went out, was advanced to second by Rader. Schneider then drove a fly to left field that Kopp dropped and kicked around besides. When he did get the ball he made a wild heave to third to head off Shellenback and Frank trotted home. TROJANS AGAIN HOLD WORKOUT year's varsity and Blair and Thomas, the latter from last year's peagreen eleven. However, it is a question whether Blair and Thomas will return at present. At present it is planned to shift Newman to the backfield to fill the gap left by Howard Kincaid's graduation.

Graduation hit hard at the middle of the Trojan line when it took Lowell Lindley and Leo Calland out of competition, but a host of last year's frosh, along with Hawkins, DePuy and Holly Adams of the 1922 varsity will just about make up for the loss of Lindley and Calland. "Honey" Earl, Harry Hicks, Ken Newerf and Red Thompson are the guards coming up from first-year ranks, while Cott Rice, Smuts and Smith, all former peagreeners, will battle for the center berth.

FIVE QUARTERS OUT.

Captain Chet Dolley will battle Johnny Loustalout. Ed Green, Clayton Pickup and Gordon Campbell for the signal calling job. Loustalout was first string quarter on last year's frosh, while Green, in the same class with Johnny, played fullback last year and is being converted into a number warbler. Pickup was a sub on last year's freshmen. Campbell played both quarter and fullback on the varsity last fall and will probably divide his time between the two places again this year. Harold Galloway is lost from the 1922 varsity.

Otto Anderson, Wallace Newman, Johnny Riddle, Tony Wayhan, Henry Lefevre, Hobbs Adams and Perry Murdock will attempt to fill the gaps left by Kincaid and Baker. Present dope has it that Anderson will be given first chance to take Baker's berth, while Newman is being groomed to fill Kincaid's half. Gordon Campbell, Nason and Scott, the latter pair freshmen last year, are the fullbacks.

With Otto Anderson, Dorsey and Murdock; the latter a member of the 1921 freshmen eleven, to do the kicking, the Trojans will be stronger than last year in this department of the game.

MIKE PAULSON AFTER LOCAL LIGHTWEIGHTS

Mike Paulson, 135-pounder from Minneapolis, arrived in Los Angeles from the Northwest recently and announces that he would like nothing better than a crack at either Richie Mitchell or Phil Salvadore after he works out for a couple of weeks to get in tip-top condition.

Paulson has met and held to draws such well-known fighters as Pinkey Mitchell, Charley White, K. O. George Chaney and Richie Mitchell. Paulson fought Travie Davis at Everett, Wash., just before coming to Los Angeles. He is now training at the Los Angeles Newsboys' Club. Paulson says he will be ready for a bout in two weeks.

Howard Ehmke Holds Yankees to One Bingle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Howard Ehmke, who pitched a no-hit game against Philadelphia on Sept. 7, held the American League champions to one scratch hit here today. Boston defeating the Yankees in the last game of the series, 2 to 0. Witt, the first player to face Ehmke, hit a grounder toward Shanks, which he cuffed with his glove and recovered it too late to retire the fast Witt. George Pipgrass, a young pitcher from the South Atlantic Association started his first game of the season for New York and made a good showing. Boston scored on him in only the seventh inning, bunching two singles with Picinich's homer for three runs. Three of the six hits off Pipgrass were made by Pitcher Ehmke. Score:

MITCHELL TO SPAR FOR RELIEF FUND

Ritchie Mitchell is scheduled to spar several rounds with Jack Sharkey Thursday night at Brandstatter's Montmartre Cafe in Hollywood.

Through the courtesy of Teddy Hayes the popular boxers will appear at the cafe in conjunction with Edna Wallace Hopper, Lionel Belmore and "The Spice of 1922" company, which is now at the Mason. The motive for putting on such an elaborate program is to swell the donation of 25 per cent of the gross receipts, which Brandstatter will turn over to the Japanese relief fund.

"For men who want to know why"

I KNOW I am safe in saying that most men who prefer a mild cigar, I would hold this opinion even if I were not a cigar manufacturer. And there could be no better proof of its correctness than the universal call for La Palinas from every town and city in this country.

There is no question about the milldness of La Palina, whether you buy it next week, next month or next year. Tobacco crop conditions never affect its flavor—for many years it has been the same—it always will be the same.

The mild, full-bodied flavor of La Palina is the result of an exclusive combination of fine imported tobacco. I keep on hand, in advance of manufacturing requirements more than three and one-half million dollars' worth of this tobacco. It is cured and tested and the proper combination made in advance. The varying strengths and flavors of crops of different years are blended in exactly the proportions that produce the one flavor you recognize as La Palina.

No matter where or when you buy it, La Palina is the same—a full-bodied, mellowing, mild cigar.

Fried & Co., Wall-street brokers, announced that the odds on Dempsey to win by a knockout were lengthening. The firm reported that it had placed a number of wagers at odds of 7 to 5 that Dempsey would win by a knockout. On Monday the betting on the same kind of proposition was even money.

The largest single bet on Dempsey to win by a knockout was $2800 against $2000.

Taurida Grabs Empire Stake at Syracuse

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 11.—Taurida, Alonzo McDonald's fleet little bay mare, won the 2:08 Empire State $10,000 trotting stake here this afternoon, the Grand Circuit feature from a speedy field of six trotters, beating out Clyde the Great and Gavonian, the favorites.

Taurida which was second to Tommy Murphy's Pearl Benboe at Hartford in the $10,000 Charter Oak Stake last week, showed a wonderful burst of speed on the stretch in both the second and third heats.

Favonian took the first heat after a brush with Tommy Murphy's Clyde the Great down on the inside of the field until her head was crowding Taurida for the wire.

Senator with Lon McDonald up, won the 3-year-old trot with ease. Anna Bradford's Girl, undefeated this season was the class of the 2-year-old pacing field.

Frisco June won the 2:04-pace in straight heats from Peter Etawah. Miss Eleanora Neil took the 2:18-pace, the final event on the day's program after coming in third in the first heat.

Just prior to the start of the Empire State trotting stake Fayette National ran away and crashed into the fence, upsetting McKay and smashing the sulky.

Entries for all events are being received with the American Legion national convention committee, Palace Hotel, San Francisco. All legionnaires are eligible to compete in the athletic program.

Fifty Report for Anaheim Grid Outfit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANAHEIM, Sept. 11.—C. L. Fitzmoris, who turned out five championship athletic teams while coach at Grossmont High School, San Diego, during the last two years, stepped into the harness here today as mentor of Anaheim High School athletics and started his task of building a football team around a nucleus of four letter men. Fifty huskies, browned and hardened by the summer vacation, reported in uniform at the first practice. Among these were Captain Al Hile, pivot man of last year's eleven; Victor Reese, end; Walter Gatausky, guard, and Howard Mulvey, end. Other likely candidates included four stars from last year's "skeeter" eleven —Monroe Glss, quarterback; Kenneth Clapp and "Pinky" Waters, tackles, and Nerlin Tobin, guard.

"The success of the Anaheim team this year depends entirely upon the ability of the green men to fill the places of the ten letter men who retired last season," says Coach Fitzmoris, "and I intend to start the training season with some stiff practice to determine the most likely first-string men as early as possible."

Despite the handicaps, Coach Fitzmoris is still quite optimistic, and while he refuses to put out any definite dope on Anaheim's chances, he believes that with the second-string men and the entire "skeeter" squad of last year to pick from he will be able to turn out a team which will surprise the side-line fans.

Fitzmoris is a graduate of the Colorado State Normal School at Greeley, where he was a star in football, baseball and track. Later he coached at Sterling, Colo., and Greeley High, and during the war he was in charge of physical education in the naval training station at Pelham, N. Y. As coach of athletics at the Anaheim High School, he succeeds Raymond Elliott.

International Polo Contest Carded Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WESTBURY (Ct.) Sept. 11.—American and British army polo teams will cross mallets tomorrow at Meadowbrook Club in the first match of an international championship series. The series is for the best two out of three matches, the second contest being scheduled for next Saturday and a third, if necessary, on Monday.

High American army officials, including Secretary of War Weeks, and members of the British embassy are expected to attend the game and participate in formal ceremonies inaugurating the series.

On paper the English players, who have a higher goal rating than the Americans, appear likely to win, but they will be handicapped in at least the first game by the absence of Maj. Vivian Lockett, veteran internationalist, who has played in this country several times previously. His recently injured ankle has not mended as quickly as was expected.

A steel railway bridge to be erected over the Mossoro River, Brazil, will cost about $1,000,000. of 97.

DEMPSEY ENDS HARDEST WORK

Sparring Partners Leave With Sighs of Relief

Champ Gives Each a Farewell Bit of Punishment

Finishes Tomorrow All Work for Firpo Bout

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SARATOGA SPRINGS (N. Y.) Sept. 11. — Trained to a state of physical perfection, Jack Dempsey today virtually reached the end of his five week's training grind for the defense of his title against Luis Angel Firpo at the Polo Grounds Friday night.

The champion will wind up his conditioning tomorrow, exercising just enough to loosen up his muscles, but will not do any boxing.

Dempsey finished his boxing program this afternoon with a four-round workout against a trio of sparring partners. He was lightning fast on his feet, tireless in his savage attack and his punches were timed perfectly. He cast aside all restraint while boxing two rounds with Jack Burke, the Pittsburg light-heavyweight, unleashing his punches with such fury that Burke bleeding and groggy, was on the verge of collapse.

George West, British middleweight and Alex Trambitis, middleweight of Portland, Or., were the other sparring partners.

NOT TIRED

Throughout the workout Dempsey breathed normally and perspired freely. His legs are lean and thin; his broad shoulders and trim upper body do not carry an ounce of superfluous flesh; his muscles are smooth and pliable.

Burke, beeding from cut lips, declared that Dempsey never had smashed him as hard through his two training campaigns with the champion.

Dempsey was in good humor after pulling off the gloves and "joshed" with the spectators who yelled their good wishes to him.

When Dempsey went to bed tonight, his only companions in the cottage at the edge of the lake were Mike Trant, the Chicago detective; Jerry Luvadis, the faithful little trainer, and Matty, the negro cook.

Manager Kearns will not return. He will remain in New York to arrange for Dempsey's Thursday evening and to attend to the necessary details.

The champion's sparring partners and other camp attendants packed their bags after today's workout. They were presented with ringside tickets by the champion.

George Godfrey, the 225-pound negro, was happy. Godfrey was humming a little tune.

"Boy I'se going away from heah," he spoke up. "The next time I see Mr. Dempsey he will be socking Mr. Firpo instead of me."

LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports

What type of man should play center?

Answered by BILL ROPER
Coach of football, Princeton University. In 1922 his undefeated team was victor over Yale, Harvard and Chicago.

There has been a traditional idea that a big, heavy man should play center rush. The forward pass and open play have negatived this idea. The present day center doesn't have to have beef alone, but he must have brains and speed. The ideal center must be quick on his feet with a nose for the ball.

The center has to vary his play more than any other man on the rush line. Sometimes he must be out of the line and sometimes he must be in, according to the down, the number of yards to be gained and the position of the teams on the field. When out of the line, the center takes the place of an additional defensive back and has all the responsibility of a back-field man, and yet he must be able to get into the line on a second's notice. I favor a man weighing about 175 pounds, and I have found from personal experience that back-field men often make ideal centers.

DEMPSEY ASKED TO BOX FOR JAP FUND

One of the largest charitable organizations on the Pacific Coast, the Assistance League of Southern California, yesterday wired to Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, asking him to box here for a worthy purpose.

The champion was asked to put up an exhibition bout for the relief of the victims of the Japanese earthquake. It is planned to stage a huge boxing show at the Los Angeles Coliseum with Dempsey as the main attraction. Dempsey will be asked to name his own opponent. The date of the exhibition will depend on Dempsey's return to Los Angeles.

FIRPO LESSENS TRAINING

Argentine Boxes Only Four Rounds; Will Arrive in New York Wednesday; Luis Promises a Fight

BY LUIS ANGED FIRPO
Challenger for World's Heavyweight Championship
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright United States and Canada by North American Newspaper Alliance. Copyright South America by La Nacion. All rights reserved.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 11.—Today I began to lessen my training. I boxed only four rounds with my sparring partners, one round with each. Tomorrow I will do even less. I am in condition for the fight. There is no doubt in my mind about that. I am physically fit to do my best and if my best is not good enough then I will not say that it is because I am not in shape.

Some have said that I do not work enough but that is not true. My problem was to avoid working too much. My physician and my trainers have been worried only for fear I would become stale. And so on tomorrow my training ends with a short workout, four rounds again. After the training is over I take a train to New York.

ARRIVES WEDNESDAY

I arrive there on Wednesday evening. There I will rest from that hour until time for the fight. I wish to say again that I am in good condition. What the issue of the battle will be all will know on the morning of the fifteenth. It would be futile for me to predict what the outcome may be. I say only that I am in condition and that I have confidence.

The end of the story I will tell in the ring with my fists. I think that it will be a fight of great interest. Many have wondered why there was so great interest in this fight. I think I can tell. It is like a fight between members of the same family. Dempsey is a North American and I am a South American. It is the first time in history that a North American has fought a South American for the championship of the world. That is to say, it is the first time that a member of the South American branch of the family has tried to win the title. Since this is so then all of the family, both North American and South American, who can afford the time and money will be at the fight to see which of the sons is best.

Perhaps some will think what I say is foolish. But after a racing strain, it is known that the son of two plow horses is a plow horse and not a racer. Also it is true that the son of parents who have not the fighting strain is a ditch digger, a banker or a railroad president perhaps, but not a fighter. So then it gives me confidence to know that I come of fighting people. My father was Italian and came from Genoa to the Argentine. I have had men who make the tracing of ancestry their business look up the people who were Firpos before me.

FIRPOS ALL FIGHTERS

These men have told me that the Firpos were famous fighters in Italy as far back as the twelfth century. So then perhaps it is not strange that I, Luis Angel Firpo of Argentina, should be fighting with my fists for the heavy-weight championship of the world. In the old days my ancestors were fighting with the sword for the rulership of the world and fighting well.

So you see that while I am of the American family I am completely Latin. I am Spanish and Italian. One cannot be more Latin than that. It is like being an Irishman whose mother was from Belfast and whose father came from Dublin. That man is Irish. So also am I Latin. Dempsey I understand, is Anglo-Saxon. So, after all, while it is a fight between men of the American family, it is also a battle between a Latin and an Anglo-Saxon. It will be a fight, that I promise. The outcome I do not predict but I promise that it will be a fight of which men will speak in years to come. It will be a fight.

Argentine May Duplicate Jim Jeffries's Feat

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—If Luis Angel Firpo succeeds in dethroning Jack Dempsey as heavyweight king Friday night his sensational rise to the top will eclipse the record of Jim Jeffries, to whom the Argentina mauler has been likened by many fistic experts.

Jeffries was just 23 years old when he set out to conquer the world with his fists in 1897. Two years later he knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons for the championship in a gruelling eleven-round encounter at Coney Island.

Firpo had achieved something of a reputation as a knocker-out in South America but it was not until early in 1922 that, raw and crude, he came to the United States in quest of laurels. Thus, from obscurity he has leaped in a year and a half to pugilistic fame and a chance to be crowned champion of them all.

BOWLING DOUBLES CARDED TONIGHT

The tenth round of play in the bowling doubles championship and for the B. H. Dyas Company gold medals will take place tonight at the Angelus Academy alleys. Tonight's schedule follows: Eight o'clock, McCubbin and Pollitier vs. Hershey and Gregg; Meador and Topping vs. McKinley and McKenzie.

Nine o'clock, Blume and Bennett vs. Mitchell and Phelps; Shay and Turner vs. Kruger and Renaund; Scott and Werner vs. J. Bowen and Taylor.

HOLLYWOOD GIRL IS DEADLY WITH RIFLE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HANFORD, Sept. 11.—Bagging the first deer of the season to be brought down by a woman both this year and last, appears to be the record of Miss Elizabeth Weber, surpassing that of any other woman hunter in California. The young lady is a resident of Hollywood, but formerly resided in the oil city of Coalinga, where there is good hunting in the coast range mountains. Miss Weber returned to Coalinga just before the deer season opened this year to visit friends and enjoy a vacation. The first day of the season she scoured unsuccessfully the mountains near the Frame stock farm, armed with a 30-30 rifle and riding a good saddle horse. The next morning about sunup, near the Wayland Ranch, in the Stone Canyon district, she ran onto a four-pronged buck, which she brought down at the first shot. The deer was brought to Coalinga and her friends were given a feast of venison. Miss Webber is engaged at Hollywood in costume designing and is taking a course in professional dancing.

HARLAN FENGLER BACK FROM EAST

Harlan Fengler, generally known as the "baby driver of the speedways" because of his youth, reached home yesterday from Altoona, Pa., where he drove in the postponed Labor Day motor classic there. A universal joint burned out on him when he had a lap on the field and he failed to finish the race although given credit for new world's records of 114 miles per hour for both twenty-five and fifty miles. Fengler is now driving a Wade special—the car which Tom Alley wrecked for Earl Cooper at Indianapolis but now completely rehabilitated. Fengler's car has been shipped to Fresno, where he will race on September 29. The other California drivers stayed East to race in a 100-mile dirt-track contest at Syracuse next Saturday, Fengler said.

CARLTON SIGNS UP THREE NEW PLAYERS

Floyd Carlton, manager of the Hollywood Merchants, announced yesterday that he had signed up three new players. The new men are Bill Donovan, Wally Knox and Jerry Downs. Donovan is a former Edison League, while Knox has picked up quite a reputation in local circles as a hitter and a pitcher. Knox will act as pitcher and outfielder for the Merchants. Downs is an infielder and recently arrived in Los Angeles from Arizona.

CHICAGOAN ASKS FOR TROUT ORDER

Word has been received from Leigh Garnsey, manager of the Rainbow Angling Club, saying that John B. Mallers, Jr., at Chicago, has ordered five more limits of trout to be shipped to Chicago.

Mallers is a member of the club, but is a long way off, but not too far that a limit of trout can't reach him in time. Every so often the Chicagoan wires Garnsey to mail him a mess of the speckled beauties.

NELSON'S PROTEGE JOINS SUDS TODAY

George Gottleiber, third baseman for Harry Nelson's San Gabriel Merchants, will join Red Killefer's Seattle Indians at Washington Park today and get a tryout in Coast League company. Gottleiber has been hitting the ball hard in the lead-off position for San Gabriel and grabbing everything that came down the hot corner. Killefer signed Gottleiber to an Indian contract early in the summer.

General Motors Trucks

GMC

Uninterrupted Service—
Low Operating Cost

"The wonderful performance of our fleet of GMC trucks—which consists of one two-ton truck, two three and a half-ton trucks and three five-ton trucks—urges me to express my pleasure in having them part of our equipment. I may state that the operating cost is amazingly low. The two-range transmission, removable cylinder walls and the accessibility for readjustment and replacement are features, to my mind, which go to make truck construction as near 100% as is possible."

CRANE ICE CREAM CO.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

GMC trucks are built oversize in every part to insure extra long wear and continuous service. In addition, every wearing part is easily accessible and quickly replaceable. When repairs are eventually necessary, they can be made in a fraction of the usual time and at proportionately small expense.

Combined with these savings and adding further to GMC economy is the remarkably low operating cost of GMC trucks—a constant source of gratification to GMC owners.

MORE SALES AT RISING PRICES

Survey of Country Reveals Encouraging Condition

Drugs, Shoes Looking Up; Lumber Not So Good

New Stock Issue Authorized; Vigorous Buying Power

Increasing sales and steady to rising prices are prophesied by the majority of the 500 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers to whom a questionnaire on the trend of business during the final six months of the year has been addressed by George H. Burr, Conrad & Broom, dealers in commercial paper throughout the country.

Questionnaires were sent to representative enterprises in the five principal sections into which the United States was arbitrarily divided, and of this group, 78 per cent predicted an expanding volume of sales during the last six months of 1923 compared with the corresponding period of 1922. Declining sales are feared by 22 per cent of the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers.

The majority, or 48 per cent, are confident that the period of inflation in prices has been halted, and that the remainder of the year will be characterized by steady price quotations. This view corroborates the action of the stock market, which, in its course of backing and filling, is generally considered to discount the peak of the rising price level.

The contention of a firm trend in prices is closely challenged by 42 per cent of the answers received. This group expresses the opinion that the level will be downward, while 10 per cent place their beliefs on record in favor of rising prices.

The questionnaires also asked for a report on the business of the past six months compared with the first six months' period of 1922. The replies merely substantiate the evidence already current, indicating a healthy increase in sales by 91 per cent of the business, and a decrease of 9 per cent. The Pacific Coast reports coincided with the average, while the Southeast indicates an increase in 100 per cent of the firms reporting.

Collections for the first six months of 1923 were classified as "good" by 78 per cent. The Pacific Coast ranked the highest in this respect with 81 per cent.

Classified into lines of business endeavor, the questionnaire reveals pertinent information relative to expectations and past business of the different kinds of enterprises represented in the compilation. The wholesale druggists, with 100 per cent agreement, are predicting increased sales for the latter half of the year, and 95 per cent of the shoe manufacturers and wholesalers entertain the same belief regarding their prospects. Pessimistic outlooks are visualized by 73 per cent of the lumber manufacturers and wholesalers which incidentally presages a decline in building operations of some magnitude. The same dark-hued future is portended by 65 per cent of the manufacturers of sundry lines.

As to past business performance, a 100 per cent unanimity on sales increase is reported by hardware jobbers and kindred lines, shoe manufacturers and wholesalers, and dry goods wholesalers. The poorest showings were evidently made by the underwear and hosiery manufacturers, and flour millers.

The questionnaires were sent to representative and responsible business firms in all sections of the United States with which George H. Burr, Conrad & Broom transact commercial paper business, and ought, in the opinion of the sponsors of the idea, to indicate with satisfactory accuracy the status of past business, and to present a valuable index of the price and sales situation for the six months' period ended December 31.

Among the Los Angeles business houses from which information was secured are J. W. Robinson & Co., Bishop & Co., Brownstein, Louis & Co., Brunswig Drug Company, California Hardware Company, Faris-Walker Company, Globe Grain & Milling Co., Peck & Hills Furniture Co., R. L. Craig Company, and Zellerbach Paper Company.

RAILWAY STOCK

The Los Angeles Junction Railway Company has been authorized by the Railroad Commission to issue $1,000,000 of stock and to sell immediately $639,800 of such stock for not less than par. The commission has dismissed the application for permission to issue $250,000 of notes, and specified that the company shall not pay more than $7500 per acre for land which it was proposed to acquire at $20,000 per acre.

PURCHASING POWER

The Credit Clearinghouse report for month of August shows vigorous purchasing throughout the country as a whole, with the Pacific Coast ranking first. The South agricultural section is second in purchasing percentage, having reached in August the highest point in a long series of months. The East section has also purchased actively, standing somewhat higher in percentage than the last high point, in March.

Collections were reported good throughout August, with the Pacific Coast first and the North agricultural district last.

REAL ESTATE BONDS.

A syndicate headed by Hunter, Dulin & Co., Citizens National Bank and Blyth-Witter & Co., and including Blair & Co., Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., Banks, Huntley & Co., Drake, Riley & Thomas, California Company, Brashears & Co. in Los Angeles and R. S. Higginbotham in Pasadena as participants, are offering $1,750,000 Central Manufacturing District, Inc., 6 per cent first mortgage Real Estate Improvement Bonds, Series "A," on a basis to yield 6.50 per cent. The bonds are due serially July 1, 1926 to 1938 inclusive.

The Central Manufacturing District of Los Angeles is a large industrial organization patterned after the $50,000,000 Central Manufacturing District of Chicago, which is the largest privately operated industrial community in the world. Among the nationally known industries located in the Chicago District are the Wm. Wrigley, Jr., Co., Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. and Montgomery, Ward & Co. The same men who have successfully developed and operated the Central Manufacturing District of Chicago, the Union Stock Yards and Chicago Junction Railway are in charge of all operations of the Central Manufacturing District of Los Angeles, together with the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards and Los Angeles Junction Railway.

The bonds will be secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust on all real properties of the company now owned or hereafter acquired from the proceeds of sales of bonds or mortgaged property. The properties comprise 200 acres located in what is known as the East Los Angeles Industrial Section, and they are appraised upon completion of this financing at $5,234,402.65. As additional security the bonds will be unconditionally guaranteed, principal and interest, by The Los Angeles Corporation, which upon completion of this financing will have a net worth of $6,284,961.41. The Los Angeles Corporation is a holding company owning all of the issued stock of the Central Manufacturing District, Inc., Los Angeles Union Stock Yards and Los Angeles Junction Railway. It also possesses substantial stock holdings in the Southwest State Bank, Central Manufacturing District Terminal Company and other concerns.

For the 12 months ending July 1, 1924, it is estimated that consolidated net earnings before bond interest of the Central Manufacturing District and of The Los Angeles Corporation will exceed $290,000, or over two and three-quarters times maximum interest charges on the bond issue.

CREAMERY BONDS.

The First Securities Company is offering today $700,000 Mutual Creamery Company 7 per cent first mortgage gold bonds maturing serially from 1924-1938, at 100 and interest to yield 7 per cent.

The Mutual Creamery Company manufactures and markets butter, cheese, eggs and ice cream in nine of the western States. Its properties total 269 locations, which include fourteen creameries, fourteen cheese factories, 238 cream gathering stations, as well as numerous distributing stations, of which the Los Angeles office is the most important.

The first mortgage 7 per cent bonds will be secured in the opinion of counsel by a first mortgage on all the properties now owned or hereafter acquired by the company. The properties were recently appraised at $1,400,000.

BUILDING BONDS.

Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., Banks, Huntley & Co. and Hunter, Dulin & Co. are offering $500,000 Taft Building, Inc., 6½ per cent first mortgage serial gold bonds at 100 and accrued interest to yield 6½ per cent.

The bonds are secured by three separate parcels of business property, owned in fee, with an appraised value on the ground alone in excess of total issue of bonds. The properties have an aggregate frontage of 660 feet on Hollywood Boulevard. The bonds are further secured by a twelve-story fireproof class "A" office building to be erected on Hollywood Boulevard at Vine street at a cost which also exceeds the total issue of bonds.

The net earning capacity of the building from rentals, principally long-term leases, has been appraised at nearly four times the maximum interest requirements.

DAILY TRADE TALK

New Trade Laws Now in Effect; Sourless Milk; Texas Cotton to Russia; the Market

Many new laws affecting business have recently gone into effect in California. Among the more important queries relative to which frequently reach this department are:

Law expanding co-operative marketing act to make distribution of agricultural products to consumer as direct as possible, also designed to eliminate waste and speculation.

Regarding standardization of apples changed to protect both grower and consumer.

Exempting farmers' trucks used in transportation of agricultural products from provision of so-called jitney act.

Validating appointment of county horticultural commissioners by boards of supervisors.

Strengthening antialien land law by prohibiting Japanese, Chinese and Hindus from entering into cropping contracts to work agricultural lands.

State deposit law grants to State Treasurer added powers in lending State moneys to banks.

Regulating national banking associations.

Governing branch banks.

New laws fixing gasoline tax, limiting weights of trucks, prohibiting use of speed traps by traffic officers. Gas tax to be 2 cents per gallon, with exemption for farm machinery, motorboats and any other vehicles not driven on highways. Law changing registration fee from horsepower tax to flat rate.

Law taxing motor stages on a basis of 4 per cent of gross receipts.

Law requiring timber owners to maintain fire patrols.

Law creating State fire marshal, to guard against fires outside incorporated cities.

New general law providing for organization and government of drainage districts; also laws giving irrigation districts right to develop and distribute hydroelectric power.

Bill releasing non-interest bearing funds in State Treasury for completion of levees.

Bill passed at demand of land owners in Sacramento-San Joaquin drainage district will curb starting of new reclamation projects.

Law regulating fees of private employment agencies to 10 per cent of the first month's wages in some cases and 7 per cent in others. Requires agencies to advise applicants whether strike conditions prevail at jobs recommended.

Law making unlawful misrepresentation of housing conditions in lumber camps.

Law making State Labor Commissioner exempt from court costs in filing claims for wages.

SOURLESS MILK

Southern California dairymen are much interested in a report which comes out of the East to the effect that the milk industry is about to be revolutionized by an invention which will reduce the bacteria count and at the same time make it possible to keep raw milk in open jars in warm rooms for several days without souring. The inventor is Dr. S. E. Weber, of Lancaster, Pa., and his county farm bureau is now investigating the remarkable results claimed.

COTTON TO RUSSIA?

Texas is said to be looking to Russia as a possible outlet for its cotton crop and officials of the farmer's organization, having 125,000 members, have gone to that country for the purpose of laying the proposition before the Russian government. Production by members of the association will be about 500,000 bales. Arrangements are also being completed for the erection of a plant in Dallas for the assembling of butter, eggs and vegetables produced by members in that section and marketing them direct to the consumer, thus lowering the price of the commodities and at the same time eliminating the middleman's profits, which will be divided between the farmer and the consumer.

THE MARKET

According to A. A. Housman & Company's Los Angeles office the most impressive thing about yesterday's market was its strong undertone. The volume was a little disappointing in view of the foreign news, but leading stocks were able to make some gains and to hold them. It seems as if traders who are still bearish are quite willing to give stocks a chance to advance under the theory that they may prove to be more worth while targets at levels somewhat higher than the present. "We do not believe," says this authority, "that bearish professional sentiment is diminishing particularly."

Around the 28-cents level cotton offerings seem to increase for profit-taking purposes and many ringside observers claim that the edge is off the market for the time being. There are many who have missed this advance in cotton and are waiting to cure their omissions by getting in on any reaction. Eleventh-hour buying by those who are just beginning to be impressed with the crop news is a sustaining feature, and is, at least for the time being, preventing the normal reaction which professionals invariably expect after such an upward rush.

NO SHOE CUT

The hopeful expectation held out earlier in the season that shoes would be considerably lower in price with the opening of the fall season and the bringing out of the new styles seems doomed to disappointment for a check of dealers yesterday leaves the impression that no cut of material proportions is likely. One big dealer said that the trend for the remainder of the year was now easily discernible and that prices would remain steady with some unloading of carry-over stock. Pretty, neat effects, rather than freakish styles, will be in demand for the women, he said, with a soft pedal on loud color effects. Men's styles will be conservative.

INVESTMENT FEATURES
Exempt from Personal Property Taxes in California
(As Summarized from President's Letter.)

Business: The Central Manufacturing District of Los Angeles is an industrial organization closely modeled after the Central Manufacturing District of Chicago. The Chicago District was started about 15 years ago with less than 200 acres of land and no industries. Today it occupies over 500 acres with 300 different industries, representing a total investment of more than fifty million dollars. Among nationally known industries located in the Chicago District are the Wm. Wrigley, Jr., Company, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, Montgomery, Ward & Co., Fairbanks, Morse Company, etc.

The same men who have successfully developed and operated the Central Manufacturing District of Chicago, the Chicago Union Stock Yards and the Chicago Junction Railway, are in charge of all operations of the Central Manufacturing District of Los Angeles, together with the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards and Los Angeles Junction Railway. Duplication of the Chicago plan here, with allowance for local conditions and such changes as 15 years' experience has suggested, was decided upon only after a searching examination and analysis of industrial conditions in Los Angeles and the Southwest.

Property: The property of the Central Manufacturing District of Los Angeles comprises 200 acres located in what is known as the East Los Angeles Industrial Section. It is bounded, roughly, by the Union Pacific, "San Pedro Line" and Downey Boulevard on the West, by the Union Stock Yards on the North, the Los Angeles River on the East and Fruitland Avenue on the South. The property as a whole is located approximately four miles directly southeast from Seventh and Broadway and can be reached in about thirty minutes from the downtown section. The District is directly in line with the industrial expansion towards Los Angeles Harbor.

Security: These Bonds will be secured by a first mortgage or Deed of Trust on all real properties of the company now owned or hereafter acquired from the proceeds of sales of bonds or mortgaged property. The properties of the Central Manufacturing District, Inc., upon completion of the financing, have been appraised at $5,234,402.65. The $1,750,000 of these Series "A" Bonds represent approximately 33% of the total security covered by the mortgage. Additional series of Bonds may be issued in the future, but under the Trust Deed the total amount of Bonds outstanding must never exceed 50% of the total property value securing same.

Estimated Earnings: For the 12 months ending July 1, 1924, it is estimated that the consolidated net earnings before bond interest of the Central Manufacturing District, Inc., and of the Los Angeles Corporation (the guarantor company) will exceed $290,000 or over 2 3-4 times the maximum interest charges on this issue of bonds.

Guarantee: These Bonds will be unconditionally guaranteed principal and interest by the Los Angeles Corporation, which, upon completion of this financing, will have a net worth of $6,284,961.41. The Los Angeles Corporation is a holding company owning all the issued stock of the Central Manufacturing District, Inc., the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards and the Los Angeles Junction Railway. It also possesses substantial stock holdings in the Southwest State Bank, the Central Manufacturing District Terminal Company and other concerns.

Improvements: The Los Angeles property is now being improved with the following modern fireproof structures: an eight-story tower and office building, six-story terminal building with 1,000,000 square feet of floor space; plants now being erected by the District for the Southwest Lumber & Supply Company, the Globe Soap Company and Cement Products Company, besides various buildings of the Federal Refrigerating Company, representing an investment of over $2,000,000. The latter, although not under the mortgage securing these Bonds, adds greatly to the value of the entire District.

Management: The management of the Los Angeles District and its allied industries, as stated, will be in the hands of the same men who were responsible for the success of the Chicago District. The Executives in charge of Los Angeles operations include Mr. J. A. Spoor, Chairman of the Board of the Union Stock Yards & Transit Co. of Chicago; A. G. Leonard, President, Union Stock Yards Transit Co., Chicago; H. E. Poronto, Manager of the Central Manufacturing District of Chicago, and Richard Fitzgerald, for many years President of the Chicago Junction Railway, and one of the ablest terminal railway men in the country.

Interest Deposit Guarantee: Although the company has demonstrated its earning power during 1923, in order to further safeguard this issue of bonds, pending the full functioning of the various organizations controlled by the Los Angeles Corporation, a deposit of the entire amount of interest for the first year has been made with the Trustee.

Insurance: The Trust Deed provides all District buildings covered by the mortgage be fully insured at all times for the full protection of the bondholders.

Purpose: The proceeds of these Bonds will be used to complete improvements now under construction and contemplated on the property and to refund present indebtedness.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS REVIEWED

Foreign Situation Still Lamentable; Miners Ride in Costly Cars

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"Foreign news, although lamentable, may prove to be more helpful than depressing to American business. Should the suggested compromise between France and Germany be consummated through the negotiations between the German industrialists and the French Premier this would be more than an offset in a financial sense to the Greco-Italian trouble and the Japanese disaster.

"We have but little trade with Italy, and almost none with Greece, so that we are not much concerned in the questions involved. In 1913 the Balkan wars were serious to us because of the danger that the great powers might participate; but now there is no such danger.

"Yet the position of our stock market is not every encouraging. With public buying so small, these shocks may prove disturbing. Commodity prices are improving somewhat, but trade returns are not quite as good as they were two weeks ago. Meanwhile one of the most favorable seasons of the year for the stock market is slipping away without any aggressive advance.

"In the coal field the real conflict of interests is between the miners and the public; for the former are already receiving exceptionally high pay for the type of work, while the public is paying the bill. Labor in the coal-mining regions rides not in Fords and Chevrolets, but in Buicks, Studebakers and even Cadillacs.

"Of the $13.90 which anthracite is worth in New York, mining labor gets about $4.45 per short ton, railroad labor $1.16, lighterage wages represent about 22 cents, and labor employed by retail dealers gets about $1.10, making $6.96 in all. As compared with this, the aggregate profit of mining companies, railroads and retail dealers is about $1.47."

Possibilities Lie in Mine Development

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Charles S. Knight, director, Industrial Department, California Development Association, upon his return today from a meeting in Sacramento with the mining leaders of the State, called for the co-operation of every community for the development of this industry; the first and most picturesque of this State's activities.

"The mining committee of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. Knight, "following its custom of leadership in this activity since the gold strike of '49, is rendering a valuable service to the State. It is continuously keeping alive the vision of what this industry might be if developed to its full.

"It is high time that the rest of the State join in the work of bringing California minerals into their own. There is mining in commercal quantities in over fifty of the counties of California. This lays bare the fact that it is of universal interest within the borders of this commonwealth.

"The development of this industry must be done systematically. It is in this connection that the California Development Association is desirous of lending its assistance.

The development must be based on facts. The association with the co-operation of the State Mining Bureau has already initiated a survey to this end.

"Following the scientific plan laid out the information gathered will be analyzed particularly in reference to available markets at home and abroad. This done, there will be revealed the need of manufacturing development for the utilization of the products and by-products, and these industries, then, can be intelligently placed."

The Trust Officer of a Bank, in making provisions for the continuation of your estate, for the benefit of your heirs, must take into consideration the Federal and State Inheritance Taxes.

Discuss your problems with him. It is his duty to obtain for your beneficiaries the maximum return from your estate.

Life Insurance is the most liquid asset the Trust Department can depend upon for reinvestment. It permits the Trust Company with sufficient cash to meet the obligations of your estate.

Our Legal Department can accurately determine the probable amount of the inheritance taxes. Its services are yours to command, without obligation.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Foreign Bonds Rise

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The bond market displayed a firm tone in today's dealings, with moderate advances in practically all classes of securities.

Chief interest again centered in the foreign group. Hopeful news from abroad, both as to the Italian-Greek situation and the Ruhr problem, brought considerable buying into the market, advances of a point or more being recorded by Bordeaux 6s, Lyons 6s, Paris Lyons Mediterranean 6s and Belgian 7½s. United States government bonds held steady. Reports to New York banks indicated the new offering of treasury certificates would be oversubscribed.

Railroad mortgages were irregular.

A better tone was noted in industrial lines. Advances of a point or more were registered by North American Edison 6s, Humble Oil 6½s, Colorado Industrial 5s and American Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4s.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Following are the closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, 624 South Spring street.

Letter No. 12—YOUR RESPONSIBILITY.

To the Taxpayers of Los Angeles City

Please imagine, for the moment, that your pay check came to you once a year; that when you presented it, it was not worth the paper it was written on, because someone had recklessly played the races and lost. Your feelings would very closely resemble the feelings today of the San Fernando Valley farmers. The San Fernando Valley farmer believes in law and order. When his agent, the water tender, told him to shut off his faucet that was irrigating his crop, with his water, in order that you might have domestic water he did so at once, because that was his agreement with you; that is, the domestic use of the waters of the aqueduct was a prior use to the use of the waters for irrigating.

The farmer knows that the reason that there is not enough water for both domestic and irrigating use is that the Board of Public Service recklessly wasted the water to manufacture "cheap power." He knows that it is unfair for him to pay all the losses, especially as you, in consequence of your superior voting strength, hire and fire; and that you have carelessly and heedlessly allowed these agents, the Board of Public Service Commissioners, for years to pin tin medals and decorations on themselves, until they imagine that they own the aqueduct and the waters thereof, and can do therewith as they please.

Let me read you something from the record of these San Fernando Valley farmers. When the Board of Public Service conceived and brought forth the Water and Power Act, and tried to foist it upon the State of California, to the ruination of its credit and the woe and misery of its people, these farmers turned it down by a vote of 5 to 1, whereas the State as a whole registered only 2½ to 1. When the Board of Public Service tried last fall to amend the City Charter by Proposition No. 9A, so that said Board might borrow 75% of the gross income of water and power for the year preceding on the note of the Board without going to the taxpayers for a bond issue, the farmers of the San Fernando Valley, by their own votes and the votes of a few people whom they could influence, defeated it, in spite of you. If this measure had carried the Board could have borrowed this year $7,500,000 and much more in later years as the City grows. You would have given away at one election that right for which your forefathers had been struggling since 1000 A.D.—the control of the purse strings. When YOUR Board of Public Service tried this spring to put over a bond issue of $35,000,000 to be spent anywhere, for anything, these farmers cast more than a majority of their votes against the bonds, and you, only half awake, cast less than a majority against them.

Are you, through indifference, going to let these farmers be beaten to their knees by this bureaucracy—YOUR Board of Public Service? Is it fair political warfare to allow the San Fernando Valley "to be so cleared of a means of subsistence that, if a crow should fly over it, he would have to take his provender with him?" I speak advisedly—it would not take many repetitions of what has occurred this summer to absolutely ruin every farmer in the Valley; and it was entirely preventable with present facilities, even in this dry year.

Will you not take heed, from what has just happened to you in the Owens Valley? YOUR Board of Public Service after recklessly gambling with our water reserves, like many gamblers, tried to cover their tracks, and grabbed the only money that they could lay hands on—$2,000,000 of the $5,000,000 water bond issue voted last fall on an itemized budget for reservoirs and mains in the City, and spent it in the Owens Valley, in an attempt to buy more water to fill the reservoirs they had robbed to make "cheap power" at any cost. They gambled again, and lost again, because the farmers of the Owens Valley think that the acts of your agents, the Board of Public Service, are your orders and that you do not care whether you ruin them or not.

I know that you do care; that it is only preoccupation, heedlessness and carelessness that have allowed these things to occur. I have been trying to arouse you; I have written you eleven letters in which I have told you nothing but the truth; remember that not one statement that I have made has been denied. Your Board of Public Service has just slung mud at me and rested.

I have asked you for financial assistance and although the farmers have contributed over $2000 I have received only $100 from the City, and that from three personal friends. As mules and men at work cannot live on promises, I have had to go to the bank and borrow on my personal note. I know that you will aid in this fight, but my great anxiety now is, will help come in time? These farmers need your sympathy and they need it now; you cannot bring back to them the wasted water, but you can come to them with the assurance that you intend to see to it that this thing shall never occur again. With the existing facilities and a much larger population its occurrence was absolutely preventable; the statement of the Board of Public Service to the contrary notwithstanding.

(Signed) VOLNEY H. CRAIG.

Heavy Tone in Wheat; Better Prices in Oats

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The wheat market showed a heavy undertone a good part of the day and while there were hedges given up here on around 800,000 bushels Manitobas sold for export, the close was ½@⅝c lower, with September 1.03¾, December 1.05⅝ to 1.05¾, and May at 1.10⅝ to 1.10⅞. Corn was ⅝c lower on September and unchanged to ⅛c higher on deferred deliveries, with oats ⅛c higher to ¼c lower and rye off ⅝@⅞c.

Commission houses were fairly persistent buyers of December wheat on the way down, especially under 1.05, which finally absorbed the surplus in the pit and wlth short covering was largely responsible for the rally of around 1c from the inside figures. Houses with Northwestern connections were good sellers at times and outside markets showed more weakness than Chicago at the last, with Kansas City off ⅝@1⅛c, Minneapolis ⅝@1c and Winnipeg ½@1¼c. Country elevator interests were sellers in the latter market.

Strength in the stock and cotton markets in New York and the advance in foreign exchange had but little influence on the market. Foreign demand, however, was much better than of late, with sales of around 1,000,000 bushels in all positions, including some hard winter at Montreal. A majority of local traders are bearish, but the market became oversold on the break and the closing rally was easily stitched. Winnipeg receipts are increasing rapidly, arrivals there being 961 cars against 89 cars a week ago and 1151 cars last year.

Traders paid little attention early to freezing temperatures in the Canadian Northwest, and the forecast for frost in parts of the American Northwest, but after a decline of around 1c the market became oversold, and frost talk was a factor in causing a strong rally. Longs sold September on a fair scale and it finished at 85¼ to 85¾, while December was 08¼, and May 08⅞. Cash demand was only fair, with receipts 182 cars.

Oats showed relatively more strength than other grains, opening higher only to ease off with corn and then rally toward the last. There was no material pressure on the market. Farm consumption is liberal and country offerings to arrive small. Receipts 169 cars, with premiums firmer. Local longs were free sellers of rye and found support less aggressive than of late, but the late strength in oats led to a rally at the last. Export demand at the seaboard was light. The seaboard took 56,000 bushels from Chicago handlers. No. 2 on track sold at 2@2¼c over September.

ANOTHER SPURT IN COTTON QUOTATIONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Cotton futures closed 32 to 41 points net higher. After having advanced more than 4 cents per pound since the publication of the government's report of late last month, the market showed signs of hesitation today and traders evidently could not decide whether prices could be maintained above the 28-cent level in the face of increasing new crop receipts. Hence there was a disposition to take profits on recent purchases or to sell for a reaction.

The list opened barely steadily at a decline of 11 to 18 points, the market rallied sharply, but the bulges met increased offerings and fresh buying met the increased supply situation. Thus sellers found contracts readily absorbed and a buying spurt in the afternoon sent prices well above the day's low, but the close was some 20 points under the day's best.

Spot cotton was steady, 35 points advance, 2945 for middling upland.

Southern markets: Galveston, 2735, 35 points advance; New Orleans, 2750, unchanged; Savannah, 2795, 13 points advance; Augusta, 2818, 38 points advance; Memphis, 2750, 25 points advance; Houston, 2795, 35 points advance; Little Rock, 2775, 62 points advance.

PLANS BEING FORMED FOR HAWAIIAN JAUNT

THREE HUNDRED CAN OBTAIN CABINS FOR COMMERCE CHAMBER TRIP

Preliminary plans for the second Chamber of Commerce excursion to the Hawaiian Islands have been made, according to an announcement yesterday by Frank Wiggins, secretary of the local organization.

This year it will be possible for 300 persons to make the trip. Last year the excursion was made on the maiden voyage of the S. S. City of Los Angeles and because a part of the cabins were not completely furnished only 278 persons were permitted to go.

Immediately following the announcement of the trip a number of reservations were made in the chamber's headquarters by some of the body's most prominent members. It is expected that all space available for the trip will be booked within the next two or three weeks.

As in the first excursion the party will be carried on the City of Los Angeles, which has been in service on the Los Angeles to Honolulu run for more than a year. It is the largest American vessel in Pacific service and will be turned over completely to the excursionists.

The date of sailing from Los Angeles Harbor has been set for November 3. The vessel will return to this city from the islands on November 24. Six and one-half days will be spent in crossing the water each trip.

Plans for the trip this year provide that the excursionists will go direct to the island of Oahu, while the trip to the islands of Maui and Hawaii will be made on the new steamer Haleakala of the Inter-Island Navigation Company.

The time which has been selected for the trip is said to be the best in the year and because of the favorable weather in November it is expected that more places of interest may be visited. The itinerary for the stay on the islands includes visits to Nuuanu Pali, the Mormon Temple at Laie, Schofield Barracks, the Punch Bowl, the wooded heights to Tantalus, Diamond Head, Puunene, Paia, Wailuku, the famous Iao Valley, the Kilauea Volcano, the Halemaumau firepit, and the well-known Volcano House.

Already provision has been made for a constant whirl of social affairs ranging from receptions by government officials to swimming and dancing parties. The trip has been arranged so that the excursionists will have ample opportunity for sight seeing.

BURGLARS PLY TRADE IN ONTARIO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
ONTARIO, Sept. 11.—Burglars who left a chloroform-soaked handkerchief behind at the home of one of their victims, ransacked two ranch houses in the northern portion of the city late last night and got away with a considerable quantity of clothing and other articles, according to reports to the police today.

It was at the home of Paul Adams, Ninth street and San Antonio avenue, that the chloroformed kerchief was found when the family returned. The rooms had been thoroughly ransacked but so far as is known only a camera was stolen.

At the residence of J. H. Hamilton, Seventh street and Mountain avenue, also thoroughly ransacked, two suits of clothes, jewelry, family keepsakes, and valuable papers were taken. In both cases entrance was gained by jimmying doors.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 11.—W. S. Farwell, 32 years of age, 735 Redondo avenue, died here tonight as the result of inhaling a quantity of gas from an open gas jet.

Later complications developed and today the doctor informed the police of the occurrence. The doctor reported the death of his patient tonight.

Mrs. Farwell resides at 705 East Anaheim street. According to the police she declared that her husband's act did not come as a surprise as he had been despondent, she said, due to ill health.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

While no official statement in that regard has been issued, it has been learned that the committee of Southern California oil producers which conducted the campaign to pinch down production in the flush field from April to September regards its work as finished.

Some will doubtless take issue with the declaration of some of the operators to the effect that there is practically no production shut-in at the three flush fields. A statement by a prominent official of the General Petroleum Corporation throws some light on this subject.

The official states that a few days ago the company informed an independent producer from whom it has been taking a pipe line run that storage facilities were such that he might turn an additional 600 barrels per day into the pipe.

When no move was made to take advantage of the opportunity to run more oil, the company inquired the reason and was informed that all of the producers' wells were far below the run allowed by the curtailment committee, and were incapable of flowing an additional barrel. This was found to be the case at many wells.

Chairman Gulberson, who directed the campaign, asserts that if a well came in today at twice the amount of the prorata order it would be well within the limitations of the order within two weeks.

Compton Pipe Line Ready

The first pipe line to the Compton field was completed last night and will be put in operation today, it was learned at the field yesterday.

The Union Oil Company, which discovered the new field a few days ago, when its Callender No. 1 well came in, doing 1100 barrels a day, has laid three and seven-tenths miles of pipe line. The line extends from the Callender well connecting with another Union pipe line, which will carry the crude oil to the Wilmington tank farm of the company. The line is composed of six-inch pipe.

To Deepen Tejon Well

The discovery well of the Globe Petroleum Corporation and Comanche Point Oil Company on Tejon ranch, about thirty miles southeast of Bakersfield, is being deepened. This well came in last week with a flow of approximately fifteen barrels of 14 gravity oil. The companies which own it will drill several hundred feet further, if necessary, in order to put it on commercial production, according to reports.

Blue Tank Reorganized

Construction of the Blue Tank Oil Refining Company plant at Wilmington, which is already more than half finished, will be rushed to completion, it was announced yesterday by officials of the company.

New working plans were made following the recent reorganization of the company and it is reported that a considerable amount of additional business as well as needed working capital has been brought to the organization by new interests which have affiliated with it.

The Wilmington refinery will have a daily capacity of 5000 barrels of crude oil. The pipe line from Signal Hill to the 15½ acre refinery site facing Harbor Boulevard at Wilmington has already been laid. Pipe for a loading line from the refinery to the harbor and dock site is on the ground and ready to be installed, according to Blue Tank officials.

The company, which was formerly controlled by Vern Dumas and his associates, was reorganized September 6 and a new board of directors elected. H. S. Botsford, who was with the Union Oil Company for several years and later general manager of the Puente Oil Company, was elected president. A. E. Gibson, formerly State Bank Examiner of Indiana was elected secretary and treasurer.

The offices of the company have been moved from Long Beach to the Merchants National Bank Building, Los Angeles. Harris & Company of this city became interested in the financial end of the business with the reorganization.

Three New Wells

Three new wells in the Signal Hill field since Monday afternoon have added 6500 barrels and possibly more to the total ouput of the field. One well, the Jergins No. 5, may increase its flow sufficiently to raise the figure considerably, it is asserted.

The new wells are the General Petroleum Corporation's Bixby No. 2, which went on production in the southeastern section of the field yesterday morning with a flow estimated at 1800 barrels a day; the Paulos Lakas No. 1 of the Hub Oil Company, which came in with an initial flow of 1200 barrels after being deepened, and the Jergins No. 5, on city-owned land, with an initial flow of 2500 barrels, which increased yesterday to 3500 barrels.

The Bixby No. 2 was completed at 4500 feet and the Paulos Lakas at 4612 feet.

Returns to Production

It was reported yesterday that Julian No. 2, on the Brunson lease at Santa Fe Springs, had been returned to production at the rate of 4100 barrels per day after being deepened. The well, according to reports, was originally put on production as a 2100-barrel producer at 2920 feet. It was deepened to 4607 feet, the records indicate.

Oil Showing Puzzles

An oil showing in the Miley Mills No. 5 in the extreme northwestern section of the Signal Hill field has caused considerable excitement and is puzzling officers of the E. J. Miley Company. Cores have failed to show any oil sand. Water sand has been found in considerable quantity during coring operations, but, on the other hand, oil has been showing in the ditch and the bit has brought up oil sand on formation. That the condition may be due to the use of oil drilling mud is not denied by company officials.

The well is located north of Power street, near the flood-control channel, and the finding of oil in commercial quanties would, it is believed, prove an important strike in that particular locality. The hole is down about 4500 feet.

To Attempt Production

An attempt will be made today to put the Peterson-Barker well, on the R. W. Edenn lease at Torrance, on production today or tomorrow. This well, which is located one mile and half east of the nearest producer, has made showings as good as those found in the Midway Northern well before it went on production, according to Edenn, who drilled the latter well.

Production here would bring up the question of drilling within the city limits of Torrance. Under the condition of sale of the town lots oil drilling is prohibited. This obstruction to further oil development can be removed, however, it is said, through agreement entered into by the Dominguez Land Corporation, the original owners, and the present owners of the land.

"Officer"
"Take Him Out"

Take him out where?

Why just take him out through all our big oil fields and show him "where," "how," and "why," the "Julian Petroleum Corporation" is "spending a million dollars a month" building up, what I am out to make the greatest earner of the age.

You say you have been advised against investing in my project for the reason that it is "somewhat speculative"?

Folks, if my present project is speculative, what would you term "my past drilling syndicates" that I am now paying off hundreds of thousands of dollars on?

I guess you would term them "Horribly speculative," but you'll notice that I "delivered the goods" just the same, "speculative or no speculative."

"Now, Folks, here's the whole story in a nutshell":

When I have spent ten million dollars in this enterprise, what will the result be?

Will I not have created 100 cents' worth of value for every dollar expended; or, in other words, there should be at least ten million dollars' worth of assets standing behind your investment as security.

Now with that amount of safety assured to you, and with my knowledge of the Oil industry, coupled with my "word of honor to you," that I will never draw down a dime of profit myself from my project, until I am paying you steady and handsome returns on every dollar you entrust to me, where are you ever going to make as good-looking an investment?

You just can't find the place, that's all.

Are those that would advise you against me qualified to advise any one on the results of such a gigantic project?

Yes, they may think they are, but you know as well as I do a "Sap is a Sap the world over" and you just "can't make a race-horse out of a mule."

Watch and see if those same Birds twelve months from today are not "crying out loud" because they let such an opportunity go by. "And your chances are slipping right now,"

MEMORIAL CEREMONY FOR WOMAN

Services for Musician Fatally Hurt to be at Hollywood Today

Memorial services for Miss Kathleen Shippen, well-known resident and musician of Hollywood, will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock by the Hollywood chapter of the League of American Penwomen, at the home of Mrs. James Huestus, 513 Normandie street, Hollywood, president of the chapter.

Miss Shippen died yesterday morning at 8 o'clock of injuries received in a railway accident Monday, in which Mrs. Elizabeth Shippen, mother of Miss Shippen, was killed.

Mrs. Shippen and her daughter had made the trip to San Diego to view the eclipse, and were returning by automobile, when the accident happened. The party had reached Carlsbad and were crossing the Santa Fe railway tracks when they were struck by a train. Miss Shippen had an opportunity to escape by leaping from the car, but preferred to remain with her mother, who was an invalid, and unable to move. Mrs. Shippen was killed instantly, and Miss Shippen incurred injuries which resulted in her death.

Brass Buttons of Conductors Put in Discard

Reports that a combination bathing suit and hiking costume was to be worn by conductors and motormen of the Los Angeles Railway were denied yesterday by officials of the company, who said the only change in uniform contemplated was the dropping of the well-known brass button.

An enameled lapel button will distinguish railway employees in the future, and when they take it off, their clothing will practically be of civilian cut and appearance. This gives trainmen the advantage of two suits of clothes in one.

Now that the railway company has set the fashion, other combinations will naturally suggest themselves:

Combination overalls and jazz-bo suit for garage mechanics.

Combination waitress uniform and evening gown for motion picture extras.

Combination frock and swallow-tail coat for undertakers of social tendencies.

MADDEN OF ILLINOIS ILL

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois, chairman of the House Appropriation Committee, is seriously ill at his home here. The exact nature of his illness, it was said, had not been determined, although it was attributed to a heart attack.

Rheumatic Agony

NOW EASILY ENDED

Says James H. Allen

It does not matter to me whether you are disabled with cured rheumatism or have only occasional twinges, I know that Allenrhu, my own discovery, will stop the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and reduce the swollen joints.

I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rheumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times was unable to work, and Allenrhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me.

I know because since I cured myself, hundreds have taken Allenrhu and speedily rid themselves of this agonizing disease.

No matter how severe your case, I urge you to put faith in the prescription that it took me years to perfect—a prescription that made a new man of me after doctors tried and failed.

Allenrhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; it gets into the blood, searches out the poisonous uric acid deposit and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that cause rheumatism out of the body through the natural channels.

Through the columns of this newspaper, I authorize every druggist to guarantee one full pint bottle in every instance.—[Advertisement.

OIL PRODUCTION PEAK IS PASSED

Potential Supply Well in Hand, Says Guiberson

New Wells Not Expected to Pay Drilling Costs

Further Curtailment Will Not be Necessary

pleted sixty days ago flowed in excess of 15,000 barrels per day. An offset to this well was opened up one week ago, and it is producing only 2200 barrels per day.

Mr. Guiberson said: "Taking into consideration a careful survey of the three fields from every angle, I have no hesitancy in predicting that if our present rate of shipments of oil to foreign countries, Atlantic and Gulf coast points is kept up we shall soon be drawing on storage oil, and it is doubtful if all the empty storage now built and under construction in this State will ever be filled.

"While production figures for these fields have shown several small increases from week to week, it must be borne in mind that during June, July and August there was quite a large amount of oil shut in, while at present there is practically no oil shut in. Without this reserve or shut-in oil to draw upon and to offset the natural decline, we are bound to see a much faster decline in actual production.

WON'T GET COSTS

"In my judgment, few wells upon which drilling is commenced later than this date, in the heart of either the Santa Fe Springs or Long Beach fields, will ever repay the cost of drilling."

The big problem facing the producers in these fields is that of pumping these deep wells after they cease to flow. And that time is fast approaching. At present we have no pumping equipment that will successfully lift oil from much below the 3000-foot level. When the time arrives that it shall be necessary to pump these deep wells, we shall find that overnight our production may drop to almost nothing.

The limits of the three fields under consideration are now so well defined as to area that it is pretty safe to say that we need have no fear of any large new productive areas.

WAREHOUSE PLANNED

William M. McGee, president of the Individual Underwriting Corporation, is planning the erection of a $1,000,000 warehouse to be located at Wingfoot Station near the intersection of Slauson and Central avenues. Plans now being worked out show that the structure will be eight stories high and will cover a piece of land approximately one acre and a half in area.

The warehouse is to be built in four units, the first one to be completed by the first part of next year. Reinforced concrete materials will predominate in the construction, utilizing fireproof products wherever possible. The project will be under the supervision of S. N. Benjamin, contractor.

A. B. Crist has been selected to draft plans for a three-story apartment to be erected by Samuel Kats on the corner of Franklin avenue and Vine street, involving an expenditure of $120,000. Forty apartments finished in hardwood, exterior walls in stucco, and frame construction are provided in the specifications.

A two-story store and loft building will be erected at 6606 Hollywood Boulevard for Lela B. Elliott at a cost of $45,000. When completed the structure will be occupied by specialty firms. The lot is sixty feet wide and 110 feet deep.

NEW FREIGHT LINE IN SOUTH

Wester Pacific Enters Field Here Through Agreement With Southern Pacific

Through a joint rate agreement, reached with the Southern Pacific Company, announcement of which was made yesterday by officials of the Western Pacific, the latter is to enter the Southern California freight field.

Although the Western Pacific has been operating in the territory north of Bakersfield and San Luis Obispo, it has not heretofore been a party to joint rate agreements in the southern part of the State.

The Southern Pacific will haul the Western Pacific between Stockton and Southern California points. At Stockton the transfer will be made to and from the Western Pacific lines.

F. M. Miller, who before the war was connected with the Clover Leaf line in Los Angeles, becomes general agent of the freight department in Los Angeles. Mr. Miller recently returned from the East, having been connected with the United States Railroad Administration, with the Salt Lake office in Chicago, and with the Chesapeake and Ohio after the period of Federal control.

E. S. Jacobs yesterday was appointed traveling freight agent. He was formerly with the "Orient" line. N. C. McKnight, formerly with the General Petroleum Corporation, becomes chief clerk.

launched within a week, and a 140-foot lighter is being built at Mueller's shipyards, Wilmington. Two other towboats, a derrick barge, and a $120,000 glass-bottomed pleasure boat for Catalina Island have been ordered, and the Mueller's shipyard has enough orders from the company to keep it busy for two years.

The pleasure steamers brought back 7500 eclipse-gazers from Catalina Island Monday, the largest number in the history of the Wilmington Transportation Company.

Last evening at Burdett Hall, Auditorium Building, thirty-three students of the Los Angeles school of optometry received their diplomas of graduation.

Dr. Russell E. Simpson, president of the California State Association of Optometrists, gave the principal address. He was introduced by Dr. Ernest A. Hutchinson, secretary of the school, while Dr. William M. Ketchum, the president, conferred the degrees. On the platform with the other ten members of the faculty was Dr. M. B. Ketchum, organizer of the school.

Dr. Ray Hastings played the processional and Rev. B. D. Snudden, D.D., pronounced the benediction.

TONNAGE AT HARBOR HAS HUGE JUMP

Amount Shows Four-Fold Increase in Period of One Year

Another indication of the remarkable growth of Los Angeles Harbor was given yesterday in a report submitted to the City Council by the Board of Harbor Commissioners. The report discloses that almost four times the amount of tonnage passed over the municipal docks last May than in May of 1922.

Last May a total of 2,375,499 tons of goods were handled at the municipal docks. In May, 1922, the total tonnage was 673,815.

The total value of the goods passing over the city docks in May was $53,238,343, or an increase of $24,663,326 over May, 1922.

HISTORIC SHIP IN PORT HERE

body, the sharply drawn stern and rake of her masts are still there; also can be seen evidences of the taut, graceful clipper which in her day could show her heels to everything in Pagoda Anchorage.

Capt. Wahlborg is highly proud of the old-timer's cabin of bird's-eye maple and keeps it polished as the day she slid down the ways at Bath. She still carries her original hand-made compass, inscribed on the bar in India ink, "Ritchie of Boston."

The old four-armed windmill, turning creakily in the harbor breeze, has excited the interests of hundreds of visitors. To sailormen it arouses memories of Java Head and the Straits of Sunda; of coming home from Canton before a three-skysail, scupper breeze; the rigging howling before the gale, cold spray flying across the decks and green water swirling along the lee waist.

BIGAMY IS LAID TO LOVE PIRATE

Reed, remained a wife for exactly seven weeks. Discovering that she had no funds, Roshon deserted her on their honeymoon, according to the asserted confession.

Then Roshon is said to have taken the back trail to Fort Wayne, Ind. There he married Nina R. Kring, the police say, deserting her two weeks later.

MARRIES IN SPOKANE

From Fort Wayne Roshon again migrated west, coming as far as Spokane, and shortly after his arrival takin unto himself another wife in the person of Alma E. Snyder. In Spokane Roshon gave his name as W. A. Allen, according to the purported confession. A week sufficed to end this marriage and Roshon, again a shuttle between the Middle West and the East, went to Des Moines, Iowa, where he was captivated, police say, by May S. Roush of 907 West Seventh street and married her under the name of A. E. Reed.

Ten days later Roshon was again on the trail seeking feminine game, the purported confession relates. He found this in Evansville, Wis., and under the name of A. E. Woods became the husband of Belle Parker. During the course of these marriages, Roshon is said to have found time to become engaged to Mrs. Helen Poss of Rochester, Minn.

Roshon, according to police, admitted that he was about to go into the marriage market here, but was prevented from doing so by his arrest. In a diary found with the letters in his room were found the names of many local women with the money each is supposed to possess written neatly beside each name.

ENGAGED TO SIX, TOO

Roshon was engaged to six other women and would have married two of them this month if he had not been arrested, according to the police. One of the best "prospects" resides in Los Angeles.

Roshon made his confession rather than face a vagrancy charge and a possible six-month term in the City Jail.

While he was being quizzed about a murder charge pending against him in Washington, he maintained a bold front, joking with Detective Lieutenants Reed and Shaffer when they interrogated him and saying he was ready to be extradited anywhere.

The filing of a vagrancy charge against him changed his outlook, according to the police. When he was taken into Police Court yesterday for arraignment, he hurriedly summoned the two detectives.

OFFERS TO CONFESS

"Get rid of this charge and I'll come clean," he told them.

The typed statement which he later signed in the office of the District Attorney gave his real wife's name as Mrs. Emma Johns Roshon of Leavittsburg, Pa. The bigamous wives and the places of marriage and the length of time he lived with them were given as: Della Whalen, Warren, O., March to August, 1919, under the name of Harry R. Roshon; Jennie Neuert, Tacoma, Wash., one month in fall of 1919, under name of H. A. Reid; Nina R. Kring, Fort Wayne, Ind., from April 6, 1920, to November, 1922, under the name of A. E. Reid; Alma E. Snyder, Spokane, Wash., one month while temporarily away from the Fort Wayne wife, under the name of W. A. Allen; May S. Roush, Des Moines, Iowa, late in 1922, until April, 1923, under the name of A. E. Reid; Belle Parker, Evansville, Wis., this summer until trip to Los Angeles, under name of A. E. Woods.

The man, according to the detectives, inspired great confidence in his integrity among the women with whom he associated. Those that learned of his asserted bigamous marriages refused to believe him guilty and were loud in their defense of him.

WOMAN DEFENDS HIM

Mrs. Alta Epley of 406 Court street, an acquaintance in Los Angeles, is reported to have told the police that she was willing to hire an attorney to aid him in obtaining his release from the City Jail. She is also said to have offered to provide bond to give him his freedom.

Further describing his associations with Los Angeles women, Roshon asserted that he "had to be married" before the 16th inst., according to the police. He planned to marry a wealthy woman, obtain money from her and leave for Burlington, Iowa, where he was scheduled to "marry" Mrs. Emma Nagle on the 17th inst.

Roshon denied in his confession that he had attempted to obtain money from any of the many wives. He said he had earned his living by working as a carpenter and had no excuse to offer for his matrimonial career. He explained his confession by saying that he wanted to "start again with a clean slate."

Besides the bigamy charge pending in Ohio, the police have information that the man is wanted in Mason City, Iowa, for obtaining money under false pretenses. They are investigating that report and are attempting to get into communication with all the asserted bigamous wives to determine if other charges may be laid against him.

FEATURE LIQUOR CASE IS UP TODAY

The case against Joe D'Auito, and his wife Margaretta, who live at 641 Lamar street, which was the cause of much excitement in local prohibition circles last winter, on account of the arrest of Prohibition Agents Neal and Wheeler on a charge of making an assault upon Mrs. D'Auito, and their later acquittal, will be tried in Judge Bledsoe's court today, by Dep. U. S. Dist.-Atty. Mack Meader and a jury. The complaint charges that the D'Auitos operated two fifty-gallon stills at the place on Lamar street, where 125 gallons of moonshine and 125 gallons of mash were found by the officers.

TO TEST EMPLOYMENT ACT

Agency Obtaining Positions for Professional Persons Says New Law Ruins Business

The constitutionality of a recent legislative act, which provides that employment agencies obtaining positions for teachers and other professional persons, shall not charge more than 10 per cent of the first month's salary, yesterday was brought into question in an action brought in Judge Paul Burks's court.

The act was signed by Gov. Richardson on June 18 last, and went into effect on August 18.

The action was brought by W. W. Payne, head of the local branch of the Fisk Teachers' Agency, who asked that the court issue an order restraining Walter G. Mathewson, State Labor Commissioner, from revoking his license and from prosecuting him under the provisions of the act. In his complaint Payne declares that the act is confiscatory of his business and that of similar agencies, and that it is of unequal operation, and, therefore, unconstitutional.

The case affects numerous employment agencies serving professional patrons, and thousands of clients.

The act was passed on representations that such agencies were charging fees ranging from 25 to 50 per cent of the first month's salary, and that such fees were unwarranted, unnecessary, exorbitant and oppressive.

Payne testified yesterday that he charged a set fee of 5 per cent of the first year's salary, which amounted to 45 per cent of the salary for one month; that he would be unable to carry on business under the provisions of the act, and that the fee he charged was a reasonable one.

It is estimated that a week will be required to hear testimony.

CITY'S GROWTH FILLS SCHOOLS

made at the Board of Education yesterday. This number will be pro-rated and divided as equally as possible among the various institutions.

From early morn until late in the evening the headquarters of the board in the Security Building were crowded with teachers, getting last-minute assignments or transfers, and students getting out of the various tangles incidental to enrollment.

Courses of study are rapidly being outlined and sent to the publishers, so that within a limited time they will be distributed to instructors to be followed out during the term.

Enrollment statistics are incomplete and each district reports that there will be a considerable number of additions today and Thursday. That last year's figures in both the elementary and high schools will be eclipsed is a certainty and teaching staffs have been augmented to meet the need.

All the regular assignments have been made, with some teachers substituting temporarily for those that are on leaves of absence. A number of new buildings and annexes will be finished in the immediate future to properly accommodate all classes. Routine classwork starts today and baseball and summer sports will become secondary to the three Rs.

RAIN PREVENTS PERFORMANCE

citizens are planning to occupy a block of seats that has been reserved for their special night. All Orange county in general will send patrons to "The Wayfarer" tonight.

"Seven performances are all that will be given," said Merle Armitage, business manager, yesterday. "A number of people are under the impression that we may hold the play over anothe week. This supposition is entirely unfounded.

"There will be but four, more shows. As to bringing 'The Wayfarer' back next year, I can say nothing now. I can only urge everyone to see this great spectacle while the opportunity presents itself.

Tomorrow night will be the special night for Redlands, with Miss Katherine Sweeney of that city playing Columbia and James T. Fitzgerald, president of the Fitzgerald Music Company, of Los Angeles, the prolocutor.

All who have seen "The Wayfarer" here acclaim it to be the greatest dramatic spectacle in the history of this city. As a passion play has no equal, and it is unrivaled for its exquisite combinations of sound and color into a production well worth seeing. The prologue, with its battle scene, and the epilogue, with its processional march of 7000 persons, are particularly impressive.

The play was written by Dr. J. E. Crowthen of Philadelphia and produced by Montgomery Lynch, assisted by Hugo Kirchhofer and William Tyroler. The speaking leads are A. B. Kachel, Wayfarer; Miss Katherine Bodkin, Understanding; and Miss Lola Lapere, Angel.

SUSPECT HELD FOR ROBBERY

Schuyler kept her head, and in low tones told the men that nearly all her jewelry had been placed in a safe deposit box but that they were welcome to all they could find.

"Well, we'll have a look around," said one of the men. "You get up and get in that closet."

Mrs. Schuyler complied hastily, and the burglars turned the key on her and ransacked the room. They found a platinum and diamond watch, worth $1000, miscellaneous jewelry worth about twice as much more, and twenty 1000-mark notes. Then they released Mrs. Schuyler. In their search they found a package of cigarettes, and one of them lit one.

"Where's your husband's room?" queried the spokesman for the pair. Mrs. Schuyler indicated an adjoining room, and one of the burglars tiptoed into it and returned with Mr. Schuyler's trousers, which he searched. He found a wallet containing $500 which he pocketed.

THREATEN VICTIM

With further threats that she would suffer severely if she made any outcry until they were well away from the house, the burglars then left.

The burglary was reported to the Sheriff's office and when Deputy Sheriff Bell heard that someone had been offering 1000 mark notes on the Venice pier, he started a train of investigation that led to Bradley's arrest. In the Bradley home, according to the officers, they found several articles of jewelry taken from the Schuyler home, and a bank book showing that Bradley had just opened an account in the First National Bank with a deposit of $500.

Bradley said his occupation is housecleaner.

THINK BIDS ON SCHOOL EXCESSIVE

Board Members Refer All Proposals on Hollywood High to Manager

The Board of Education broke all records for speed at its meeting last night, adopting twenty-six committee reports in the short space of twenty-five minutes and then adjourning to the Metropolitan Building where the members held an informal discussion of certain provisions of the proposed new city charter with Orra E. Monnette of the Board of Freeholders.

Bids received for the construction of an auditorium and domestic science building and boiler house at Hollywood High School ranged from $300,000 to $329,000 and were thought by several members of the board and Supt. Susan M. Dorsey to be excessive. The bids were referred to Business Manager Record for report and recommendation. Two bids for the construction of an irrigation system at Van Nuys High School were rejected as excessive.

The board approved the request of the Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher Association that that organization be permitted to conduct a Harvest Festival in the Eagle Rock Central School on October 19 to 20.

Permission to attend the sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at the University of Southern California from the 17th to the 20th inst., was granted teachers of science with the proviso that such attendance would not incur additional expense to the school department.

Plans for new additions to several schools in different sections of the city were adopted on recommendation of the building and finance committees.

Speaking of the overcrowded conditions prevailing in many schools of the city, Supt. Dorsey said she could see no remedy for the situation.

"We simply don't seem to be able to build schools fast enough to accommodate the rapid growth of the city," she said. "Speaking in lighter vein, I would say that our only hope is that the Chamber of Commerce quit advertising the city and thus give us a chance to catch up in our program."

VIOLIN STRIKES HEART CHORDS

KHJ Treated to Rare Example of Vibrant Music

Entire Program One of Much Classical Value

Soprano Delights Listeners With Numbers

BY BEN A. MARKSON

Leslie Nesbitt, smiling California violin artist, arranged an excellent concert last night for radio music lovers, assisted by the capable pianist, Raymond McFeeters, and Miss May Shaffner, a delightful soprano.

The program was of classical type, including the works of Handel, Schumann and Schubert. Of the modernists, Debussy, Wieniawski, too, and Kreisler.

Leslie Nesbitt will be heard this week throughout the entire week in concert, and, in various programs, will be assisted by Miss Shaffner and Mr. McFeeters. Last night the violinist gave her numbers the honey-sweet and the soul-appeal of Kreisler's music in the "Liebesleid." and "Liebesleid." The rendition of Handel's Sonata in D Major, was of virtuoso quality in the four movements. Wieniawski's colorful "Romance Second Polonaise" was played with a glowing verve. Her large repertoire and musical sincerity are winning her veritable success.

VOICE OF SYMPATHY.

Miss May Shaffner sings with pleasing grace. Her voice holds a rich beauty of round dramatic quality which she uses with genuine sympathy.

Cool and cool as a sylvan breeze was her singing of the Indian love song, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lieurance. Three contrasting themes by Hahn, Spross and LaForge, were admirably rendered. Those, in order, were "Love Me With Wings Protecting," "Invocation to Life," and "Song of the Open." And we must add to include the excellence of her efforts in "Pleurez-Pleurez," by Chaminet.

Raymond McFeeters is always favorable as a piano soloist. His playing has sure personality, his technical basis is good, and, above all, he is discriminating and appreciative where melody is concerned. In addition to solo numbers, Mr. McFeeters gave accompaniment to the violinist and singer. He began with Sonata in A Major, by Scarlatti, and ended with a fantastic closing number, "Polly-Wog's Stroll."

PIECES WELL CHOSEN.

There was something highly attractive about his choice of selections. The center of his music was formed, by Schubert's "Impromptu" and a Schumann Romance.

Within a few office workers downtown, miss their luncheon when Ralph's Ben Ton Ballroom Orchestra appears at KHJ for an hour of syncopation at noon. These bits of dance music would be missed more than eat, apparently. Many of them come to The Times studio. Others make a beeline for other downtown radio stores.

Ralph's syncopators hold sway at the Ben Ton Ballroom, Lick's Million Pier, Ocean Park. They are ten players, frequently heard at KHJ, and always on hand at the Ben Ton Ballroom nightly to minister to the fox trot populace.

The personnel consists of Kenneth Olsen, saxophones; Carlyle Wilson, saxophone and clarinet; Ralph Pollack, drums; Howard Lamb, violinist; Clyde Curry, cornet; Leighton Guffin, cornet; Guy Smith, cornet; Guy Martin, trombone; Andrew Partridge, bass, and Harry Baldwin, pianist and director.

A feature number yesterday was Ralph's original dance hit, "Just a World of Dreams." It is popular as a song also. A few of the selections given were "No, No, Nora," "Japanese Sunset," "Rose Marie," and "My Sweetie Lou."

The last named number was rendered by Bobbie Toft with orchestra accompaniment. She is a favorite baritone, formerly of the Orpheum and Keith circuits, and a boy, how she can sing! Harry Ralph played her accompaniments.

HAWAIIANS PLAY

Hawaiian numbers and popular melodies were played during the same intervals by Radioland's own quintet. Hawaiian trio, composed of George Mackie, Sol Hoopii and Lani McIntire. Mackie's Queen's Hawaiians furnish the string music at the Million Dollar Cafe. Once or twice each week they present a program at which Hoopii's solo work on the steel guitar has won the admiration of his hearers. George Mackie plays the ukelele and Lani McIntire the guitar.

Ralph Driscoll, boy soprano, and Henrietta and Mildred Biesemeier, talented young pianists, entertain the juvenile listeners-in during the evening program. The boy singer has a pleasing voice, capable of training. The two young girls are pupils of Marguerite Potter. "At the Brook" by Downybrook Brook" by Scott, and "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell, were their selections respectively.

SAVING OF VISION URGED OVER RADIO

The importance of care of the eyes was stressed in a radio talk last night by Dr. E. S. Lawson, broadcasting in The Times studio. His subject was "Conservation of Vision." Irritability, headaches and other ills are often directly due to defective or neglected vision, he declared. He urged parents particularly to guard the eyesight of their children. Reading in bed is a cause of eye strain, listeners-in were told. Glasses, properly fitted by an optometrist, should be worn by those whose eyes are defective, Dr. Lawson declared. He declared the conservation of vision is more important than the conservation of forests, nevertheless receives less attention.

FIGHTER PRACTICED ON HER, WIFE'S SUIT SAYS

Nicholas Vercillo, southwestern pugilist, trained for his ring battles by beating up his wife, according to a complaint made by Mrs. Mary Vercillo in her suit for divorce, filed yesterday. According to the complaint, she married Vercillo on December 2, 1918, and immediately her husband's pugilistic education began to manifest itself. He was trained to inflict punishment, she says, and he followed out his training in his domestic life, displaying great cruelty in his treatment of her. The complaint asserts that Vercillo's income from fighting averages $1000 a month and she asks $300 a month alimony and the custody of their minor child. She also asks that her husband be restrained from further interference with her.

THREE HURT AS HEATER EXPLODES DURING FIRE

Two firemen and one other were severely burned yesterday morning when an automatic heater exploded in a house at 1559 Talmadge avenue, Hollywood. All were taken to Receiving Hospital. Firemen Billegas and Lawler of Engine Company No. 35 were fighting a fire which started in the kitchen of the home when gasoline used in cleaning clothes was brought too near a heater. Mr. Taggert, owner of the house, was burned in the gasoline explosion. The fire was extinguished and only small damage was done.

A large silk flag today hangs in the Lincoln Heights Christian Church, the gift of the Gen. W. H. Lawton Unit No. 29 of the Ladies of the G.A.R. At presentation services last Sunday, Mrs. Sarah Marsh Morton offered the gift, Col. H. Q. Morton delivered the Gettysburg speech, and color bearers were Mrs. McCauley, Mrs. H. E. Ford and Mrs. Jennie Winslow.

Convicted Three Times, Man Wins on Third Charge

Arthus C. Cox, thrice convicted of uttering and forging stolen money orders, pleaded his own case before United States District Judge James yesterday and obtained the dismissal of an indictment against him. He was charged with disposing of five money orders in Santa Barbara, where he was arrested in 1916. He demurred to the indictment on the ground that the money orders were not properly described, and the demurrer was sustained.

Cox it is asserted, stole money orders at Allentown, N. C., and Leonardo, N. J., early in 1916 and travelled across country, leaving a trail of the forgeries behind him. He was tried successfully at Trenton, New York, and Baltimore and sentenced each time. While in Leavenworth on the last charge he studied law in the warden's office and gained enought knowledge to beat the last case against him.

Cox left immediately for Oklahoma, saying he had served seven years and six months behind the bars and had had enough. There are other charges against him but they will not be prosecuted, at least, it was said.

POLICE ORGANIZE POST

The police department of Los Angeles now has its own post of the American Legion. The post, to be known as Metropolitan Post No. 136, was founded at a meeting yesterday noon at Central Police station, with fifty charter members.

Convicted for Sale of Wine, Sue Cider Firm

Arthus Joseph and his son Alfred of Burbank, who were recently convicted by a jury in Glendale of selling grape juice that contained more than a legal amount of alcohol, yesterday brought suit against the Red Mill Cider Company for $10,000 for selling them the liquid which brought about their downfall.

The plaintiffs declared that until they were convicted they believed that they were buying and selling grape juice which could be used without fear and without reproach at a church social.

TO ANSWER TEXAS CHARGE

Frank McDowell, under indictment at Wichita Falls, Tex., on the charge of embezzling funds of the Graham, Tex., National Bank, was arraigned before Commissioner Long, yesterday. He waived all preliminary proceedings and gave bond in the sum of $7500 for his appearance to answer to the Texas Federal Courts, when wanted. The alleged shortage of McDowell is given in the official papers at $60,000.

AFTER NEW WRINKLES

Cafe Expert to Bring European Novelties to Los Angeles

All the latest innovations and divertisements that have made the cafes of Paris and London famous; all the pleasures familiar to visitors there with the exception, of course, of those prohibited by the dry law, will soon be in this community.

Los Angeles is setting the pace for so many activities the world over that she must not lag behind in this line. To that end Louis Spielman of the Club Royale is taking a two months' trip to Europe. He is going to visit the leading cafes of all the largest cities to get first-hand information of their most popular and successful methods of entertaining, which he will introduce here on his return.

Spellman is well acquainted on the other side, as London is his home town and he has acted as maitre d'hotel in many of the leading hotels and cafes of Europe.

ADMITS EMBEZZLING

Alimony and Support of Three Children are Blamed

The difficulty of paying alimony, housing his three children at $60 a month, sending one of them to private school and paying installments on furniture on a monthly salary of $145 led A. W. Errett, former Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, to embezzlement of $1911 of government funds, he told Judge James yesterday when he pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to eleven and a half months in Orange County Jail and a fine of $1000.

Physicians certified to the court that Errett is so ill he is unlikely to live out his term.

ABSENCE LOSES MAN HIS WIFE, HE ASSERTS

Instead of sitting at home and waiting for her husband to return from a business trip, Ethel Florence Boone met another man with whom she became infatuated. George F. Boone declared in his complaint for divorce filed yesterday in the Superior Court. Upon his return from the trip he became acquainted with this condition of affairs and questioned his wife about it, Boone stated. The wife admitted that another man had captured her heart. Boone asserted. Hoping this new infatuation would soon die out, Boone took another business trip, according to the complaint, and when he returned he found his wife had gone to live with the other man. Boone decided to let her go and filed suit for divorce. The couple had been married a year.

THE SILVER LINING

There are 45,000 persons in the real estate business in California and more than 15,000 of them are in Los Angeles. No wonder we are a cheery lot of optimists.

MAKE AMERICA SAFE

At San Francisco a nurse who sold drugs to a patient has been given five years in the penitentiary. If we could give life terms to bootleggers there might be quite a cleaning up of the country.

FORGING MADE LEGAL

The formation of the Western Press Forging Syndicate here might lead some folks into the suspicion that the newspaper boys were going into crime on a wholesale scale, but we will tell the world that this forging isn't done with a pen. That is the kind that takes a man to the pen. This is different.

IN THE NECK

In a Michigan town an ordinance has been passed forbidding dancers from placing their arms around one another's necks. Supposing some poor girl is suffering from a weak neck. Cannot her partner save her life? How do they call this a free country when a man may not take his sweetheart by the throat?

RAH! RAH!

A dietitian says that to keep peace in the family wives should give their husbands raw food. Of course, he means uncooked vegetables. There wouldn't be much peace in the home if the husband sat himself down to raw mutton and turnips. It would be a raw deal and hubby would perform accordingly. But the idea possibly is that a man raised on lettuce and parsley hasn't spunk enough to scrap with his spouse.

LIGHTWEIGHT LAURELS

Johnny Dundee and Benny Leonard have had eight battles in the ring. No wonder the New York Boxing Commissioners are asking whether the boys are going into continuous. The capacity of the public to pay $100,000 to witness another chapter in this feud may well be questioned. A lightweight champion is supposed to be able to scale under 133 pounds, but there is a large suspicion that Leonard has not been under 145 pounds since he had breakfast last inauguration day. Possibly the Commissioners can get Benny on the scales if they rope and tie him first.

STAGE EFFECTS

In New York the luxurious trains headed for California are given a sort of Pasadena setting. Tourists pass down a carpeted aisle between rows of palms and potted plants to reach the train and are welcomed at the barrier by a suave and courteous brunette porter. After the train pulls out the greenery is loaded on trucks and hauled back to the water tanks for the next public appearance. The carpets are also rolled up and tucked away until the next day. They are trying to make the last impression of New York resemble the first one gained on leaving the train at the California end. But at this end of the carpet is living green and the palms real. They do not have to use stage managers and scene shifters to handle the passenger business here.

A UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE

The League of Nations discourages the use of any artificial language in diplomacy or international business. Strong recommendations for the use of living tongues are made. There were some who wished to extend the use of Esperanto as a universal language, while Volapuk and Clarison also had been urged, but the League insists that there are languages enough now and they can fight it out among themselves. In some instances French might be preferred, while English would be necessary for other records. Why not have a talkfest at a modern Babel and let the best man decide? It is certain that, if all the world could be brought to speak the same language, it would be a much simpler matter to keep the peace. We are divided by our tongues rather than our hearts or hands.

VERY UNUSUAL:

It seems that the inconstant moon somehow or other got mixed up with our climate.

We are sorry that it rained and got the totality of the eclipse all jazzed up. And now nobody will know whether or not Mr Einstein's theory is O.K. or is in the "Yes; We-Have-No-Bananas" class.

We apologize.

We can only insist that the rain and clouds and fog in September are very unusual.

We don't know why it had to happen. Here, for 200 years, we have had clear and balmy and fragrant Septembers—then on the one day in a couple of centuries when we needed clear weather . . .

Well, you all know how it is yourselves when company comes. The babies always come down with the whooping cough and the parrot will never talk and the cat misbehaves on the parlor rug.

Oh, well; oh, well!

"A ROTTEN JOB"

King George of Greece is quoted in a recent interview as saying: "It's a rotten job being King. I have tried it for years and I know."

The eighteenth century exploded the theory that monarchs rule through a divine right; that they hold their scepters from heaven and not at the will of their subjects. Came the nineteenth century with its rise and spread of constitutional government. The word of the King ceased to be the law. He, like his subjects, was limited by a constitution.

And now comes the twentieth century with the triumph of free government. The last absolute monarchy has disappeared from the earth. There are now more republics than kingdoms; and the remaining monarchs have ceased to have a commanding voice in their governments. They remain only as symbols and table decorations.

There is no active, speaking part for a king to play in modern democratic governments. He holds the crown, on condition that he keeps it carefully from the public view. He may possess legally the right of veto; but it is a right that he would exercise at his peril. It cost the last King who tried it in England his head.

Kings are useful at social functions. Their purple and gold lace have a thrill for the fair sex. They may even speak the final word in what is good taste in dress and demeanor in so-called high society; but they get their information about what their government is doing by reading the reports in the morning papers.

They are frequently consulted about social precedent, but never—absolutely never—about affairs of state. In Europe even the Presidents are without active voice in their governments. One hears frequently what Mussolini, Poincare and Baldwin have to say; but never a word from the Kings of Italy and England, and seldom a word from the President of France.

In this country the President still occupies a commanding place, although the encroachments of the Senate have so weakened the Executive in international affairs that he is now regarded in Europe as occupying only a subordinate position. When the Senate repudiated a President's signature to the Versailles Treaty the people on the other side the Atlantic reached the conclusion that the job, like that of their kings, was more ornamental than useful.

Democracy has not brought peace to Europe. In fact, some of the new democracies have functioned worse than the monarchical governments that they succeeded. We know that this is not the fault of democracy; but is due to the fact the the machinery of democratic government is new to the peoples of Europe and that they make a mess of things when they try to operate it. But, despite the early failures, the democracies are sticking. Some of them are ruled by dictators; but that will not be necessary, or possible, when the people once learn how to run their government without ditching them.

Why is the race of kings passing? Why is it becoming extinct? Why is being king now regarded as a "rotten job"? Fundamentally, because there is no place for hereditary privilege under constitutional governments. But the kings who still cling to their thrones are in part to blame that they no longer have a voice in their governments. In the battle of intellects the modern kings have proved lacking. Their voices are not heard because they have nothing original, nothing worth while to say. The first places in the various kingdoms are held by men who have risen from the common people, who have won the spurs they wear, whose decorations are for meritorious service, not replicas of those worn by some noted ancestor and for deeds performed in an age that has passed.

There is a new royalty in the world, that of the intelligence. Those receive the most who are able to give forth the most. Material wealth and hereditary right have been subjugated by a new aristocracy, that of the intellect; and the titles in this aristocracy must be won. They cannot be conferred by sovereign right or inherited. They cannot be bought and sold, cannot be created with blood and iron.

We live in the age of industry, when the world and all it contains belong to the workers; a world in which there is no place for drones, whether they wear velvet or cotton.

JAPAN'S NOBLE COURAGE

Japan has furnished the world with a notable object lesson in courage, restraint, discipline and dignity under dire calamity.

In spite of the appalling catastrophe which beset them, in spite of the chaos and terrifying horrors which were enough to shock any nation into unbridled confusion, Japan has shown a desire never to exaggerate her woes in any way, an anxiety to furnish the world with the most conservative estimates of her losses and an amazing courage and self-control in handling the calamity herself.

But, even when the first horrifying estimates have been pared down to conservative exactitude, Japan's calamity still stands forth as one of the cruelest disasters of history. If there are not 300,000 dead, but only 50,000, that leaves 250,000 more of the living to suffer and shudder under the debacle.

The celerity with which martial law was instituted, the efficiency with which fires were fought and quelled, inquests held over the dead, relief measures undertaken, while all the while the world was being kept officially informed with the most restrained reliability, are matters for reverent admiration and congratulation.

If Japan was reluctantly conceded a great nation before this calamity, her prestige has risen even higher because of it. She has withstood a supreme and ghastly test of courage and endurance with amazing gallantry. Where formerly she won unwilling respect, where formerly she compelled admiration—and fear—this disaster has won her a wealth of friendship and generous respect which no dreadnaught navy could ever inspire.

Even her enemies must hold Japan in awed and tender respect in these dread days. The world is weeping with Japan today—and friendships cemented in tears and sympathy can outlast all other forms of friendship. Japan has grown greater, nobler in her sorrow.

DOCTORS DISAGREE

Now a doctor has been found who insists that men who smoke much are not as apt to be bothered with high blood pressure as other humans. If this physician can persuade the life insurance companies to accept his gospel he can do a lot of business.

Where His Own Flood Carries Him

INTERNATIONAL GALLANTRY

Our closest neighbors, Canada and Mexico, have furnished a pleasant example of international gallantry.

Neither of them can be called ardent prohibitionists, yet they have taken sympathetic cognizance of Uncle Sam's trials with his family in this little bit of domestic discipline and have voluntarily undertaken to keep an eye on their respective fences and to see that their children do not demoralize Uncle Sam's children with surreptitious consignments if it can possibly be avoided.

In fact, they are doing what neighbors can rarely be induced to do—admitting that Uncle Sam has a perfect right to raise his children according to his own lights, even when they consider their own methods infinitely better. They are even conceding that their children are making Uncle Sam's children even naughtier than they otherwise would be and that Uncle Sam has a righteous kick about it.

Moreover, they are slyly intimating that, even if Uncle Sam doesn't consider the domestic affairs of the rest of the world are his affairs (none of your League of Nations stuff for him,) they are politely and respectfully willing to take an interest in his domestic affairs and lend him all the moral and practical support that he craves.

Uncle Sam has practically had to admit that he could not manage this purely domestic prohibition affair of his without the aid and co-operation of other countries. He might stand for splendid isolation and no entangling alliances and sovereign rights—but so long as his independent neighbors did likewise—in the matter of Sam's prohibition principles—Uncle's position was apt to be a bit ridiculous.

Canada and Mexico could have stood aloof and jeered and enjoyed a lot of malicious fun in the jeering. But instead—they have been neighborly and done unto others as they would be done by. A nice case of international good sportsmanship.

ECLIPSE OF WAR CRISES

"War inevitable" was a frequent phrase in the reports of the last month. The pessimists and anti-Leaguers were having a lugubriously happy time of it. Even optimists and League advocates waited with chilled horror to see their best faith blasted.

But today the world should be on its knees with thanksgiving. Two bitter militaristic crises have been weathered by conference, moral influences and sweet reasonableness.

Perhaps it is ironical that both should be assuaged by money—German reparations and concessions "to pay" have softened France's bloody fury. Grecian indemnities and willingness "to pay" have abated Mussolini's bloody wrath.

So many hurts to national "honor" can be healed by money, where once blood was considered the only cure.

National honor, like so many feminine heartaches, can often be vindicated with a substantial financial quid pro quo.

And that is one of the most sordid bitternesses of war—in the end it usually resolves itself into indemnities, reparations—money.

So if the League of Nations or the World Court or the Council of Ambassadors can obviate the war and get right down to the money considerations in the beginning it is "good business" for all concerned. Honor and good business have so much in common.

The newest crisis predicted is Fiume. Mussolini is again quoted as being concerned about Italy's honor. But the League's diplomatists are getting into their stride. Turkey, the Ruhr, Greece—three notable triumphs to encourage them and all apparently as complicated and involved as Fiume. D'Annunzio's spectacular "honor" methods did not work. A brilliant financial conference may settle it yet. In the meantime, before making another reckless speech upon the League, Mr. Hiram Johnson will do well to await events. Assumption and denouement can be so very distinctive.

MAN IN THE MOON

BY MYRTLE GEBHART

All this business about the moon overstepping the sun or whatever it is that brought the night-glow into such prominence in the daytime—when it should have known enough to stay abed and get its rest—brings to mind the many charming stories that have been told about The Man in the Moon.

A most interesting personage, that gentleman; many are the epics that have been penned to his centuries-old glory. Indeed, every country has its legend or moon-myth.

About the birth of The Man in the Moon there is the glamour of a fabled one who has been entirely too secretive about his affairs. One story has it that he was discovered by Moses gathering faggots for his hearth on a Sabbath and ordered to live in the moon until the very end of all life to expiate his sin.

The German myth is very similar, though in Schaumburg-lippe somebody must have felt sorry for the solitary fellow—or else very bitter against him and wished him ill, whichever way you choose to regard it—for there they say now that he has a wife, both of them being punished by exile on the moon. Seems like he threw thorns on the church path so the good souls of the community couldn't attend the services and she made butter on the Holy Day. The man carries faggots on his back and the woman holds a tub. Well, it's nice to know those poor folks can keep their bodies clean, anyway, while they're purging their souls.

The Dutch moon-myth varies only in that the man is being punished for snitching vegetables because he was too lazy to earn the money for them. The Devonshire superstition has it that the man has a dog there with him in the moon and there's supposed to be a lamb in the sun.

Of them all perhaps the most picturesque is the Buddhist legend, which says that Sakyamunni was once a hare and made friends with an ape and a fox. When Indra visited them, disguised as a hungry and very old man, the fox and ape found food for him, but the slow hare couldn't find a single thing. So, not to allow question of his hospitality, he just lighted a fire and cooked himself. As a reward Indra sent him to the moon, where he lives in peace, far from the madding crowd of politicians and beach beauties.

But perhaps, with the fuss they're making over him, putting him in the newspapers and looking at him through telescopes and all, the man in the moon may step down to earth and tell the true tale of his isolation.

RIPPLING RHYMES

GOVERNMENT AS USUAL

Our President, so good and wise, worn out by heavy labor, dies. The people mourn, their sighs ascend; they've lost a brother and a friend. But government goes on as though there were no sable plumes of woe. Upon a bleak New England farm a rugged toiler lifts his arm and takes the Presidential vow; to rule a realm he leaves the plow. 'Twould be a cataclysmic thing if we were governed by a king, to have one monarch leave his throne, succeeded by a prince unknown. But here the people have in hand dominion over all the land, and forward goes the nation's car, without a jolt, without a jar, though statesmen put their tools aside and lay them down at eventide.
The great and good man laid to rest would say that this is for the best. Perhaps it's hard for us to know there'll be small ripples when we go. It's natural for us to hope that when we've crossed the sunset slope, begarlanded with shining fame, the world will not be quite the same. Our government is founded well; the tolling of the iron bell that tells the passing of the great disturbs no function of the state. A printer leaves the guiding helm; a farmer comes to rule the realm.

PEN POINTS

Some eclipse! We'll say it was.

The city schools have "took up." Gosh all hemlock!

The local Japanese relief fund is growing like Jonah's gourd.

We must all admit that Mexico has improved in appearance since last we saw her, officially.

Premier Mussolini is evidently of the opinion that he is the man who has put the "I" in Italy.

We had supposed that the dream had passed, but J. Hamilton Lewis, with his lurid whiskers, is again appearing on the front pages of the newspapers.

There will not be another total eclipse of the sun in these parts until August 12, 2046. Wonder what Col. William Jennings Bryan will be doing that summer?

The most complete disappearance of the waist line will mark women's fashions this fall. Why can't the stylists do something for the waist line of us mere men?

MEMORIE'S WINDOW

An old log house and country church,
With weather-beaten sides,
Upon a grassy headline perch;
A boat at anchor rides
Below black cliffs, on rock-strewn beach;
A narrow, lonely lane
Is etched, a winding path to reach
The swaying, browning cane.

The turn-stile creaks in dismal tones,
The trees their plumage shed,
A shutter on the schoolhouse groans,
Some wheeling gulls o'er head;
The sea, with muffled thunder booms
Against the surge-swept coast;
A mourning dove but faintly looms
Beside the hitching post.

A reddened sun has slipped from sight,
Behind a white-capped wave,
The hawthorn bushes glisten white,
Their leaves the pathway pave;
A flood of light, an organ peals,
The church doors open wide,
Beside a rose-banked altar kneels
A youthful groom and bride.

These scenes are sketched across the years
Of memories divine,
A sketch, now blurred with bitter tears
That rends this heart of mine.

ALBERTA WING COLWELL.

THIS IS THE DAY

William Morgan, a Free Mason, was abducted from Canandaigua, N. Y., by a party of unknown men in the year 1826. He had announced his intention of publishing a book on what he alleged were the secrets of Masonry. A National Anti-Masonic political party was created as a result of this abduction. It held one convention and afterward disappeared.

William Walker, American soldier of fortune, who led an expedition into Central America to annex Nicaragua to the United States, was executed at Truxillo, Honduras, in the year 1860.

"POTENTIAL" MARKETS

BY THOMAS A. FORD

There has been some loose talk in the past few years about the trade possibilities with Asia and Latin America. Enthusiastic writers have pointed out the vast populations and their potential buying power that lie in that great area commonly referred to as the Orient.

Another group of writers and publicists have emphasized the Latin-American countries as a field for the developing of trade.

Looked at casually, the arguments made by these writers are apparently sound. The opportunities they speak of undoubtedly exist, but in order to develop the opportunities we always find that there is a condition precedent. That condition is capital. We must invest capital in these regions if we would share in this vast potential trade. One slogan that has become popular is that "Trade follows the loan." Fine! So it does.

Take the case of China to pass from generalities to a specific instance. China has a population of approximately 400,000,000 people, one British statistician has placed the figure at 900,000,000. That looks good to the merchant with goods to sell. It's a wide market, to be sure. But? Ah! that but is like the proverbial "if." These same writers go on and tell us that if we are to share in this great market we must first invest or loan or in some way provide China with the capital to develop her transportation system, her mines, her farms and other facilities that tend to develop that gigantic mass of natural but undeveloped resources that China is so lavishly endowed with.

As a matter of fact, China as a nation is in about the same position that an old prospector would be in if he had discovered a vast deposit of some valuable mineral like coal or copper or iron or gold.

He had at the time of discovery just enough capital to do his assessment work, survey his claims and secure a patent, but, his funds running out, there he sits, about as effective as an old hen on a setting of china eggs. Nothing happens. His great prospective mines are of no value to him or the world.

They will be of no value until some man or group of men with ample capital to develop his claims come along and put up the coin. Now these men who are to do the financing want the lion's share. In most cases old prospectors are stubborn.

It may be pointed out that when Americans or Englishmen have attempted to invest in or loan money to China for development they have found China just about as stubborn as the old prospector. She, or her governing heads, refuse to give concessions that will put the financiers in command and so a great deal of time and energy is wasted and China remains undeveloped and still what we call a "potential" market for the world's goods in any great quantities.

The same condition exists in Latin America. Of course, there is no such vast population in that region, but the population there is much more valuable in proportion to numbers than the population of China because they have a somewhat higher standard of living and their wants are greater in proportion.

Now with all the noise that has been made about these "potential" markets, the chief value of which is in the future, would it not be wise for us to stop and consider the one great market that for the last century has been our best commercial bet, namely, Europe.

No less authority than Secretary of Commerce Hoover has recently called attention to the fact that we as a nation of prospective foreign traders have been chasing rainbows in Asia and Latin America, while our real market has been sadly neglected. Europe is our best customer. Our trade with her consists mainly in raw materials, foodstuffs and other staple commodities. In discussing this Mr. Hoover makes this significant statement:

> The fact deserves emphasis that the European area is still the largest customer of the United States and that the policy just mentioned, which seems to be general in American organizations interested in developing our foreign business, may result in retarding its development.

The emphasis placed on exports to non-European fields, which is out of proportion to the actual volume of business done there, can, however, be explained. It does not lie only in the general supposition on the part of Americans that our trade with Latin America and the Far East is a growing trade in expanding countries with increasing standards of living whereas European trade has already been developed in past decades.

While figures are always dull reading it may not be amiss to quote a few here to emphasize what Mr. Hoover says. Taking our trade as a whole, which, of course, means exports and imports, our total trade with the world from 1913 to the end of the year 1922 has roughly amounted to $49,000,000,000 of exports and $28,000,000,000 of imports, or a total world trade of approximately $77,000,000,000 for the period. Of this our trade with the United Kingdom, Spain, France, Germany, Italy and Russia amounted to $31,000,000,000, while with Japan, China, South America, Central America and Panama it only reached about $16,000,000,000, or about 2,000,000,000 less than our actual exports to the United Kingdom during the period covered.

This does not take into consideration the trade with such countries as Belgium, Holland, Austria, the various Balkan states as they were before the war or since the war and many other smaller countries such as Switzerland and Norway and Sweden, which would bring up the ... pean trade to a ... How it looks to Mars
[From the Martian "Observer."]
First indications of what may develop into a war between the nations on Earth such as almost destroyed the Martian race in the sixth century are noted by Martian students. Most startling are evidences of inequalities which have existed since the beginning of the Martian race are being challenged and the courts are upholding the challengers.
In short, two Los Angeles men have been awarded alimony. And one of them did not sue for divorce, but only for separate maintenance, as his wife has a good job.
For centuries Earth men have known they had all the best of it because their women perpetually told them so. In their secret times it was the women who had to patiently sit at home, busy with the beads the men had given them and waving away fraternizing insects with the plumes the men had brought them, while the men enjoyed the thrills of battle out and fighting tigers for the finest meat.
Conditions have changed greatly, and now men go to work to make their kills. But fundamentally conditions appear, from one angle, to be much the same.
The old theory was that it was the duty of the men to provide and protect and for their wives and the children. The men, in most cases, still are doing their duty, but a great many of the women have turned to more remunerative things, political, canine and otherwise. But they now admit, even more frequently than did their mothers and great-grandmothers, that men have all the best of it.
In the United States men outnumber so much the best of it that there are about three times as many widows as widowers. Presumably it is the greater mental strain women endure which strengthens them against breaking down, or they are born weaker and less adapted during than men.
Women generally are so fundamentally conscious of the inferiority practices they suffer that this knowledge effort of men to claim equal privilege is sure to cause trouble. The judges who have upheld their contention are daring men who will be lucky if they lose no more than their jobs, though the women's fight only begin by getting more into politics. But the irrepressible conflict surely seems looming on Earth's far horizon.
We can only hope that before it breaks Earth will be nearly civilized enough to work out something like the Perfect Equality League, which Martian nations created by the Treaty of Vare-Si. That treaty was all that saved Mars. But the nations which signed that treaty are bound by it and never think of setting aside for private grafts or profiteering—a thing which doesn't seem to be true, as yet, of Earth treaties.

Will You Look Like All The Rest?

All the world of women divides itself into two classes when it comes to clothes—those who are leaders, and those who follow.

Being a leader looks like extravagance, unless you have unlimited means. But it's really the very best type of economy. Because a well-chosen new mode lasts as long as the fabric. . . . But the followers' modes are on the way out before their wearers buy them. And so they're discarded, half-worn.

Vogue is the magazine for leaders, the magazine that doesn't wait a whole month between its appearances—because the mode never waits. Vogue is published in French in Paris, and is looked upon as an authority in the very center of fashion. Vogue is published on the same date in America, giving the American woman the Paris viewpoint.

Have you given yourself and your clothes the benefit of Vogue's advice? Or are you still depending on what a friend says—or the shops show—or the newspapers report—or your own inner consciousness suggests—when you plan your winter wardrobe?

Two dollars will bring you Vogue's advice for three whole seasons—autumn, winter, and a forecast of spring. . . . Is there any other expert whose services you could retain for the price of the last handkerchief you bought—and lost?

In My Garden

By Jesse A. Currey

If you were among the fortunate ones who had a lily given to you last Easter and then, after it had ceased flowering plunged it in the garden, it is now time to take it up and re-pot it. After you do this, plunge the pot in a cold frame and give it a covering of a couple of inches of manure, leaving the cold frame open unless there should happen to be very severe weather after the growth has started. When the new growth is about two inches high, take the pot from the cold frame and carry it into the house, giving it first a dark place, until the tender new growth has had an opportunity to harden. The whitish growth will soon turn to a good rich green and then the plant can be moved into a strong light, but continue to keep it in a cool room and see that it is well watered but not allowed to stand in water. A temperature of 60 degrees is better than one higher. If given this treatment your lily will reward you with flowers next spring.

GLADYS MAY

An Indianapolis woman had chided her colored maid for coming late to work one morning and the maid's excuse was that she had to see the new baby that had arrived at her niece's house the day before.

"I can't tell you how smart my niece is," she said. "Why she's so smart you know she named that baby Gladys May. So glad to have her and she came in May."—[Indianapolis News.

NEW FIGHT ON ARROYO THREATENS

Company Asks Permit to Operate Rock Crushers in Forbidden Area

Renewal of the battle to keep the commercial rock crushers out of the Arroyo Seco was threatened yesterday at the City Hall following the receipt of an offer from H. M. Hawley of the Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company to give the city right of way for the Pasadena-Los Angeles scenic highway through the Arroyo in return for the right to operate his rock crusher from Avenue 20 to a point near Sycamore Grove.

Mr. Hawley also offers in exchange for the rock crushing permit to build concrete flood control walls in the river channel, and also offers to sell the city at half-price rock, sand and gravel required for the scenic highway. The Hawley letter was referred to the Council's committee of the whole. To date the Council has refused permission for the commercial rock crushers to operate in the Arroyo.

DIET FOR CHILDREN—AND—ADULTS

ACNE, CONTINUED

It is usually found that girls and boys suffering with acne are heavy eaters of candy, rich deserts, greasy and fried foods, and they are often excessive meat eaters. All of these habits, of course, must be stopped, not only to control the acne, but for the safeguarding of the general health.

When I spoke of the digestion of fats, I told you that if there is an imperfect digestion of fats this may irritate the skin. Excess eating for the needs—by causing excess putrefaction in the colon, with the resulting absorption of the putrefactive produces—is often manifested in the skin. Tea coffee, alcohol and nicotine are on the list of things which must be omitted.

Special attention must be given to elimination, so the diet should be such that a good evacuation of the bowels is produced at least once a day, and preferably two or three times. We have an article on constipation which you may have by observing the rules of the column. But please do not forget to address the return envelope yourself or, much as I regret it, we cannot promise to send you the article.

Some of the things which you may do as a home treatment for this condition are:

(1) A thorough scrubbing with laundry soap two or three times a week.

(2) Steam the face after the scrub, and extract the blackheads with a clean comedome extractor (they are inexpensive)—never with dirty fingers, as that only makes the blackheads worse.

(3) Open up the postules (pimples) with a sterilized needle and squeeze out the pus gently. Follow this with another steaming and an application of peroxide to kill off the wandering germs and others. (Strong boric acid solution, two teaspoons to a cup of hot water, is a good antiseptic. A compress wrung out of this solution can be laid on the face at night also.

(4) Sulphur ointment may be used after the scrubbing and steaming in bad cases.

(5) Sometimes the pimples (before they break) can be treated once or twice a day with the following phrenique lotion: Phrenique is a combination of pho-phrenique acid in water and carbolic acid in alcohol. Ask your druggist will put it up for you.

(6) Correct diet, plenty of exercise every day, the elimination of any faulty health habits combined with the above treatment—this ought to clear the skin.

If it doesn't, consult a dermatologist, a specialist in skin troubles. Sometimes X-ray treatments work wonderfully.

Tomorrow: Acne and freckles.

My dear Mrs. Peters: What is the matter with my face? I have a number of pimples and blackheads on it. I have been using a facial soap but it seems to irritate my skin. Please tell me what to do.—Mrs. A. B.

Answer: Wash your face with a mild soap and water and rinse in clear water. Then apply a lotion made of one teaspoonful of boric acid to a cup of water. Use this as often as you wish. Do not use any cosmetics.

RECORD PRISON SENTENCE GIVEN IN NARCOTIC CASE

The severest sentence ever meted out to a drug peddler in the Los Angeles courts, was pronounced yesterday by United States Judge James, in sentencing Tony Obrego to six years in the Federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island.

Obrego is said to be one of the most notorious violators of the Harrison Narcotic Act in Los Angeles and recently served six months on a similar charge.

After sentence was passed, Obrego declared that after he had served his term, he would kill the officers who convicted him.

EDNA PENNINGTON GIVEN DAMAGES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Edna Pennington, well-known motion-picture actress, was yesterday granted damages of $1638.85 in her suit against Norman Manning for $26,500, brought in Judge Craig's court.

Miss Pennington testified that on May 26, 1920, Manning employed her to appear in a Hollywood parade, with the understanding that he was to furnish transportation to and from her home.

In returning home after the parade, Miss Pennington said, Manning drove recklessly and carelessly, and the car overturned at the corner of Los Feliz street and Western avenue, causing her severe injuries, from which she did not recover sufficiently to resume her acting for more than a year.

NAGGED SEVEN YEARS, WIFE GIVEN DIVORCE

Her husband nagged her continually for almost the whole of the seven years they had lived together, Mildred Clark told Judge Willis yesterday, in whose court she was suing Howard D. Clark for divorce. Finally she got tired of it and told him she was going for a few weeks' respite to visit some friends in San Francisco.

"G'wan then," she declared he said, with an evil glint in his eye. "I hope you get drowned in the bay." Howard denied having said this. "I might have said 'I hope you fall in the bay,' though, just as a joke, your honor."

"We lay jokes and fun aside in a divorce court," replied the judge, and granted Mrs. Clark an interlocutory decree.

HEAD HUNTERS' LIFE DESCRIBED

Globe-Trotters Tell of Trip Among Jievaros

Never Fight Among Selves; Courteous to Whites

Relics From Among Natives Being Shown Here

After a period of exploration in the wilds of South America, including residence for several months among the Jievaro Indians near the headwaters of the Amazon, one of the least-known among savage tribes, George Sullivan and W. O. Dales, globe-trotters and adventurers, are now in Los Angeles conducting an exhibition at the Ambassador, consisting of various objects of interest, weapons, articles of wearing apparel and other things collected by Mr. Sullivan during his stay with these natives.

Through a strange coincidence, the two men, both of whom have traveled extensively in South America, met for the first time in Los Angeles. They fell into conversation by accident at the recent Monroe Centennial Exposition and it soon developed that they had both visited the same places in the South American jungle, and had lived among the same tribes, though at different times. They started almost immediately to lay plans for a joint expedition to South America, on which they will embark this fall.

HEAD-HUNTING SAVAGES

The Jievaro Indians belong to the so-called head-hunting class of savages, and have been generally regarded as among the most bloodthirsty of the uncivilized tribes found on earth today.

"But that is a mistake," said Mr. Sullivan, who has lived among these Indians and studied their ways for months. "It is true that they collect the heads of their slain enemies and also that they are bad Indians to stir up. But they are quite peaceful among themselves, and if a white man goes among them without showing any disposition to harm them, they will treat him with every courtesy at their command, and if he performs any service for them by virtue of his superior knowledge, they will make him a chief and will not let him get away."

INHABIT JUNGLE

The territory of the Jievaros occupies the eastern point of Equador, the northeast corner of Peru and a strip in Western Brazil. It embraces hundreds of square miles of impenetrable jungle, traversed by means of the numerous streams, tributaries of the Amazon, flowing through this region. The Indian villages are situated on the banks of these streams and are many miles apart. The village visited by Mr. Sullivan was located on the Napo River and was some 500 miles distant from the nearest outpost of civilization.

"I shall never forget my reception when I first came among the Jievaros," Mr. Sullivan said. "I was accompanied by only one man, an Indian from Quito, who knew the language of these Indians and who served as interpreter. All the natives disappear in the jungle on the approach of a stranger, except the Chief who comes forward to reconnoiter.

MADE TO FEEL AT HOME

"He looked us over sharply for weapons and finding that we were apparently unarmed he finally came up to me, placed both hands on my shoulders and rubbed his nose against my chin. This was a sign that he thought I was all right. Later he took a piece of cooked deer meat and after cutting it in two offered me one piece while he ate the other. When I had finished the meat I was given to understand that I was a guest of the village and should make myself at home.

"The village was built in the form of a rectangle, with a boathouse at one end and grass huts on each side, one group of dwellings being reserved for women and the other for the men. I indicated my preference for a hut situated on the river bank, because I thought I might want to make a quick get-away, and here I lived during my entire stay with the Jievaros."

BRINGS HEAD BACK

Among the rarest and most interesting objects brought back by Mr. Sullivan from his visit among these Indians is the dried and shrunken head of a woman who once held an important position among the Jievaros as their principal dancer. This head is less than a third the normal size and its thick, black hair still retains its original luster. The color of the face is a dead black, though all the features have been retained to such an extent that it is easy to see what this woman must have looked like in life.

THIRTEEN PLEAD TO WRIGHT ACT CHARGE

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hyman and eleven others pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiracy to violate the Wright Act, appearing in Superior Court before Judge Keetch, and Sam Zusman, a fourteenth joined in the charge, failed to appear. A bench warrant was issued for Zusman and Judge Keetch set the sentence of the others for the 14th inst.

Prosecutor Hears Two New Witnesses But Virtually Nothing Additional is Learned

The grand jury investigation into charges that Police Commissioner De Coo is financially interested in the Madison Square boxing arena, a negro fight club, has been continued until tomorrow.

Two witnesses appeared before the grand jury yesterday, but, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stafford, their evidence was practically worthless. The two witnesses were Henry Borkschat, who has a lease on the land on which the arena is located, and Charles B. Watkins, a negro contractor, who erected the arena.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE

Watkins denied all knowledge of De Coo's business dealings and very little was learned from Borkschat. At the conclusion of the grand jury session Mr. Stafford announced that he knew no more than he did before.

In the meantime, investigators for the District Attorney's office are continuing their inspection of the books and records of the De Coo-Brainerd Lumber Company in the hope of obtaining additional evidence and determining who is the owner of the boxing arena and the site on which it is located.

Commissioner De Coo asked to be excused yesterday when the Police Commission started its investigation of the Madison Square boxing arena, conducted by the Pacific Coast Amusement Association. The commissioner said since the asserted sales of lumber to the promoters by his company had been challenged he would prefer not to vote on whether the boxing permit should be renewed or revoked, and the other members excused him. The hearing was continued to Friday, when Fred Windsor, one of the officials of the fight club, will produce his books.

FIGHT FOR NOTHING

The request for the books came when the Mayor asked how the fighters were compensated. Windsor denied they were paid. Asked about medals, he said the boxers had been given none as yet.

"What!" said the Mayor. "They don't get any money or even medals?"

Windsor said this was the case. The commission told him to bring in his books and prove it.

Police Captain Adams, who joined Chief Vollmer in a request that the permit be revoked, testified he visited the arena the night Sam Langford was supposed to fight. He said the arena was very crowded, was unsuitably arranged for the comfort and safety of the crowd, was a fire hazard and tied up traffic.

There was a near-riot at the arena the night Capt. Adams visited it, he said, which followed the stopping of the bout in which Langford was to appear.

FIRE LOSS ON VESSEL IS $250,000

Amount Will be Borne Proportionately by All American's Shippers

The damage to the cargo of the 10,000-ton freighter American from the fire which broke out in her hold Monday afternoon was placed at $250,000 by Fred Mills, local agent for the American-Hawaiian Line, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Mills stated that the loss will be apportioned among the shippers.

Of the thirty fire fighters overcome in battling with the blaze in the vessel's hold but one is still in the hospital. He is J. A. Paul, hoseman on Los Angeles fireboat No. 1. His eyes and lungs are affected, it was said by physicians, although his case is not serious. The other firemen have recovered.

The water with which the vessel was flooded in the fight with the fire is being pumped from the hold. Some of the water found its way into the engine-room and the shaft, and it is believed that some also seeped into hold No. 1, causing further damage to the cargo. The fire was centered in holds Nos. 2 and 3. Calls for bids for repairing the damage have been issued by the American-Hawaiian Line. These repairs probably will take several weeks.

"Hear you got a new car. Does she rattle?"

"Rattle? I'll say she rattles—sounds like a skeleton having a chill on a tin roof."

Commissioner Daugherty Hits at Exploiters

Colorado Man is Cited in Federal Report

Government to Aid State in Prosecuting

The first gun in the campaign against projects regarded by the State Corporation Commission as "wild-cat" and exploited in California through the mails, was fired yesterday when Commissioner E. M. Daugherty filed a report with the Federal authorities concerning Charles H. Saunders of Denver, Colo. Action by the Federal authorities against Saunders, it is said, is expected to follow immediately.

The report was submitted in accordance with the policy recently adopted by the California Corporation Commission to eliminate from this State undesirable projects operating in other States but selling stock here.

The report covers investigations by the State Department of oil projects advertised throughout California by the Denver man, but which are not within the confines of California, this fact placing him and his projects outside the jurisdiction of the California commission.

Saunders, the report states, is flooding the State of California with letters and circulars, advertising the sale of units in one of his projects located in Oklahoma.

Referring to the report yesterday, Commissioner Daugherty stated:

"The investigation of 'wild-cat' oil companies has been greatly aided through the co-operation between State and Federal authorities. The reason is that the Federal authorities are authorized to investigate and prosecute companies in any State in the Union, while the authority of the State officials extends only as far as the boundaries of the State.

"Saunders's project is capitalized at 10,000 units, of the face value of $20 each, and his letters are to the effect that he is reserving to a few, select people a certain number of units—to let them in on the ground floor of his proposition. The advertisements very vividly picture wells which are in large production and contain exaggerated statements, in large, red-inked type, regarding the millions of dollars to be made in oil."

In keeping with the policy recently adopted the Corporation Commission proposes to move against all projects regarded in the same light as the Saunders project is looked upon, Commissioner Daugherty hopes, through a vigorous campaign, to rid California of all undesirable projects within a short time.

FARCE ACTORS FACE JUDGE

"Getting Gertie's Garter" Cast Seeks to Show That Comedy is Decent; Testimony Completed

The farce comedy, "Getting Gertie's Garter," went on the dissecting table yesterday in Police Judge James Pope's court. Each giggle, grin, smirk and gasp on the part of the audience was subjected to a microscopic examination to determine its whys and wherefores. The cause was the trial of Frank Egan, producer, and nine members of the cast on a charge of presenting an indecent performance.

Testimony was completed yesterday afternoon and the case continued until 1 p.m. today, when arguments will be heard.

The situations and lines, which the audience thought so funny, and in which the actors showed much pride, turned out to be tragic. When the lines, which City Prosecutor Jack Friedlander asserts are improper for Angeleno ears, were read into the court record, devoid of the atmosphere of the theater, there was nothing at all humorous about them. They were very heavy, and fell flatly on ears of the court.

LIST OF DEFENDANTS

Besides Mr. Egan, the defendants are: Misses Florence Printy, Hazel Buckham, Marjorie Bennett, Gwen Burroughs and Messrs. Fred Cummings, William Burress, Brady Kline, Frank Glenden and Nathan Bhindell. They were defended by Attorneys Duke Stone, J. C. Scarborough and W. M. Bowen. Mrs. Alice McGill assisted Mr. Friedlander. The performance was halted last week pending the outcome of the case.

The scene which particularly outraged Mr. Friedlander's sense of decency transpired in a set which represented a barn with a hayloft, two barrels, an oatbin and a Ford automobile body. The assiduous pursuit of the garter and the ladies of the cast on the part of the gentlemen actors, was described in considerable detail by Investigator Thomas Foss, who swore to the complaint; Mrs. Aletha Gilbert and Mrs. Dean Harris, city mothers, and J. E. Monlux, deputy superintendent of city schools.

The main trend of the plot, according to witnesses, was a series of compromising situations. Husbands and wives, it seemed, had an unfortunate habit of discovering their spouses in positions which gave no grounds for doubt. The escapades of Pattie and Billie, which carried them from the barrels to the auto body, where Pattie disrobed to dry her clothes, to the loft and in the oatbin, were the principal subjects of discourse.

The statement that "two rooms in a roadhouse are unnecessary when one will do just as well," quoted by the witnesses, was another evidence, according to the prosecution, of the play's indecency. The disappearance of the garter while on the person of the French maid, the hunt for it and its eventual recovery from the young lady, with the assistance and strange behavior of "Ken," was for sometime a topic of discussion. While testifying concerning this incident, Mr. Foss, who is a portly gentleman approaching middle age, was asked to give a dramatic representation of the maid's actions. He did so, while the cast watched him with an appearance of professional jealousy.

MISQUOTING CHARGED

Mr. Egan and Mr. Burress, the stage director, were the only witnesses presented by the defense. Each sought to put on the lines and situations a construction different from that advanced by the prosecution. In a number of instance it was asserted by the witnesses that the lines had not been correctly quoted by witnesses for the city, who relied on memory and notes made at the time.

Judge Pope was interested particularly in the meaning which the contested lines were intended to convey. He was told by Mr. Egan and Mr. Burress that there was no intention to shock the morals of the city, and that the situations were the most innocent. In answer to several specific questions by Judge Pope concerning dialogue, which, in the play was rich in humor, Mr. Egan replied that "comedy and a hearty laugh" was the only intent for which the cast was striving.

CHAPTER 17
Selling Stolen Cars

If the thief who stole your car went out and tried to sell it without disguising it, the first policeman who saw your license number on it would pick him up.

If he advertised it for sale through the papers, an investigator who inspects all such cars would look at the engine number and learn instantly that it was stolen property. Or if these numbers had been changed, the owner might identify it through some equipment on it.

Individual thieves very seldom go into the business of disguising stolen cars unless they are attached to some garage or are working for some fence. Certain gangs, on the other hand, do maintain their plants for this purpose.

As a rule, however, the thief races with his machine to the shop of some "fence" and sells his find out of hand. These "fences" may be curbstone brokers, big, reputable dealers who buy stolen stuff surreptitiously, second-hand joints, wrecking firms or machine shops. They are equipped to dismantle a car in a few hours, drill out identification numbers and insert others, shift tires, change accessories to other cars and repaint the entire body if necessary, almost before the owner has had time to notify the authorities.

While the officers on the beat are being given the number of the stolen car and are told to look out for it, the automobile already has been changed beyond recognition, so that it might safely pass in review before the entire detective bureau and not be spotted.

The next trick that must be turned is to secure a license which will have all the earmarks of genuineness.

I have already explained several methods employed.

Another trick of the thief is to buy an old wreck of a machine for $25 or $50 and have the title and license transferred to him legally. Say that he secures a license for a 1910 Rattlemobile. Through this license the State has in a way insured his rightful title to the car.

The thief goes out and steals a brand new 1923 Rattlemobile, worth perhaps $5000. He changes his license from the 1910 car to correspond to an up-to-date car. He cuts new engine numbers and factory numbers on the $5000 machine and fills in the old numbers with metal. In the meantime he has buried his 1910 model or dumped it in the river or bay.

With the stolen $5000 car equipped with State credentials, he can sell it readily enough and not even the owner of the new Rattlemobile would be able to point his finger at his former possession and say:

"This is my car."

If the thief cannot get a legitimate license, his next best bet is to steal the license numbers from some stored car which is not in use and throw away the license plates for which every officer on his beat is looking.

Of course, if it is the intention of the thief to get his cars out of the country immediately, a disguise may be unnecessary. Two reputable dealers operating in Tacoma and Seattle, Wash., bought stolen machines, merely took the license plates off of them, loaded them onto a boat and shipped them to the Island of Java, where they found a ready market through a confidential agent.

Thousands of stolen cars are taken over the Canadian and Mexican borders annually with only the license plates changed. Mexico is the mecca for the automobile thief because the United States cannot extradite the criminal. It is estimated that more than 100 cars a month go over the international bridge at El Paso alone, and Douglas, Nogales, Eagle Pass, Mexicali and Tijuana are not slighted in this regard.

Organized rings with headquarters in dives just across the Mexican line conduct marauding expeditions into the United States, steal a large number of automobiles and escape with them into a land of outlawry again.

Once a car is taken into Mexico it is impossible to recover it. A San Jose (Cal.) man traced his automobile to Chihuahua, Mex., but the thief boldly defied him and the Mexican authorities refused to act. An adventurous youth said he could get that car for $200 and made a dash to the border with it, only to be captured and imprisoned. His sentence was stayed at the request of diplomatic authorities.

Tomorrow—"Beating the Automobile Thief."

The Bond Great West Clothing Co.

Jealous Suitor Blamed in Fight at Hotel Party

Jealousy for another man who interrupted her friendship with Bernard Richie was blamed by Miss Maizie Burgasser yesterday for the behavior of Richie at a party in the Jean Hotel, 840 South Flower street, two weeks ago. On her complaint of disturbing the peace Richie was put under a $3000 bond by Justice Baird yesterday to preserve the peace.

The girl told Detective George Smith that she went with other young people to a party in the rooms of John Fetty at the hotel. She said Richie suddenly appeared at the party, drew a knife, and threatened to kill or injure Fetty and the girl.

Fetty got a pistol, and the two men struggled together for possession of the gun, which went off without hurting anybody. Somebody turned in a riot call, and the party was ended by the police.

AGED FILM ACTRESS IS DEAD HERE

Mrs. Townsend Won Fame by Grandmother Roles With Harold Lloyd

Mrs. Anna Townsend, 79 years of age, who won recognition in the role of the grandmother in Harold Lloyd's comedy, "Grandma's Boy," died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. G. Schreiber, 2233 West Twenty-first street.

Mrs. Townsend was well known to motion-picture fans throughout the world, having played character parts with Harold Lloyd, Jackie Coogan, Harry Carey and several other leading actors of the screen.

The aged actress was taken ill during a trip through Yosemite National Park about two months ago. She returned to Los Angeles several weeks ago and her health continued to fail, the end coming yesterday morning.

Mrs. Townsend came to Los Angeles from Utica, N. Y., her birthplace, in 1885, but it was not until the latter part of 1919 that she began playing small parts in motion pictures.

Mrs. Townsend leaves only her daughter, who is the wife of Col. W. G. Schreiber. She was an active member of the Logan Post of the Women's Relief Corps, Grand Army of the Republic.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 3 p.m. at the chapel of the Los Angeles Crematory, Sixteenth and Grover streets. Rev. William MacCormick, dean of All Saints' Cathedral, will officiate.

DECREES OF NEW COURT IN BALANCE

If Long Beach Branch is Illegal, Decisions Also Would be Invalid

"A decision of the Supreme Court declaring the Long Beach Court unconstitutional," said Judge Paul Burks yesterday, "might and in all likelihood would affect the validity of every decision handed down by that court. This applies not only to decisions regarding property rights but also to divorce decrees granted and such a conclusion arrived at by the Supreme Court might ultimately affect the legitimacy of children.

"A test case bringing into question the constitutionality of the Long Beach court might easily be devised. A man might be brought before the court for violation of a penal statute and, if convicted, sentenced to the penitentiary. His attorneys might then sue for a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court on the ground that a sentence made by the Long Beach court is invalid."

The Long Beach court was established under a legislative act which provides that such a court may be located in a city of a population of over 50,000, in a county of the first class, provided the municipal hall of the city is at a distance of not less than fifteen miles from the County Courthouse.

An opinion recently made public by County Counsel E. T. Bishop suggests that the enactment may be unconstitutional because it appears to be a special law of a nature prohibited by the State Constitution.

INCOME TAX DRIVE OPENS ON DODGERS

Two Days Remain to Pay Third Installment; Realty Profits Checked Over

United States Collector of Internal Revenue Goodcell began two intensive drives yesterday; one for the collection of the third installment of the income taxes, which will be due on the 15th inst.; the other against taxpayers who neglected to include in their income tax returns for 1920, 1921 and 1922 profit realized from the sale of real estate.

Forty thousand taxpayers are meeting their annual tax bill on the part-payment plan. More than 190,000 met their taxes in full on March 15. It is not believed that any other district in the United States holds such a record. Income receipts for the calendar year 1923 up to the 1st inst., were $23,758,796, compared with $19,702,955 for the same period of 1922, an increase of $4,055,840.

Collector Goodcell thinks that the failure of many taxpayers to include real estate profit in their returns was due to an erroneous interpretation of the revenue laws. He suggests that they file amended returns.

A check of the real estate transfers of the entire district has been made, and these are now being checked against income tax returns for 1920, 1921 and 1922. Where the taxpayer does not voluntarily disclose items of profit that were omitted, full penalties will be exacted. Prompt and voluntary payment will save them thousands of dollars.

DOCTOR IS HONORED

Albert Soiland Chosen Honorary Member of Radiology Society

Dr. Albert Soiland was recently elected to an honorary membership in the Northern Society of Medical Radiology. It was learned yesterday. This society is composed of physicians and surgeons in the Scandinavian countries — Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland.

The next meeting of the northern medical body will be held at Helsingfors, Finland, during September, 1925. Dr. Soiland has been invited to address the assembly during the coming session.

DRIVER FACES CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Mrs. Patience Akers of Glendale in an automobile accident February 25 last, A. R. Daniels went on trial yesterday in Judge Shenk's court. The case will continue today. Witnesses declared Daniels turned the corner of Seventh street and Western avenue, Glendale, at forty miles an hour and crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Akers, and containing her husband and children. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke is prosecuting.

OESTERREICH TRIAL DATE IS POSTPONED

The trial of Walter Oesterreich, charged with the murder of her husband, Fred Oesterreich, wealthy garment manufacturer, was postponed yesterday by Judge Reeve to October 15 on account of the trial of Judge Reeve's brother, Dominguez, who is charged with complicity in the murder. Oesterreich, who asked the postponement, is on trial for his life in the slaying of his wife to obtain

SISTERS AS SISTERS

JANE AND EVA NOVAK BOTH IN METRO PRODUCTION

By Edwin Schallert

They are sisters on the screen, as well as in real life—Jane and Eva Novak, and it's the first time that this has ever happened. So the experience of seeing them together promises unusual novelty in the production "The Man Whom Life Passed By," in which they are both now cast. The feature is being directed by Victor Schertzinger, and the two girls were signed yesterday by Milton E. Hoffman, Metro's production manager.

They will have as their leading men Percy Marmont and Cullen Landis. That is, Jane will be made love to by Percy, and Eva by Cullen. Jane, of course, has drawn the leading feminine role. She's had more experience than her sister, and is more suited to this heroine.

Others in the cast are Lydia Knott, Lincoln Steadman, Gertrude Short and Andre Beranger.

Jane Novak has just completed "Jealous Fools" for Maurice Tourneur, while one of Eva's latest pictures was "Making a Man," in which she played opposite Jack Holt.

UNIVERSAL SPEED THE FALL SCHEDULE

The whirr of cameras will be heavy on the air of Universal City soon, for the fall season of production is now on full blast. Preparing for work now is Director Hobart Henley, who, having recently finished the filmization of Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Lady of Quality," is about ready to begin on "The Turmoil" from a novel by Booth Tarkington. The players selected already include George Hackathorne, Eileen Percy and Emmett Corrigan.

No casting has yet been done for "The Signal Tower," written by Wadsworth Camp. The picture will be directed by Clarence L. Brown, who recently finished "The Acquittal," adapted from the Rita Weiman play.

Other pictures that, it is announced, will be in the making before the end of the week are "Wyoming," starring Jack Hoxie, with Robert North Bradbury directing; "All for the Love of Gloria," starring Herbert Rawlinson, Robert Hill directing; "The Thrill Girl," with Gladys Walton to be bright-lighted. Herbert Blache is making this last.

Hoot Gibson is also about ready to begin on "Hook and Ladder," his new production from an original story by Edward Sedgwick, who will direct.

Under way now are "My Mamie Rose," starring Mary Philbin; "The Right to Love," Baby Peggy picture; and "The Spice of Life," with Reginald Denny featured.

TRIP TO DESERT WAS HOT STUFF

"We are just back from hell."

Those were the first words spoken by Erich Von Stroheim, who returned yesterday from Death Valley, where he has been completing "Greed," for the Goldwyn organization. The hottest time of the year was selected for the making of the scenes in the midst of the burning desert.

Twenty-four persons composed the party returning with Von Stroheim, and their faces, tanned by a month in the relentless sun, bespoke the hardships they had undergone.

The company left here August 5. They traveled by automobiles, on burros and on foot. They all survived the predictions that some mishap would occur if Von Stroheim took them into that rarely penetrated region.

Principals who took part in the scenes made on the location were Gibson Gowland and Jean Hersholt. The sequence photographed is where McTeague faces death by slow starvation after he has been accidentally handcuffed to the man he has killed.

Beside the company which went out from here, there were about fifteen cowboys, burro drivers, auto-truck drivers and guides who accompanied them on the desert trip.

Florence Vidor Busy

Florence Vidor stepped onto the studio stage for the first time yesterday in Ernst Lubitsch's production of "The Marriage Circle." The work heretofore has been done by the other members of the cast, Adolphe Menjou, Warner Baxter and Creighton Hale, but Miss Vidor's role is none the less important and will last longer than some of the others.

Bill Hart's Cast

The cast of William S. Hart's picture, "Wild Bill Hickok," is now virtually complete, various players having been added since the start of production. Best known in the support are Ethel Grey Terry, who portrays "Calamity Jane," an unusual character type, Kathleen O'Connor, James Farley, Jack Gardner, William Dyer, Carl Gerard, Bert Sprotte and Herschel Mayall. Two new-comers of prominence are Naida Carle and Leo Willis.

Outside of Jack Gardner, who plays Bat Masterson, early frontier characters engaged in upholding the law are portrayed by men who are unknown to screen fame, but who are exceptionally suited to their characters. These include Bert Lindley as Wyatt Earp, H. M. Dudgeon as Charlie Bassett, Joseph Ray as Bill Tighlman and Charles Brinley as Doc Halliday.

Remaining to be chosen are those who will appear as Abraham Lincoln, Gen. Phil Sheridan and Gen. Custer. The star is making an especial effort to secure just the right people.

The picture is being directed by Clifford S. Smith, who made many of Bill Hart's early westerns.

Tarkington Heroine

Bessie Love will have the lead in "Gentle Julia," to be made at the William Fox West Coast studios, under the direction of Rowland V. Lee. The picture is an adaptation of Booth Tarkington's novel of the same name.

Author Watches Story

To confer with Director Victor Fleming on the production of "The Call of the Canyon," Zane Grey, the American novelist, left yesterday for Flagstaff, Ariz. Mr. Fleming and the members of the cast have been in the vicinity of Flagstaff during the last two weeks making scenes for the feature in the exact spots described in the Grey novel, and the reason the author is keeping such close touch with the production is owing to the desire to preserve the identical spirit of the original, as was done in "To the Last Man."

Gumps Here Soon

The Gumps, famous cartoon strips have been animated and will be shown on the screen next week at Loew's State Theater. The first of the comedies is entitled "Watch Papa." The entire cast of the comedy will appear in person at the theater in a five-minute prologue written by Thomas Grey. The leading players are Fay Tincher who plays Minn, and Joe Murphy, the Andy of the feature.

Elaine Returns

Elaine Hammerstein's second starring picture, "The Drums of Jeopardy," an Edward Dillon production, will be started this week. The star returned yesterday from New York where she has been vacationing since last May. She will play a millionaire's daughter in the feature.

That the Ritz-Carlton film organization will have other stars beside Rodolph Valentino, for whose services they recently contracted, was made known in connection with the visit here of George Kleine, chairman of the board of directors and treasurer of the organization; J. D. Williams, president, and Harry Scott, manager of distribution. The company, it is stated, will concentrate on the united system of picture-making and present plans call for only eight to twelve features a year, to be made one at a time, to insure care in their production.

The Ritz-Carlton company will give special attention to the exploitation and distribution of its pictures, expending large sums of money in advertising and carrying on an intensive campaign. Instead of the familiar plan of giving first-run showings in a few of the larger cities, they will distribute many prints over a large territory, so that the service of distribution may in this way be made generally satisfactory. Thus, it is said, will they also assure themselves of a quick return. After one picture is released they will devote their entire attention to the one that is to follow.

The talk is that the first Valentino picture may be made abroad.

Brenon Arrives

With the intention of beginning work shortly on Pola Negri's next starring feature, Herbert Brenon yesterday returned from New York. Mr. Brenon went East to attend the wedding of his niece, Eileen St. John-Brenon.

DARK HUMOR

King Baggot has a colored namesake. A little pickaninny in Mobile, Ala., was recently christened King Baggot Jones with a great deal of pomp in the First African Methodist Church, and the Universal director, who used to be a popular matinee idol, has a photo from the proud mother. She wrote recently to Baggot and explained how he had always been her screen favorite, and that as a girl she had taken a vow that her first masculine offspring would be named after the hero of the silver sheet. And Baggot, entering into the spirit of the affair, sent the youngster a pair of mean dice, knowing that he will want to shoot craps when he grows up.

NAZIMOVA HEADLINER

Nazimova comes to the Orpheum next Monday. Her return to the speaking stage in Los Angeles brings to mind her first appearance in this country on the East Side of New York—the whole piece being done in Russian. Since that time, in 1914, she has become one of the leading actresses of the American stage as well as the film, which is no little accomplishment when one considers that it takes our own actresses a good many years to reach the same goal.

AGAIN AT CINDERELLA

Herb Wiedoeft and his orchestra will return to the Cinderella Roof the early part of this month, following a successful tour of the northern part of the State. In San Francisco they appeared at Loew's Warfield Theater, where they gave Bay City theater-goers a college education in the real meaning of symphonic jazz. Music critics were greatly surprised at the symphonic arrangements which the Wiedoeft orchestra uses for the modern jazz melodies. All these arrangements are written by Gene Rose, pianist-composer.

FOUR STARS COMBINE

Owen Moore, Sidney Chaplin, Sylvia Breamer and Tully Marshall are the "big four" in "Her Temporary Husband," a farce comedy being directed by John McDermott and now midway to completion at the United Studios, Hollywood.

Here's a Girl to Watch

Renee Adoree

Her effervescent portrayal in "The Eternal Struggle," to show next week at Loew's State, will keep your interest taut.

COWPUNCHER HERO IS ALWAYS A HERO

Sheiks may come and sheiks may go—but the motion-picture cowboy hero will apparently go on forever. However, it will be a different kind of rough rider who comes back across the silver sheet this season.

In "To the Last Man," the film production of Zane Grey's novel, which comes to the Cluna's Broadway Theater next Sunday, new types of cowboys will be shown. "To the Last Man" is the story of a feud between rival factions in Arizona, which was fought out literally to the last man. Many old-time cowboys take part in the film.

To Richard Dix, who plays the leading role in this photodrama, and Victor Fleming, the director, goes the credit for the introduction of this new type of screen hero. Beside Richard Dix, the featured players are Lois Wilson, Noah Beery, Robert Edeson and Frank Campeau.

ANOTHER JAMES CRUZE PRODUCTION

The story, the producer and the cast are notable in "Ruggles of Red Gap," to show at Grauman's Metropolitan beginning Saturday.

The picture is James Cruze's. It was adapted from the novel by Harry Leon Wilson and features Edward Horton, Lois Wilson, Ernest Torrence, Fritzi Ridgeway, Charles Ogle and Louise Dresser.

"The Marriage Maker," William De Mille's production, featuring Agnes Ayres, Jack Holt, Charles De Roche and others, will continue the chief attraction until Friday night. Other numbers on the current program are Theodore Kosloff's, Russian ballet, dancing "Valse Triste," and "Twenty Minutes on a Real Estate Tract near the Foothills of Hollywood," novelty act including Max Fisher and his jazz orchestra.

RENEE ADOREE NEW SPARKLER AT LOEW'S

A new star will shine next Saturday at the showing of the Reginald Barker production, "The Eternal Struggle," at Loew's State Theater. In this release Renee Adoree will claim a place in the ranks of the most promising of the younger talent, it is said. And while "The Eternal Struggle," will bring forth an entirely new and bright star one of the familiar ones will be seen, Earle Williams, for twelve years one of the most popular luminaries on the Vitagraph program. "The Eternal Struggle," is the first picture which Williams has made for any other film company except Vitagraph in the last twelve years.

The presentation of this Reginald Barker production, therefore, promises two interesting angles, at least, for film fans.

"EXTRA GIRL" WILL HAVE EARLY PREMIERE

Mabel Normand, in "The Extra Girl," is coming to the Mission Theater the 24th inst. She will have a role in which not only the merry elfin quality of her exquisite art will be given delightful play, but in which she will be able to reveal deeper and finer elements of acting.

This new production, featuring an original story by Mack Sennett, directed by F. Richard Jones, is a comedy-drama. Miss Normand's childhood pranks are said to be the life of the picture, as is her headstrong determination the bane of her father's (George Nichols) existence.

CAST FOR COSTUME ROLE

Lewis Dayton is busy these days preparing for his forthcoming portrayal of the judge in "Maud Miller," which starts production soon. Most important is the selection of the costumes for this leading role. A wide variety of the picturesque grab typical of the eighteenth century in England is worn, though modern apparel is also in evidence in the scenes of our days which are interwoven with those of the past. Mr. Dayton's appearance is particularly adapted to the courtly grace of the silks and laces prevalent in England's romantic days and he has been selected for type as well as for his dramatic ability.

SIGNS CONTRACT

Ben Alexander, the 11-year-old youngster whose Penrod in "Penrod and Sam" endeared him to every picture fan who was fortunate enough to see that brilliant epic of boyhood, has signed a long-term contract. His initial part will be in "Misunderstood," another Booth Tarkington story.

WILL DIRECT ROGERS

ROB WAGNER SIGNS UP WITH ROACH COMPANY

By Grace Kingsley

Rob Wagner yesterday signed a contract with Hal Roach to direct two reel comedies. His first assignment is the direction of Will Rogers, genius of political prattle, writer and brilliant monologist, as well as picture star and rope-twirler. Wagner will begin work Monday.

Will Rogers's Nifty

Speaking of Will Rogers—which people do a good deal, especially when referring to wise cracks—Rogers got off another nifty yesterday.

Coming into the studio and finding the weather too dark for picture making, he cocked his eye toward the place where the sun ought to be and exclaimed:

"Say, I think we have a better eclipse today than we had yesterday, and it wasn't billed either!"

Roach Signs Farina

The phenomenal career of Farina, dusky little star of Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, took another upward bound yesterday when General Manager Warren Doane of the Roach Studios signed a long-term contract for the screen services of the youngster who galloped into cinema fame before he could walk in real life.

Tom Mix Flits

Tom Mix and his wife have gone back to New York to view the Dempsey-Firpo fight. They will remain away about a month.

Barbara La Marr Soon

Bringing her new husband, Jack Daugherty, Barbara La Marr, who played the lead in "The Eternal City," over in Rome, is coming home to Hollywood. She will arrive here the 24th inst., and will at once begin work in "Dangerous Dan Megrue."

Mildred Puts One Over

After all, Mildred Davis didn't wait for her famous husband, Harold Lloyd, to consent for her to return to pictures. She just went right ahead and did it, and Harold isn't a bit mad, either. Not only did she go right ahead, but she even appeared in her own husband's picture.

It was this way. Helen Ferguson was calling on Mrs. Lloyd, the other day, and the lively Helen suggested: "Wouldn't it be fun to disguise ourselves and get a job as extras in Harold's picture?"

Well, playing practical jokes is something that Mildred likes doing nothing else better than! So she fell right into the idea, and the two girls dolled themselves up in wigs, put on an unusual make-up and went on the lot where Harold was working, and got jobs.

"Harold didn't know me at all," explained Mildred in high glee, "especially as we had to wear funny make-up in the picture. I tried to flirt with him, but he wouldn't. Why, he wouldn't even wink back at me when I winked! So the domestic peace of our household is still unimpaired."

Stars Come Home

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks have returned from San Francisco, where they went to act as hostess and host to those taking part in the continental pony express race, which ended at the new Tanforan race course Sunday.

Willie Tevin was the winner. Fairbanks acted as judge of the race, which included fifty riders and 200 horses. The race was from St. Joseph, Mr., to California. Five thousand dollars was the prize money.

A great reception was given Mary and Doug in San Francisco, and whereas the takings at the new race course at Tanforan had been but $10,000 Saturday, Sunday they were $50,000, which allows a wide margin for the draw of the stars even taking into account the naturally increased Sunday attendance.

Won't Play Romeo

Speaking of Douglas Fairbanks, we might as well clear away once and for all the rumor that Fairbanks may play Romeo to Mary Pickford's Juliet.

"I wouldn't play Romeo!" exclaimed Fairbanks. "I'm not at all suited to the part in the first place, and in the second place I never was an admirer of Romeo.

"That famous lover seems to me a dawdling, tiresome, whining youth, always sorry for himself. I can't see him at all!

"I think Juliet was lucky not to have married him."

Jitney Juliet Note

And speaking of this "Romeo and Juliet" business, it looks as though there was going to be two other contenders for honors in these roles. And nobody can complain that the Juliet isn't young enough either. For she is none other than that jitney Juliet, Baby Peggy, while Jackie Coogan would be Romeo.

The suggestion that these two youngsters make a kid version of the classic comes from thousands of fans. The babies themselves aren't so crazy about it, though.

"Do I have to cry?" demands Baby Peggy, who has been fed up on the sob stuff lately.

Jackie Coogan frowned judicially when the matter was broached to him. "Do I have to kiss her?" he inquired scornfully. "You know I hate this kissing business!"

PRAISES PROGRAM

Mae Marsh Gives Theater Parties for "White Rose"

Mae Marsh recently arrived in town from New York and twice last week entertained theater parties at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater to see "The White Rose," in which she has a starring role.

Miss Marsh expressed herself as delighted with the presentation of the picture, stating that the entire atmosphere surrounding the feature is harmonious. This includes the musical score, the overture rendered by the symphony orchestra, the organ solo composed and played by Edward House and dedicated to "The White Rose," and the atmospheric prologue.

Miss Marsh has attended several openings of "The White Rose" in the largest cities of the United States, but she stated that never has this production received such an excellent presentation.

POTENTIALITIES OF FLYING TOLD

Non-Stop Trip of Indefinite Length Now Possible

Limited Only by Engine's Life, Lieut. Richter Says

Record-Making Aviators Are Honored at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 11.—The sustained flight record of more than thirty-seven hours achieved by himself and Lieut. John P. Richter three weeks ago pointed the way to tremendous possibilities in the aviation field, according to Capt. Lowell H. Smith, who with his flying partner was honored at a luncheon tendered them by civic organizations today in recognition of their exploit.

"Heretofore the length of time an aviator could remain aloft depended very largely upon the amount of fuel his plane could carry," Capt. Smith said: "This condition has now been changed. Lieut. Richter and I proved that refueling of a plane in mid-air was feasible. From now on the duration of flights will depend upon the life of the motor.

FUTURE IS GREAT

"It is not difficult to think of a time, not far distant, when large planes, equipped with comfortable cabins and sleeping accommodations for four or five men, will be able to remain in the air indefinitely, receiving fuel, oil and water from supply planes. Nonstop flights from coast to coast, with perhaps two or three refueling operations en route, are possible of realization as soon as aviators become adept in the rather precarious operation of mid-air refueling.

"Our record of more than thirty-seven hours probably will not be on the books very long. We understand foreign aviators already are planning to best our record. As soon as they do, some American aviators will get busy and beat their record."

FORCED BACK

Lieut. John A. Macready, who with Lieut. Oakley G. Kelly, spanned the continent in an airplane without a stop, described his struggle to pierce the thick clouds which obscured the sun and moon during the total eclipse Monday. He was compelled to turn back after ascending more than 16,000 feet.

Capt. W. G. Stevens, army photographer, who spent nearly a year perfecting a camera with which to photograph the eclipse, was unable to take any pictures.

In addition to Capt. Smith and Lieut. Richter, the pilots of the refueling planes, Capt. Robert Ervine, Lieut. Virgil Hones and Frank Seifert, were honored at the luncheon. High officers of the Navy and Marine Corps, including Admiral Robert Coontz, Rear-Admiral Ashley Robertson and Brig.-Gen. Joseph Pendleton attended.

FUNERAL CONDUCTED

Redlands Business Man Died Suddenly After Trip to Imperial

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 11.—The funeral of J. Warren Smith, secretary of the Home Investment Company, was conducted at Cortney chapel this afternoon, the services being in charge of Rev. J. H. Williams, pastor emeritus of the Congregational church. Interment was private and the pall bearers were W. T. Bill, Dr. A. E. Ball, N. L. Lebring, A. E. Brock, M. M. Levering and V. J. Hartzel, all associated with him in business.

Mr. Smith died suddenly after a business trip to Imperial Valley. He had lived here for sixteen years and in California for twenty years. Before coming here he was president of the government normal school in Arizona, County Commissioner and City Superintendent of Schools in Bay City, Mich.

LIQUOR DISCOVERED AFTER AUTO CRASH

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 11.—While investigating in an endeavor to find a registration certificate in an automobile owned by W. Scott Peffenberger, Officer Miller discovered a quantity of liquor, according to a report at police headquarters here. E. G. Berkel, 1013 Idaho street, complained to police that some one had broken his windshield by backing into his machine, which was parked on Ashland avenue. It is said that the machine which did the damage was the one in which the liquor was discovered.

CALIPATRIA HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALIPATRIA, Sept. 11.—After much delay due to labor troubles and inability to obtain materials, Calipatria's new high school has finally been completed and will be ready for the opening of the fall term the 17th inst. The new building cost $150,000, is of reinforced concrete and has modern equipment in every department. The buildings have been under construction for nearly two years.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

Funeral services will be Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Lofgren is survived by her husband, a daughter, Irma Belle, and her mother.

DEBS WINS IN LONG BEACH

Council Decides to Permit Ex-Convict Use of Muncipal Auditorium Over Legion Protest

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 11.—Pressure brought to bear by labor leaders here forced the City Council to reverse itself today and Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader and former convict in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, will be permitted to address Long Beach voters in the municipal auditorium on either the 20th or 21st inst.

At a former meeting the Council voted to bar Debs from speaking in any municipally-owned building or park, after representatives of the American Legion and other patriotic organizations denounced Debs as "a traitor to the country."

Motion to reconsider the Council's action in the Debs matter was made by Councilman W. H. McCoy, a new member of the Council and proprietor of a business college here. The motion was seconded by Councilman Frank A. Downs and was carried with three Councilmen voting in favor of permitting Debs to speak here. Three members of the Council were absent and Mayor Buffum, who bitterly opposed the reopening of the question, declared the action of the Council to be unfair in view of the absence of three members.

Those who represented the labor council and urged that Debs be permitted to speak included J. C. Coulter, Joseph Barnes, R. W. Robinson, W. M. Cook and Thomas Norris.

CANYON FIRE CONTROLLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Sept. 11.—What is declared to have been one of the most serious forest fires to visit San Antonio Canyon in a number of years was reported practically out today with only a handful of men patrolling the burned area to prevent a fresh outbreak. Rain helped to check the flames.

The fire was discovered Sunday morning at Manker Flats, said to be the only real timber flat in San Antonio Canyon, about two miles north of the mouth of Ice House Canyon. Forest Ranger A. T. Shay and a party of seven men who had been fighting a smaller blaze at Herald Peak, hurried there, but the fighting force was insufficient to cope with the flames.

Ranger Shay hurried down for reinforcements and about forty men were put on the job. The fire, after running up the Hocumac Ridge and the Agamemnen Mine Ridge, was finally checked yesterday afternoon after it had reached a point within a quarter of a mile of the Sierra Club's cabin. The rain helped to get the fire under control.

According to Fletcher H. Manker, government agent and member of the forest service, some 200 acres were burned over, resulting in a loss of fine sugar pine timber. Of the 200 acres burned over, about thirty acres were of new growth, which is considered a serious loss. Manker Flats is wooded with 200 acres of good timber, a goodly portion of which was saved.

The government has just appropriated $15,000 for the construction of a road to the flats, which are to be fitted up for camping purposes. Work on the road is to be started next spring.

Man Trampled Under Feet of Horses is Dead

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

UPLAND, Sept. 11.—Trampled beneath the feet of frightened horses and his body crushed by the wheels of a heavily laden wagon late yesterday afternoon, Thomas W. Hutton, 50 years of age, died this morning at the San Antonio Hospital. He was for many years employed as a ranchman by the late Mrs. James L. Paul. Since her death he had been in charge of the Paul homeplace.

At the time of the accident, Mr. Hutton was watching men of the Liberty Groves Corporation loading fertilizer on East Twenty-second street. When the team became unmanageable he endeavored to assist in holding the animals and fell beneath their hoofs.

Funeral services are to be conducted from the Paul home in upper Euclid avenue, Friday morning, at 10 o'clock. Dr. R. C. Stone of the First Presbyterian Church, will be in charge. Interment will be in Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Katherine McHugh of 6125 Holmes avenue, is recovering from an automobile accident, in which she had an exciting experience while her car was running away near Manhattan Beach.

Mrs. McHugh, son, daughter and grandson were to spend the day at the beaches when the son drove to a garage near the top of a hill at Manhattan Beach. He left and the car started downhill. The three occupants jumped, all escaping injuries except Mrs. McHugh, who was badly bruised about the wrists, knees and body, besides receiving a severe shock. She was taken to Mission Hospital. The car landed in a cornfield and was wrecked.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WALNUT PARK, Sept. 11.—While a birthday anniversary party was in progress at the home of Harold Mattoon a short time ago, uninvited guests about 9 p.m. climbed through a window of the bedroom and made a complete search of the contents of the dresser drawers, dumping them onto the floor. ARMY PUTS RAISINS ON RATION LIST

Crop to be Regularly Bought, According to Sun-Maid Notice

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Sept. 11.—Raisins have been accepted as a part of the United States Army ration, according to an announcement made here yesterday by J. A. Brogdon, of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers.

A letter to Brogdon from the government says that raisins will be regularly purchased and issued to the Army. They will be listed with such staples as beef, butter, rice and cornmeal.

Receipts for raisins delivered at packing-houses and receiving stations will be issued by the association beginning October 1, according to a formal announcement made yesterday by Jay L. Reed, comptroller. The announcement is of interest to growers, as it directly concerns advances of money for their crops.

Reed's announcement says in part that after October 1, "advances will be made under the terms of the contract, and in amounts to be announced on or about the 15th inst."

Asked when initial advances will be made with reference to the date of delivery of raisins by growers, Reed pointed out that the Sun-Maid crops contract says payment will be made six days after receiving the delivery tag.

Resignation of H. P. O'Brien as head of the purchasing department of the Sun-Maid organization was announced yesterday. O'Brien has been a member of the Sun-Maid staff since July, 1919.

SALTON SEA LANDS MAY BE WITHDRAWN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Sept. 11.—The United States land offices will be requested by Imperial Irrigation District to withdraw from all forms of entry a strip of land adjoining Salton Sea. In a report to the district board Chief Engineer Carberry recommended this move, as the land in question is frequently overflowed by a rise in the surface of the sea due to excessive waste water entering it from the district's canals. If the request of the district is granted the district will then always have the privilege of wasting water into the sea without danger of damaging farm lands.

CHILDREN IN TRUCK HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HANFORD, Sept. 11.—Seven children riding on the flat bed of an open truck had a narrow escape from injury yesterday. They were riding with their bare legs hanging over the sides when, at the intersection of Redington and Porter streets, a small auto, driven by A. Alvaris, struck the side of the heavy truck. The children had just time to draw their limbs out of the way before the auto struck. The auto was badly smashed in the collision.

Gets Out of Order, Keeps Venice Policemen on the Jump

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

VENICE, Sept. 11.—Four musketeers, Miller, Cody, Watson and Burnett, of the local shotgun squad were busy throughout last night.

At 3 o'clock a burglar alarm of the Venice State Bank sounded. Hurriedly the officers rushed to the building. All was peace and quiet. Scarcely had they returned to police headquarters when the alarm sounded again. Away they went once more. Again all was quiet.

Then they just kept answering the alarm all night long. Fearing it might ring true and that bold bank robbers would be discovered, they did not fail in their duty.

It was discovered this morning that the alarm in some peculiar fashion had broken so as to allow a ring every half-hour. Every officer of the squad will personally see that the alarm is repaired before going on duty again tonight.

THIEF HAS LIKING FOR NARCOTICS

Man Who May Have Robbed Pomona Homes Takes Doctor's Morphine

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Sept. 11.—A thief with a liking for narcotics and who stole new clothing, and left ragged apparel, is the object of search by the Pomona police department today. Four house robberies are traced to the same intruder, for all houses were robbed in the same manner. City Treasurer Joseph Mullen was perhaps the heaviest loser in the series of burglaries. When the family was at San Diego visiting relatives and viewing the eclipse, the home at 210 Columbia avenue was entered. Valuable jewelry, silverware, cut glass and other articles were taken.

Entering the home of E. C. Bichowsky, 237 West Holt avenue, early Sunday morning a thief underwent a complete change of apparel, leaving a pair of socks, underwear and a worn suit on the floor. He also took withshim two new suits of clothing, socks and other articles of wear.

A thief presumably the same person, left a size seven hat at the home of D. R. Donnan, 310 East Alvarado street, taking one of the size 7¼. That the thief was a dope addict is the belief of officers, as some one gained entrance to the home of Dr. Lillian B. Smith, 730 East Holt avenue by breaking a glass in a rear door—the same manner in which the other homes were entered—and made away with twenty-five morphine tablets and a hypodermic syringe.

Fresno Court is Filled With Crime Cases

FRESNO, Sept. 11.—For the first time Fresno county will have five departments of the Superior Court beginning October 1. Judge Stanley Murray of Madera county will sit here, in addition to the county's four regular Superior Court judges.

Judge Murray will occupy either the council chamber at the City Hall, or the Federal District courtroom, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Claude H. Hogan, who is handling arrangements.

Nearly 100 criminal cases are pending in the Superior Court here, to be tried at the fall term. Judge Murray, it is expected, will sit here a month or more, to help clear up the calendar.

BRYAN TO SPEAK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANAHEIM, Sept. 11.—When William Jennings Bryan comes to Anaheim tomorrow afternoon, he will be greeted by A. J. Craig, old-time friend who stumped Nebraska with the Commoner during the Presidential campaign more than twenty years ago. Mr. Bryan is scheduled to deliver his address on "Science vs. Evolution, or Did God Make Man in His Own Image?" at the high school auditorium at 4 p.m.

HOME-BREW KICK POWERFUL

Six Bottles All Accounted for Themselves in Damages When Opened in Home

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 11.—P. Katz, Bakersfield business man, declares he is "off home brew for life." Last week he received half a dozen bottles of the liquid from a "friend" and he took it into his home.

At the evening meal Katz opened a bottle and, he complains, the family was treated to a shower bath. Damage to ceiling, walls, linens, marcel waves and clothing is estimated at $65.

The head of the family went into an adjoining room to open the next bottle and out went a window pane. Damage to rugs and window is estimated at $10. Rushing to the refrigerator, he grabbed the two bottles there and threw them out a back door. A scream from the direction of the discarded bottles caused a rush of the family from the dining room. The young son of the household had cut his foot on a piece of broken bottle.

On the following afternoon the cook reminded Katz that he had overlooked two of the filled bottles. He mustered up tonnage and tried one. Only one eye was injured. He then deposited the remaining bottle carefully in the garbage can. Then just as the family sat down to another evening meal there was a loud report. The garbage can was a wreck.

TELL BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING

Success of Publicity Drives is Revealed

Greater Santa Monica Club Advantages Disclosed

Community Co-operation is Urged by Speakers

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 11.—The leading role played by advertising in the upbuilding of the communities of Southern California was emphasized last night by Congressman Fredericks at the semiannual meeting of the Greater Santa Monica Club in the Miramar Hotel here tonight. The affair was attended by 250 of the principal citizens of this and surrounding communities.

Capt. Fredericks traced briefly the trend of Aryan civilization in its steady movement westward, and said that now on the shores of the Pacific it was making its last stand, as the oriental peoples would always work out their own destiny separately.

URGES YACHT HARBOR

Describing the development of a commercial harbor at the port of Los Angeles, he spoke of the suggested construction of a yachting harbor at Santa Monica, and said that the two together would mean much for all of Southern California.

W. J. Stadelman, retiring president, related how the club had started with some seven members and had grown to cover the entire city. During the last six months, he said $40,000 had been spent on advertising, and declared the success of this campaign assured continuation in the future. The logical place for communities to advertise, he said, is in the newspapers of Los Angeles, as hundreds of thousands of persons come through that city every year, most of them not decided about which community they will choose for their home.

BENEFIT GENERAL

C. G. Milham of the All-Year-Round Club urged co-operation of the various advertising campaigns in this district, and declared that they were a benefit not alone to the single communities, but to California as a whole.

Other brief speeches were made by Mrs. J. Braun, president of the Santa Monica Woman's Club, and F. W. Kellogg.

T. A. Johnson was elected president for the coming term, C. D. Perry secretary-treasurer, and T. H. Dudley was named to take the place of Frank Ayers on the Board of Trustees.

Officials' Trials Again Held Up in Border Town

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALEXICO, Sept. 11.—Trials of former Mayor Juan Loera and twelve members of the Mexicali City Council have been postponed again upon orders from Mexico City, it is announced at Mexicali. The former Mayor and Councilmen are held in the Mexicali jail on charges of sedition in connection with a street battle between the officials and members of the Mexicali police last July.

When their trials were set at Mexicali last month, the judge of the Court of the First Instance declined to hear them on the ground that he had personal knowledge of the facts. The cases then were transferred to the corresponding court at Tijuana, where the judge likewise refused to hear them because of lack of jurisdiction.

The question of the trials has been presented to the Supreme Court at Mexico City for decision as to which judge shall preside.

SCHOOLS CROWDED

Half-Day Sessions to Be Conducted by 7 Classes in Glendale

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Sept. 10.—Owing to the increase in the number of pupils in the grammar grades it will be necessary to maintain half-day sessions for the first, second and third-grade classes in some of the schools, according to a statement issued by Superintendent Richardson D. White dealing with the opening of the schools on Monday. The half-day classes will be maintained at the Acacia, Broadway, Central, Colorado, Doran, Magnolia and Pacific schools.

New school buildings are now in process of erection at practically all of these schools and work on them is being rushed as rapidly as possible, but it will be some time before accommodations can be provided for all the pupils who desire to attend the schools.

Another effect that the crowded conditions of the schools will have, Superintendent White declares, is that it will be impossible to issue permits for pupils to attend other schools than those in their own districts with the same freedom as has been done in the past.

ARCADIA MAY HAVE DAILY NEWSPAPER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ARCADIA, Sept. 11.—Arcadia may soon have a daily newspaper. Mrs. Harriet H. Barry, former business manager and part owner of a Monrovia newspaper, last night appeared before the chamber with the announcement that she proposes to organize a $25,000 company and will ask Arcadians to interest themselves to the extent of $10,000. Incorporation is to be made under the name of Daily Arcadian, Inc. A printing plant is to be established and the paper printed here.

HONOR HARDING'S MEMORY

Late President's Policies Upheld in Services Conducted by Redlands Knights Templar

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Sept. 11.—"President Harding would have us carry on," said Judge W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana, in an address at the Warren Gamaliel Harding memorial services of the Knights Templar of the city last night. "Could he be with us for a short time tonight he would say that it is our duty to go ahead, facing the light squarely and trustfully as he faced it, shouldering the heavy burden with a glad heart and having the ultimate good of humanity for a goal as did he."

Judge Thomas stressed the point that President Harding was such a man as did quietly, but none the less persistently, hold in a path which he believed right. And the way he pointed out is the way we should go now.

Judge Thomas spoke particularly to the Boy Scouts, who were guests of honor, and said that his talk had more of admonition for them than for hte older folks; that the day would come when they would be called on to decide between policies such as were advocated by President Harding and those opposed to his belief.

Halsey W. Allen, local attorney, gave a review of the life of President Harding and A. P. Crim read the address which the President prepared and which was given by Secretary Christian at the Hollywood Bowl soon after the President was taken ill. George H. Harris, commander of the Commandery, asked J. H. Legie to preside at the meeting.

ASSESSED VALUATION INCREASED

San Bernardino County Appraisal Up $6,000,000 Over Last Year

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 11.—A. E. Allen of this city, county assessor, announced today an increase in the assessed valuation of property in this county of $6,000,000. The total assessment this year will be $59,250,000, by far the largest in the history of the county.

Mr. Allen says a part of the increase is due to the equalization, especially in the citrus districts where many discrepancies were found. Places that were vacant a year ago also have been planted and have increased in value proportionately and will increase each year.

Mr. Allen believes the new system in appraising is working out well. Under the system the five deputies from various sections of the county are gathered together to appraise the property and in this way a more uniform system for the whole county is being established.

A big increase was made in the Fontana Farms assessment this year through such an appraisal. This company's assessment was increased $250,000, making it one of the largest tax-paying corporations in the county, being well over a million dollars. Loma Linda has been assessed this year, although protesting.

Mr. Allen says the assessment is now complete and that the books will be turned over to a tax collector soon. First installment of county taxes will be due shortly.

RECORD FOR SCHOOL

Long Beach High May Have 4000 Pupils by Week-end

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 11.—Breaking all previous records for registration, Polytechnic High School closed its first day of the new school today with nearly 3500 pupils registered. The total for the first day last year was 3100. That the number of pupils still to register this week will bring the total close to 4000 was predicted by Harry J. Moore, vice-principal. Pupils registering at the high school last week without any previous school attendance in Long Beach numbered 450. It was said at the registrar's office today. Additional buildings put to use for the first time last year, will be crowded beyond capacity this year, it was said. Girls outnumbered boy students by a large margin.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 11.—Admission Day holiday, the opportunity for seeing the eclipse of the sun presented, came as a boon to Bravo yesterday when the district fair was held on the grounds. It called a record crowd from all over Kern county, the results of the past agricultural activities of the fine district to the west of the field.

The schoolhouse was the fair exhibits, with those in the basement, and the rest of the work in the department arranged in room. Horses, cattle, poultry had quarters in the building.

One of the features of the fair this year is the increase in grape exhibits, the district has a number of home vineyard products. Chief in the displays of Chairman W. Haag, a Rio Bravo district in this year's fair is the ranks of the growers of raising grapes. Like the grape growers here early, fancy rare table arably a black berry, which will bring big returns in the near McFarland had a of black Ribier grapes, a charge as a novelty, a distinctive flavor. BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 11.—Admission Day holiday offered the opportunity for excursionists to see the eclipse of the sun astronomical incentive, came as a benefit to the Bravo yesterday when the annual district fair was held on the fair grounds. It called a record crowd from all over Kern county to see the results of the past year's agricultural activities in the leading district to the west of Bakersfield.

The schoolhouse was devoted to fair exhibits, with farm products in the basement, and the handiwork of the women of the farms in the department arranged in the room. Horses, cattle, hogs, poultry had quarters in other parts of the building.

One of the interesting features of the fair this season was the increase in grape exhibits, showing that the district has not specialized in vineyard products. There have been a number of home vineyards represented in the displays, and Carl Hoffman, W. Haag, E. P. Kelsey and others in this year's fair it is noted that the Rio Bravo district has joined the ranks of the growers of table and raisin grapes. Like other districts in the grape growers here find that early, fancy rare table grapes bring a much better price than the black berry, which will bring best financial returns. Melcher, whose ranch is near McFarland, had a fine display of black Ribber grapes, each bunch a slarge as a small plum, and with a distinctive flavor. Kelsey, who is farming the William H. Holt ranch, brought in a fine specimen of a Portuguese grape, said to resemble the Gros Colemar, well known as Servian muscat, but having no registered American name other than "Kelsey Improved." The original vines were brought from Portugal by John Singleton, planted on the land later purchased by Allen. Tokaya, Thompson seedless and Muscatanza also were in the grape display.

MAN KILLED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Cards of Angeleno Are Found Near By; Woman in Car Badly Hurt

An unidentified man was killed and his woman companion was severely injured when the automobile in which they were riding overturned into a gully at the side of the Ridge Route highway twenty miles north of Newhall last night.

The wrecked car was found by Special Deputy Sheriff Bryant of Los Angeles who was driving along the Ridge Route toward Bakersfield. Bryant hurried down the side of the embankment and pulled the occupants from beneath the overturned automobile.

The only clew to the identity of the dead man was a package of business cards found near by which bore the name of H. B. LaMonte, Great Western Accident Insurance Company, Detwiler Building, Los Angeles. A check by the Sheriff's office here failed to throw light on the mystery. At the hotel where La Monte formerly lived it was said he had checked out six weeks ago, leaving no forwarding address.

The body of the man was sent to the Noble Undertaking Parlors in San Fernando, while the woman, still unconscious, was rushed to Saugus for medical attention.

VANDERBILT DENIES ROYAL ENGAGEMENT

SAYS DAUGHTER HAS MET YOUNG PRINCE ONLY IN SOCIAL WAY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 11.—"The rumor is absurd. I have heard nothing about it," said Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt today when he was asked whether there was any truth in the report that this daughter, Miss Grace Vanderbilt was to marry Prince George, the youngest son of the King. "My daughter has, of course, met the Prince, but merely in an ordinary social way," he added, "and that is all there is to it."

Miss Vanderbilt was with Gen. and Mrs. Vanderbilt at Cowes this year on the general's yacht, Elena, and naturally went most afternoons to the royal yacht squadron. Moreover, as in former years, the Vanderbilts were the guests at a dinner of the King and Queen on the royal yacht. Vitoria and Albert. Since that time Miss Vanderbilt has been staying with friends in Scotland and was present at the fashionable Braemar gathering.

On all these occasions, she met Prince George, who has been enjoying himself whole-heartedly in society lately, but he is not understood to have paid her marked attention. He is, besides, hardly of marriageable age, being not yet 21 and still only a midshipman in the royal navy.

SCORE OF SHIPS REACH HARBOR

Twelve Freighters and Four Passenger Boats Here

Liners Sail for Yokohama Today With Food

Three Motor Vessels Among Arrivals in Port

Twenty-four vessels arrived at the harbor yesterday from the ports of the world, including two steamers bound for Yokohama with food supplies and cargo for the devastated areas. In the list were twelve freighters, eight tank steamers and four passenger vessels.

The Shipping Board liner West Ivan, in the Far East service of Struthers & Barry, will sail tonight for Yokohama with 9000 tons of Los Angeles and San Francisco products, including approximately 2000 tons of food supplies. The Isthmian liner Eneley City, carrying 10,000 tons of cargo from Mobile, sails early this morning for Yokahama after taking bunkers at this port. Today the British tramp steamer, the City of Oran, will put in for bunkers before proceeding to Yokohama with a similar cargo from Norfolk.

Three motorships were included in yesterday's arrivals, one of them, the Ormidale, making her initial visit here and flying the house flag of the Steel Steamship Company. She brought 3000 tons of cargo from New Orleans for local consignees. Other Diesel-driven arrivals included the veteran Danish motorship Siam, from Antwerp, and the Swedish motorship San Francisco from Gothenburg in the service of the Johnson Line.

Notable among the cargo arrivals was the Japanese tramp Norway Maru, bringing in 8300 tons of European cement for this port from Antwerp. It is the largest single shipment of cement ever brought to the Pacific Coast.

There were four units of the great Isthmian Line fleet in port yesterday, including the Steel Seafarer and Bessemer City from Baltimore; the Eneley City from Mobile and the Steel Exporter from Everett.

CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

Great Array of Human and Animal Acts Promised by Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey

Children, grown-ups, clowns, lions roaring and elephants trumpeting—more children, still more clowns, a sea of canvas, 10,000 pairs of eyes, the blare of bands—

So it will be in Los Angeles the next five days, for "the Greatest Show on Earth" is here. Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus has come to town.

One hundred railroad cars, all double length, are drawn up on to the Santa Fe freight yard sidings. The showmen said it will require the entire morning to transfer their contents to the show grounds; hence, as elsewhere, no street parade will be given here.

GREAT ANIMAL ACTS

Each time the show visits Los Angeles it is larger than before and this time it brings such additions as Europe's largest trained animal acts with such features as "Rajah," the wrestling tiger. Apart from the trained wild animals are those of the menagerie, including two-thirds of all the elephants in America, augmented by a recently imported troupe of baby pachyderm actors. Then there is the world's smallest horse, Kneehi, six giraffes and an entire family of hippopotami.

Those who follow the early morning calvacades from the railroad tracks will witness the erection of the first of the thirty tents. The greatest of these is the "big top." It is longer by seventy feet than the famous ocean liner Leviathan. This tent has made possible the introduction of fully 200 more arenic performers than have heretofore been seen, together with such properties as the steel-girt arenas in which the scores of active wild animals will be presented.

The arenic stars number such world-noted artists as Berta Beeson, high-wire danseuse; Lily Leitzel, aerial gymnast; Beatrice Sweeney, "twirling at pinwheel speed in the dome of the big top;" Mlle. Theol, who describes sixty revolutions a minute on a foot-square base fixed high in the air; "the marvelous girls in the silver swings," an Old World novelty act.

MANY LARGE COMPANIES

There are single companies of performers in this modern circus that outnumber the entire personnel of old-time shows. One family, the Nelsons, in acrobatic displays, consists of father, mother, six daughters and a son. The Italian Picchianis form a troupe of fourteen athletes. The Clarkonians, aerialists of England, now appear trapeze to trapeze with the American Tomelsons. Vying with these over still other nets are French aerialists, the Silbons, and elsewhere in the 700-foot long main tent, the Siegrists and Neapolitans. There are seventeen separate displays this season, each numbering no less than nine separate acts.

Seventy equestrians present bareback riding and, in addition, twenty-two menage riders appear in a display given over entirely to high-school horses. The bareback artists offer everything commonly associated with the "old-fashioned circus," while the Reiffenach Sisters have come from Belgium to introduce "athletics a-horseback." Still other great riders are the Sevillos, Bagonghi, the Ernestos, the Roonseys, Cottrells, Bradnas, Comptons, Osentos and Tarneffs.

Clowns introduce these riders and enliven the program with many acts including a miniature hook and ladder company, formed entirely of dwarfs.

ANIMALS SHARE HONORS

The 200 or more trained animals, together with an equal number of performing horses, share honors with the human actors on the program. Three steel arenas, set over the rings, are filled with troupes of performing tigers, lions, leopards, polar bears and black panthers. These are presented by such trainers as Mabel Stark, who wrestles with an immense tiger; Rudolph Matthias, Capt. Ricardo, Bruno Radtke and the Schroeders. Animals performing on the stages or in the rings include the Pallenberg tight-rope bears, the Huling seals, including those that are swung high in the air; the Loyal whirl-i-gig poodles, six herds of elephants, and monkeys, donkeys, ponies, dogs, goats, geese and pigeons.

The latter carry an especial appeal to the little folks, as does the gorgeous opening pageant in which hundreds of characters, floats, horses, elephants and camels depict Nurseryland's favorite fairy tales. This has been dedicated by the Ringling Brothers to "our little friends, the children, young and old, who wish to be children with the children for the moment."

For the next five days performances will be given at Prager Park at 2 and 8 p.m. Doors to the 1000-animal menagerie open one hour earlier. Tickets may be purchased on the grounds or at the branch office at the Owl Drug Store, Sixth and Broadway.

Soiled Uniform Leads to Blaze; Firemen Burned

A soiled city fireman's uniform was the cause of a blaze yesterday in which three fire fighters were seriously burned.

The uniform is the property of E. R. Taggart of 1559 Talmadge avenue, a city fireman. Yesterday morning Taggart decided that it was in need of a cleaning. The gas which he was using ignited, burning Taggart on the face, arms and chest.

The flames spread, setting fire to the house itself. Neighbors, seeing the flames, summoned the fire department. Firemen E. M. Gilligest of 721 East Fifty-second street and J. F. Lawler of 420 Evergreen avenue rushed into the house to rescue Taggart, who had fallen to the floor unconscious.

Just as the two men entered the door a gasoline heater in the house exploded, the flames showering about them. They succeeded, however, in dragging Taggart from the house. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where he was attended by Police Surgeon Dunsmoor. Taggart is suffering from first and second-degree burns. Lawler was severely burned on the chest and arms and Gilligest about the legs.

The damage to the house is nominal.
